Morrow's Aide Promoted

Salt Lake City Man Named as Ambassador to Mexico by Hoover

Retiring Diplomat Will Pay Embassy's Expenses to Help Successor

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (Exclusive)—Reuben Clark of Salt Lake City was appointed Ambassador to Mexico today, succeeding Dwight W. Morrow.

Behind this simple announcement issued from the White House this afternoon, lies a story of unpublicized generosity probably unparalleled in the history of America's foreign relations.

Mr. Clark, who has served as counselor of the Embassy at Mexico City under Morrow, and as Undersecretary of State at Washington with special supervision over Mexican relations, has been regarded as eminently fitted by training for this important post. He was the first choice of President Coolidge and Mr. Morrow. But Mr. Clark, who has been in public service since 1906, is a comparatively poor man. He protested that he was financially unable to meet the expense of maintaining the Embassy, it being well known that not all Ambassadors are forced to spend more than their salaries covering the social and other obligations of their posts.

MORROW TO PAY BILLS

It was at the President had about given up hope of inducing Clark to accept the post, even for a short time, as he regarded Mr. Morrow. As a close friend and adviser to Mr. Morrow strongly as one able to get a firm grasp of the problems in Mexico, and as one able to carry on the work of promoting friendly relations between the two countries along the lines Mr. Morrow had formed. So Mr. Morrow decided to continue paying the running expenses of the Embassy out of his own pocket, if Mr. Clark would accept the appointment. After a few days' thought, the offer was accepted and the appointment of Mr. Clark announced.

It is understood that Mr. Clark will remain here for not more than three months. He has been offered a partnership in a large law firm in New York and Washington and is anxious to accept it.

APPOINTMENT LAUDED

The appointment was hailed with pleasure by those interested in maintaining close relations between the United States and Mexico. His selection is in line with the Hoover policy of selecting men with wide experience in Latin-American affairs for diplomatic posts in the Western Hemisphere countries.

Ambassador Telles of Mexico City hailed the appointment of Mr. Clark as a "happy choice," having been in government service almost continuously since Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Oct. 3. [To the Editor of The Times:] Mr. Hoover went out to Cleveland Thursday and spoke before the Shylocks. I liked his speech. He didn't beat around the bush about anything. He just come right out in the opening paragraph and said we was doing pretty "mangy." (Of course he might have suspected that we had already found it out.) He said if we could afford to live through it things would get better. That advice was directed to younger men. He read a lot of statistics there that was mighty encouraging. They told how poor some fifteen or twenty other countries were doing. I had no idea that Ecuador was as bad off as Oklahoma, but it is, so before you complain think of Peru.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

BAGSHAW'S LIFE ENDS

University of Washington's ex-Grid Mentor Expires in Olympia Office

He Had Been State Official Since Leaving Position as Football Guide

OLYMPIA (Wash.) Oct. 3. (AP)—Enoch W. Bagshaw, State supervisor of transportation and formerly head football coach at the University of Washington, dropped dead tonight in a corridor of the old Capitol Building.

Although apparently in normal health, he had left a meeting of his office associates a short time before, complaining of an "uncomfortable feeling."

Bagshaw, widely known in football circles up and down the Pacific Coast as the "little giant," was stricken soon after he left his office in the Department of Public Works for his quarters in a hotel across the street.

Death came as he reached the main floor of the building. His body was found at 5:50 p.m., face down on the floor at the head of the central stairs by George E. Craig, a janitor. Craig called Fred

BUDGET CUT DISCLOSED

Hoover Fights to Balk Deficit

Prospective Expenditures in Year Have Been Reduced About $70,000,000

Possible Use of War-Debt Funds Being Planned if Necessity Demands

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (Exclusive)—Three months' intensive effort to reduce the Federal budget in the face of a threatened deficit and consequent tax increase have resulted in a saving of approximately $70,000,000, it was announced at the White House this afternoon.

The estimate of expenditures for the fiscal year of 1931 made July 1, last, showed probable expenditures of $4,202,754,000, whereas the latest analysis of Federal expenditures for the coming year, which was completed the 1st inst., shows probable expenditures of $4,134,855,000. The exact figures of the savings which these different totals represent is $67,899,000. The White House issued these figures without comment, and high Treasury officials were similarly reticent.

ECONOMY EFFORTS

It became known, however, that every effort has been made toward paring down proposed expenditures of the annual government departments in the resurvey which was ordered by the administration when it was faced with a deficit due to the decline in income-tax receipts, present and prospective.

When asked to comment on the result of the survey one high Treasury official explained that he had not even seen the figures given out by the President. He stated it is much too early to consider what effect the reduced expenditure will have on the question of taxes. The loss to the government through the reduction of 10 per cent on income taxes is estimated at $80,000,000 for the fiscal year.

WAR-DEBT PHASE

Much interest now centers on suggestions that the administration will be forced to proceed to the extreme measure of applying the foreign payments of war debts to ordinary expenses of the government, rather than to debt reduction as in the past. This has never been done heretofore and it is believed that the administration would do it only in a final extremity.

The sum of foreign payments amounts to about $185,000,000 annually. Opponents of the step maintain that there is a moral obligation to use interest on the sums raised and advanced to the Allies in the war and reparations from the Germans toward extinguishing America's war debts rather than to meet current expenses in financing the income-tax reduction on corporations. However, it is known that the Treasury is seriously considering the move, as a possible way out of the dilemma of a deficit.

Congressmen Get Soaked by Samoan Surf but High Chief Saves Tiny Boat

TAU (American Samoa) Oct. 3. (AP)—Skillful handling of a wave-tossed whaleboat today saved Congressmen of the Samoan commission from being thrown into the heavy surf of Tau Island.

Two huge waves broke over the prow of the boat, threatening to capsize it, but High Chief Tufele expertly maneuvered it from the shore to the cruiser Omaha, anchored outside the breakers.

The commissioners — Senator Bingham of Connecticut, Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Representative Beedy of Maine and Representative Williams of Texas—were drenched but unharmed.

FOUR HURT IN LONDON MAIL BLAST

Bag Containing Bomb Said to Have Been Destined for Buckingham Palace

LONDON, Oct. 3. (Exclusive)—An extraordinary bomb outrage occurred this afternoon at the headquarters of the General Postoffice in Central London, resulting in four postoffice workers being injured and a mail van being wrecked.

Scotland Yard officers discovered that the explosion was caused by an iron bomb charged with powder, so manufactured that it would explode either by detonation or a small clock-work mechanism.

It is reported that the mail bag containing the bomb was destined for Buckingham Palace with royal mail.

Overseas mail believed to have been forwarded from Belfast had been sorted and was ready for delivery in London. As the sacks were being flung to the delivery van a terrific explosion took place, blowing the van and its contents to pieces.

The force of the explosion was so great that it was heard more than a mile away and fragments of the van were scattered over a wide area. The driver of the van had a narrow escape, having just descended from his seat when the explosion occurred.

'BIG STICK' RULE NEARS FOR HAVANA

Cuban Senate Approves President's Program of Virtual Martial Law

HAVANA, Oct. 3. (AP)—President Machado's message asking for suspension of constitutional guarantees and virtual establishment of martial law in the Havana region during the Congressional election campaign was approved late tonight by the Cuban Senate. Acceptance by the House of Representatives is taken for granted. The bill was immediately referred to the House.

The official gazette, which must publish all legislative acts before they become effective, was held open tonight to print the bill so that it can become effective by daybreak.

Adoption of the measure means the citizens of the Havana district, numbering about 600,000, or nearly a fifth of Cuba's population, will lose all constitutional privileges until after the elections November 1.

Freedom of the press and of public speech, the right to assemble and the right to vote will be suspended.

The message was drafted by President Machado as an extreme precaution against possible outbreaks of disorder in the forthcoming political campaign.

It was impelled by riots Tuesday in which several Cuban university students participated. One person was killed and a dozen others, including six policemen, were wounded.

It was stated the executive, in asking for approval of the plan to impose martial law, wants full exercise of the power "only in case of extreme emergency."

Stokes, nominal owner of the Hotel Ansonia, left an estate that at first was thought to total more than $3,000,000.

MISSIONARY WOMEN SHOT

England Horrified by Fate of Two Who Had Been Captives of Chinese Bandits Since June

LONDON, Oct. 3. (AP)—News which horrified all England was received in a cable to the London headquarters of the Church Missionary Society today saying two of its women missionaries, Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Eleanor June Harrison, were shot by the Chinese bandits who held them captive since last June.

The message which told of the tragedy was very brief: "Nettleton and Harrison shot. Consul and Sills returning to Foochow."

The envoy referred to is the British Consul at Foochow, A. J. Martin, who had gone up river from Foochow to negotiate the release of the women. Sills is Rev. Alfred Sills of the Christian Missionary Society, who accompanied Martin on the mission.

Tonight the Foreign Office said it received a message from Martin while he was in the interior, stating briefly he had received word from Kienyang saying Miss Nettleton and Miss Harrison had been shot. The women were captured at Chungan, Northern Fukien Province, last June while traveling to Kienningfu. There were long negotiations for their release and at one time the bandits sent what purported to be one of Miss Nettleton's fingers to the British consular authorities, threatening death to the women if ransom were not paid.

The bandits first asked $100,000, reduced it later to $80,000, and eventually got down to $10,000.

All here who knew the women testified today to the courage and devotion which impelled them to follow their arduous and dangerous work through many years in strife-torn China.

OIL INQUIRY HAMPERED

Kelley Refuses Evidence

Wilbur's Accuser to Write Favoritism "Expose" for Newspapers

Secretary Absolved of Any Criticism in Statement by Senator Nye

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3, (Exclusive)—Ralph S. Kelley, author of charges that the Interior Department which has employed him for twenty-five years has illegally favored certain lessees of government, oil-shale lands in Colorado, refused today to turn over his asserted evidence to the Department of Justice and announced that he will conduct his "expose" through the newspapers.

At the same time Senator Nye of North Dakota, chairman of the Senate Public Lands Committee and anti-Hoover coalitionist, was compelled after a personal conference with Kelley to make the statement that while Kelley may have been justified in making his charges, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur was to be absolved of any criticism or blame. This attitude on the part of Nye may mean there will be no Senate investigation of the Kelley charges.

TO WRITE ARTICLES

Secretary Wilbur's comment on the day's developments was that "Kelley has fallen into the designing hands of those who could use him to their advantage." He also pointed out that more than three-fourths of the department's official acts in the cases Kelley is presumed to have in mind followed Kelley's own recommendations.

It developed today that Kelley has signed up with a New York Democratic newspaper to write a series of syndicated articles around his charges of favoritism and this is believed to explain why he declined to co-operate in the investigation that has been launched by the Department of Justice, at Secretary Wilbur's request.

Kelley's own explanation, however, expressed in a letter to Seth W. Richardson, assistant Attorney-General assigned to the inquiry, was that Richardson had prejudged the case and that "members of the President's Cabinet are too closely bound together to permit impartial investigation of each other."

INQUIRY TO PROCEED

Despite Kelley's refusal to aid the inquiry, the Department of Justice will proceed with the investigation as best it can. A statement issued at the department this afternoon said:

"From the time this inquiry was undertaken until the receipt of Mr. Kelley's letter today, the assistant Attorney-General in charge has made efforts by one means and another to get into communication with Kelley and obtain from him a specific statement, but without success.

"We regret that Kelley has declined to give Department of Justice officials any statement or reference to specific cases which would expedite the inquiry and aid us in ascertaining the facts. Notwithstanding his attitude, the assistant Attorney-General in charge will proceed with his inquiry to ascertain the situation in the Interior Department respecting the administration of this part of the public domain."

Kelley's newspaper "expose" is scheduled to start Monday.

Secretary Wilbur, in his statement expressing the opinion that Kelley has fallen into designing hands, said Kelley is being exploited and that "he evidently prefers this to being given every opportunity to cure the ills of which he complains."

WILBUR COMMENT

The Secretary said Kelley in charging him with "attempts to placate and appease the oil interests at the expense of the rights of the public must base his charges on my official acts, more than three-fourths of which were taken upon his recommendation."

Of the sixty-two claims that have gone to patent since March 4, 1929, when Wilbur's administration began, fifty of them, the Secretary

ROYAL PAIR BETROTHED

Boris Will Take Italian Bride

Official Announcement Made by Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena

ROME, Oct. 3. (AP)—A new royal romance in Europe tonight brought about the betrothal of Princess Giovanna of Italy, pretty and dark-eyed daughter of King Victor Emmanuel, and King Boris of Bulgaria, often described as "Bulgaria's bachelor King."

Official announcement of the engagement was made late this evening by their majesties King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena. It was conveyed in a brief document that will be published tomorrow.

The royal consent means all problems of religion and state affairs have been settled. Princess Giovanna is a Roman Catholic and King Boris an orthodox Greek Catholic.

Announcement of the engagement follows within less than a year the marriage of Crown Prince Humbert of Italy and Princess Marie Jose of Belgium.

CONFIRMATION DELAYED

Word that the Princess was betrothed leaked out in Rome late in the afternoon, but though it was known to be true, official circles declined to confirm it.

The principal hindrance is known to have been religious differences. Bulgarian law requires that the Queen be of the Greek orthodox faith, and it was necessary to adjust this point.

Political circles consider the impending royal alliance of Italy and Bulgaria to be highly important. It is depended upon in Rome to solidify good relations between Italy and a Balkan power in a strategic position along the eastern frontier of Jugo-Slavia.

The prophecy is that it will exercise a stabilizing influence in the Balkans.

TEXT OF ANNOUNCEMENT

As is customary, the announcement came from Premier Mussolini's office in the Ministry of the Interior.

It read, under date of the 4th inst., "Their Majesties, the King and Queen, have the pleasure of granting their consent to the betrothal of their daughter, Her Royal Highness Princess Giovanna, to His Majesty Boris III, King of the Bulgarians."

Princess Giovanna is King Victor Emmanuel's third daughter and fourth child. She is a great companion of her mother, Queen Helena.

King Boris, who is 36 years of age, has long been known as Europe's bachelor King. He has reigned alone since 1918 and there have been numerous reports of his engagement, but none of these has materialized.

Last May reports were current in Bulgaria that the betrothal of King Boris could be expected shortly and some reports then named Princess Giovanna as his fiancee.

Princess Giovanna herself is believed to have chosen tomorrow as the official date for announcement of her betrothal to King Boris.

Tomorrow is the day of St. Francis of Assisi. The Princess, devout Catholic, has been devoted to the memory of the saint and often goes to Assisi to pray at his tomb.

RELIGIOUS BARRIERS TO MATCH REMOVED

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 3. (AP)—Religious differences that for more than a year have blocked the betrothal of Princess Giovanna of Italy and King Boris of Bulgaria are said here tonight to have been settled by the complete capitulation of the King.

Boris promised the Princess may retain Catholic faith, despite the fact the constitution of Bulgaria hitherto has prevented any Queen of other than the Greek orthodox faith from occupying the throne.

The children of the marriage are to be educated as Catholics. On this point the Vatican maintained a rigid stand against the efforts of both governments, which were

GUGGENHEIM SECRET KEPT

Copper Magnate's Will Disposes of $8,000,000 but Fails to Specify Total Fortune

MINEOLA (N. Y.) Oct. 3. (AP)—After leaving more than $8,000,000 in outright bequests and trust funds to relatives and charity, Daniel Guggenheim, copper magnate, left all his millions, of undetermined number, to his widow.

Four of $50,000 each were set aside for his sisters-in-law, Mrs. Salvina S. Grant and Mrs. Claudia S. Frankel.

The will was filed today, naming Mrs. Florence Guggenheim, the widow, as sole executrix and trustee, with the provision that if she is unwilling or unable to serve, the testator's three brothers shall replace her.

The largest bequests for which the figures were given in the will were to the three children. Harry F. Guggenheim, Ambassador to Cuba, and Gladys G. Straus, were given $2,000,000 each outright, and M. Robert Guggenheim was left a trust of $2,000,000.

Trust funds of $250,000 each were established for Mr. Guggenheim's sisters, Mrs. Rose G. Quicke and Cora G. Rothschild, and for his niece, Mrs. Nettie G. Knox. Trusts

Mr. Guggenheim directed in the will that if at the time of his death the full sum of $2,500,000 had not been turned over to the Daniel Guggenheim Foundation for the Promotion of Aeronautics, which he founded, the balance should be paid on request. All the money had been paid, however, and the foundation was recently brought to a close.

As an instance of his interest in aviation the will directed that if six of his employees wished, grants should be made from the estate to aid in the education of their sons in aeronautical engineering.

CHICAGO CALLED 'ALLIANCE VICTIM

Grand Jury Charges Triple Agreement Exists

Police, Politicians and Gang Elements Linked

Business Men Also Blamed for Racketeering

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (AP)—The belief that there is a "well established, three-cornered alliance between the Chicago police department, the corrupt politicians and the criminal element" was expressed by the September grand jury as it concluded its investigation into the affairs of racketeers and gangsters tonight.

In a letter to Chief Justice McGoorty the grand jurors blamed the "three-cornered alliance" for "the murder of three business men and eleven officials of labor unions during the last three years." They also declared business men, themselves, have become involved in racketeering through collusive agreements by which they sought to establish themselves in a preferential position in their respective trades.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

These business men, the jury charged, have conspired with union labor leaders to win excessive profits and have associated with gangsters and corrupt politicians to maintain discipline within the racket and to escape prosecution.

"We are convinced," the letter said, "that the forthright destruction of racketeering is of the utmost importance to the people of Chicago and Cook county. Racketeering strikes at the very fundamentals of liberty, of action. To an alarming extent, racketeering has been seized upon by otherwise respectable groups of business men as an accepted method of meeting present-day problems of trade competition."

RAIDS CAUSED

The grand jurors were responsible for raids on ten labor unions and the resultant seizure of records indicating that hoodlums had control of several organizations.

"Our investigation," the grand jurors concluded, "causes us to believe that this manipulation of trade by conspiracy costs the citizens of Cook county no less than $100,000,000 a year."

AMERICA'S SPORT COST STIRS DEAN

Churchman Aroused by $22,000,000,000 Story of Amusement Expenditure

OXFORD (Eng.) Oct. 3. (AP)—Describing himself as "an utterly unrepentant Early Victorian," Very Rev. William Ralph Inge, popularly known as "the gloomy dean" of St. Paul's, today attacked "luxury spending," especially in the United States.

He spoke to a meeting connected with the national savings movement and repeated his previous assertion that "two years of American play would suffice to pay the whole of our national debt."

He also asserted part of England's present economic difficulties is due to the excessive sums spent by Englishmen in unproductive fields.

"The amount last year spent on amusements in America," he said, "was estimated at $21,945,000,000—more than the whole aggregate income of the people of this country. Two years of American play would suffice to pay the whole of our national debt—not only what we owe America, but the whole of it."

Warning Given on Reparations

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (AP)—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former head of the Reichbank, told a gathering of German-American business men today that if the world wants peace and economic security "either the reparations problem must be solved or it must disappear."

Dr. Schacht said success of the Hitler faction in the recent elections was due to the fact "the working class is just realizing it, and not the wealthy class alone, has to help pay off the reparations."

FARMERS WILL GET AID ON GRAIN LOANS

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (AP) — The Farmers' National Grain Corporation, which was sponsored by the Federal Farm Board, has advised its member co-operatives it is prepared to extend assistance on margin loans to prevent forced sale of farmers' grain holdings, Treasurer Walter L. LINGLE PLOT CONFESSED

Frank Bell, in Chicago Jail Since June, Said to Have Implicated Self and Named Two Others

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (AP)—Frank Bell, prisoner in the County Jail, was called before a Coroner's jury tonight to tell his version of who killed Alfred (Jake) Lingle, Tribune reporter. In suddenly reopening the Lingle inquest, Coroner Bundesen said Bell confessed taking part in the slaying plot and named two confederates.

Coroner Bundesen said Bell had admitted to police he drove Joe Traum, Northern Indiana gang leader, and Richard M. Sullivan, to Michigan avenue and Randolph street, just before Lingle was killed and that the two got out there and met a blond young man, who fired the fatal shot.

Sullivan, according to authorities, has been identified as the slayer of Christ Patras, a cafe owner, who is understood to have acted as agent for Jack Zuta, slain Moran gangster, in agreeing to pay $10,000 for the Lingle killing.

Dr. Bundesen and other officials declined to say whether Bell had identified the "blond young man."

Bell was arrested late in June, after the Patras slaying. He became angered, police said, because Sullivan did not come to visit him and gave the information which led to the latter's arrest late in July. Both have been in jail since and have confessed to many robberies.

Traum is in the Federal prison at Leavenworth.

No comment was forthcoming from police concerning the capture today of a young man giving the name of Lionel Burbe. Identified as a laundry robber, he was described tonight by Police Lieutenant Blaul as fitting the description of the Lingle slayer "more than anyone so far arrested."

As they were driving to the Lingle killing scene, police said Bell confessed, Traum remarked to Sullivan:

"If we can't get him there, we will get him out at the race track."

Lingle, it was revealed, was on route to the races when he was shot down.

Bell said he drove around a while after he left Traum and Sullivan out and that, when he met them again, Sullivan was pale and said he had been shot.

"Where is this guy we were going to kidnap?" Bell said he asked.

"Oh, we got him—Go on, let's go," he quoted Sullivan as saying.

INCREASED PURCHASES ADVOCATED

Green, Union Head, Says Greater Buying Needed to End Depression

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (AP)—Increased purchase of commodities was urged today by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, as a means of stabilizing business conditions.

The suggestion was made in the monthly survey of business issued by the federation.

"Business men," Green said, "can hasten revival and improve their own trade without undue risk by such policies as these:

"(1.) Out overhead costs (without reducing wages) by improving equipment and eliminating waste.

"(2.) Order ahead; start to work up a normal spring supply.

"(3.) Improve quality of product and reduce prices.

"(4.) Stimulate trade by advertising and special efforts."

Green added these measures "will increase employment and put products within reach of this year's low incomes" and wage earners "can help produce better articles at lower cost by improving the quality of their work and increasing efficiency."

HIGHER WAGES URGED TO CREATE MORE JOBS

BOSTON, Oct. 3. (AP)—Higher wages for industrial workers as a means of maintaining American standards of living and reducing unemployment were urged by William L. Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in addressing the twenty-fourth convention of the building trades department of the federation, here today.

Increased production and efficiency, as a result of advances in machinery, was given by President Green as the reason for the present condition.

"Industry must permit the payment of higher wages to keep pace with higher output of the worker," he said. "In this way we can keep step with production and no unemployment will follow, as every man wants to better his condition and those of his family, with the result that with money to spend production will be correspondingly consumed."

CATALONIAN COLUMBUS IDEA UPHELD

Peruvian Scholar Asserts He Has Found Proof of Theory About Discoverer

PARIS, Oct. 3. (AP)—Prof. Luis Ulloa, Peruvian scholar who recently created a stir at the Hamburg Americanist conference by insisting Christopher Columbus was a Catalonian, and not a Genoese, told the Associated Press today his theory is confirmed by recent discoveries in the French National Library.

These demonstrate, the Peruvian asserted, that Columbus was a relative of Casanova-Scullon, who was a corsair in the service of King Louis XI and, although born in France, was of Catalonian origin. Prof. Ulloa will go to Spain in a month for further study.

Mrs. Gothard and their son, a young dancer, have been in Los Angeles several weeks.

pressing for an alliance politically beneficial to each.

It is understood a solemn promise embodying these conditions was given by the bachelor King last month to a Vatican emissary especially sent to Sofia.

Thereupon Pope Pius, though loath to see a Catholic Princess marry into a house of another religion, withdrew his objections to the match. Canon law provides such may be done in extraordinary cases.

Bandit Kidnaps Wealthy Victim

A. B. Slack of 1360 South Los Robles avenue, Pasadena, wealthy cotton dealer and a former president of the Annandale Country Club, was kidnaped last night by an armed bandit who forced him to drive from the Annandale club to Los Angeles and then robbed him of $80 and his car. The hold-up occurred after the bandit had failed in a similar attempt to rob Stephen S. Weld, 875 South El Molena avenue, Pasadena, vice-president of the Security National Bank. On the way to Los Angeles the car was stopped twice by police but the bandits joked with them and talked them out of making an arrest for speeding, according to Slack's report.

SEA DEPTHS TO BE INVADED

Diving Cylinder That Will Go Down 6500 Feet and Stay Eight Days Planned by German

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (AP)—Plans for construction of a diving apparatus capable of descending to a depth of 6500 feet and cruising about at that level for a period of eight days were described here today by Dr. Rudolf Engelmann of Berlin, who said he has been working on the idea since 1922.

He said negotiations for construction of the machine are under way with several American concerns and he expects to have it ready for demonstration purposes within two or three months.

He described his proposed apparatus as cylindrical, twelve feet high, fifty-one inches in diameter and weighing 3500 pounds. It will be constructed of steel an inch and three-quarters thick, and equipped with a radio receiving and sending set, navigation instruments and a powerful lamp to illuminate the ocean depths through a window.

He said the cylinder is so designed as to float while on the surface, while descent will be by a tank which can be filled and emptied of water at will. He said the apparatus will be especially valuable for the taking of motion pictures and the making of observations in the ocean depths.

KELLEY SELLS SHALE 'EXPOSE' said, had come from the Denver office and had been passed by Kelley himself.

"All were issued in accordance with regular Land Office routine on the recommendation of the Commissioner of the General Land Office," the statement added. "Only such applications have come before me personally as were referred to me by the General Land Office for instructions or on appeal.

"Kelley has been overruled on but a single case."

In contrast to the sixty-five patents which have been issued, the Secretary said he personally ordered more than 3700 claims, involving 1,400,000 acres, to be repossessed by the government as defaulted.

FIGURES ANALYZED

"This latter fact," Wilbur continued, "was well known to Kelley at the time that he made his reckless and apparently inspired statements."

The sixty-two patents, together with the two now approved but not yet issued, cover 38,000 acres.

After stating he had ordered 1,400,000 acres of land to be repossessed by the government, the Secretary said "these figures are very modest in comparison with Kelley's sweeping figures of 800,000 acres of shale land, with an estimated value of $40,000,000,000.

"As an example of the false impression given by these figures, it is interesting to note that $40,000,000,000 is the estimated value of 40,000,000,000 barrels of oil. This oil is still in the shale, and estimates for its extraction therefrom are placed at $1 per barrel, or $120,000,000,000. The figure of present value of this shale oil is, therefore, quite misleading.

"Kelley had written me voluminously in criticism of conditions as he found them in the field, and he was brought to Washington that he might be given every opportunity to present to me any facts in his possession regarding the pending claims for patents on oil-shale lands. He arrived in Washington in my absence, was not in the department on my return, and made no attempt to see me, despite the fact that the purpose in bringing him to Washington was to give him every opportunity to correct the ills of which he complained."

SENATE ANGLE

Meanwhile the possibility of an independent investigation by the Senate was considerably lessened by Senator Nye's attitude after he had talked to Kelley, although Nye did indicate that he would ask authorization for an inquiry by a special Senate committee in event the Department of Justice does not push the matter with dispatch.

Nye said after his conference with Kelley he could not help being "impressed" by the latter's sincerity in making his charges, but that he was certain the allegations of maladministration did not reach Secretary Wilbur. Nye also took Kelley's side in the protest that his charges had been prejudged by the Department of Justice, and called Asst. Atty.-Gen. Richardson on the telephone to say that Kelley felt he was not being offered a fair opportunity to present evidence backing up his contentions.

"Kelley's charges do not go to the door of Secretary Wilbur," Nye said. "There is a door to which his objections lead, however, and this door should be opened."

CRITICISES RICHARDSON

In his letter to Richardson Kelley quoted the Department of Justice official as stating in the newspapers that Secretary Wilbur "if anything has been more severe than lenient in handling oil leases" and that "someone has become unduly excited."

"Are you referring to me?" asked Kelley in the letter.

Kelley also asked Richardson if "it is not true that the opinions which you have been reported as expressing are inspired by higher officials in the Interior Department?"

Kelley recalled a statement attributed to Richardson that he had "acted queerly" in making his charges and added: "In my opinion, the public interest requires an investigation of these charges by an impartial body. May I be pardoned for saying that the statements attributed to you in criticism of my action and in support of the Secretary of the Interior made before you have had opportunity to form independent judgment from an investigation of the evidence indicates that you have prejudged the case and have already disqualified yourself.

ADVISES OF ARTICLES

"Your statement referring to an alleged 'invitation' of Secretary Wilbur that I come to Washington is quite incorrect. These and numerous other critical statements of my position attributed to you may be viewed as an effort to influence public opinion."

And then Kelley told Richardson of his arrangements for cashing in on his exposure via newspaper articles. "You are advised," he said, "that I have made arrangements whereby the principal facts supporting the allegations contained in my letter of resignation will at once be presented for the consideration of the public. This procedure alone will render it unnecessary for me to go further into details at the present time."

Thus Kelley flatly refused to comply with Richardson's request that he give specific information in support of his charges. Kelley is still on the suspended list at the Interior Department, Secretary Wilbur having refused to accept his resignation pending a showdown on his assertions of improper administration of oil shale lands.

NEW AMBASSADOR TO NEIGHBOR NATION

J. Reuben Clark

1906, when he became assistant solicitor of the State Department, he was appointed Undersecretary of State in 1926 by Frank B. Kellogg, then Secretary of State.

On March 3, 1929, the eve of President Hoover's inauguration, the last revolution broke out in Mexico. Clark, who was in Washington, gathered the press dispatches describing the Mexican revolt and worked all night to prepare a memorandum on Mexican conditions which during his first day of office aided President Hoover in the task of defining a United States policy toward the revolution.

Three months later, Clark gave up his work as Undersecretary to become personal adviser to Ambassador Morrow. In that capacity he gained an intimate knowledge of Mexico and the problems of that republic.

CLARK'S APPOINTMENT FOREGONE CONCLUSION

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 3. (Exclusive)—The appointment of J. Reuben Clark, former Undersecretary of State and Dwight W. Morrow's chief adviser on Mexican matters, did not come as a surprise either to Mexico officially or to American residents here. It has been a foregone conclusion for a number of months that Clark had been designated by Morrow as his successor.

Morrow at no time during his work here has ever attempted to conceal his admiration for Clark's ability nor has he ever hesitated to share with his unofficial aide the credit for such results as he obtained in his dealings with the Mexican government.

TO CONTINUE POLICIES

Only during the latter part of the Coolidge administration when he was Undersecretary of State at Morrow's recommendation was Clark absent from Mexico for any appreciable time and then Morrow believed that he could do at that time more good for Mexican-American relations in Washington than here.

It is also a foregone conclusion that Clark will carry on the Morrow policies in his dealings with Mexico. Clark is particularly credited with having made the most exhaustive study ever undertaken of the Mexican agrarian and oil problems and to have furnished Morrow with the result of this vast research work.

HIGH MORMON

Clark, at present in Salt Lake City, is a Mormon high in the affairs of his church. An devout Mormon he neither drinks nor smokes. Clark first became "Mister Ambassador" when last February President Hoover appointed him special Ambassador for forty-eight hours to attend the inauguration of President Ortiz Rubio.

American business men in Mexico who have favored the Morrow policies are pleased at the selection. While the appointment has been expected at the Foreign Office, Secretary Estrada said this evening that Mexico is "pleased" with the selection.

CLARK IN GOVERNMENT SERVICE SINCE 1906

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 3. (AP)—J. Reuben Clark, named today as United States Ambassador to Mexico, declined to comment on the appointment, pending receipt of official notification.

Mr. Clark has been in the government service almost continuously since his appointment September 1, 1906, as assistant solicitor of the Department of State, which he retained until 1913. In 1912 he was named to represent the United States on the International Preparatory Commission for the third Hague conference and later was named general counsel for the United States before the American-British Claims Commission.

Later he was agent for the United States before the Mexican-American Claims Commission and then general counsel before the commission. In 1921 he was counsel for the Department of State and expert assistant to the American commissioners at the conference on limitations of armaments.

Mr. Clark was born in Grantsville, Tooele county, Utah, in 1871. He was graduated from the University of Utah in 1898 and from Columbia University in law in 1906. He taught school in this State and was assistant professor of law in George Washington University in 1907 and 1908. He married Luacine A. Savage here in 1898.

TRIBE IN AFRICA PULLS UP STAKE

Great Migration Forced on People Secretly

Italian General Seeks to Surround Foe

BENGAZI (Cyrenaica, Africa) Oct. 3. (AP)—One of the greatest forced migrations of people in recent centuries has just been completed with utmost secrecy in the hinterlands of Cyrenaica and Tripoli, North Africa.

Eighty thousand tribesmen with 600,000 head of cattle, tents, provisions and household goods have been removed to the Mediterranean coast in an effort to combat the powerful rebel tribe of Omar El Muctar in the Gebel district.

TITHE TO BE CUT OFF

Through the enforced migration Gen. Graziani, Italian military chief in the area, hopes to cut off the rebel tribesmen from food and supplies, munitions, recruits, animals and the traditional tithe of one-tenth of the possessions of surrounding tribes which they heretofore have been forced to pay as tribute.

Omar El Muctar is strongly intrenched in the difficult terrain of Gebel in the midst of hills and woods. Armored car squads, two of which are manned by Fascist militia, are penetrating through the desert plains of Marmarica and surrounding Omar El Muctar's position.

The Ministry of War and of Colonies announced today that the migration is an accomplished fact.

The tribesmen, surrounded by colonial troops, moved on their own camels hundreds of miles over desert land to the coast. Wells had been prepared and vast tracts of land set aside for them where their cattle can graze. They will live on the coast throughout the winter.

TROOPS TRANSPORTED

In preparation for the attack on the stronghold of Omar El Muctar colonial regiments of the Eritrea, Italian Red Sea colony, have been transported to Cyrenaica, and Cyrenaican regiments which might have been in sympathy with the rebel chieftain have been disbanded.

The Eritrean troops have received new style rifles so that if their ammunition falls into the hands of the rebels it cannot be used, since they are equipped with the style of rifle previously in use.

The Cyrenaican coast now presents the remarkable sight of 80,000 people encamped within sight of the Mediterranean which few of them would have seen had not the soldiers forced them to migrate. As the rainy season approaches arrangements have been made to turn the new population to agriculture.

SEATTLE, Oct. 3. (AP)—Communists, leaders in the lumber industry, law enforcement officials and others passed in review before the House committee which is investigating Communistic activities in the United States. The committee is headed by Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York.

The principal Communist to be summoned was James O'Neal, Seattle news vendor, a candidate for the State Senate in the November elections and a Communist elector for his party two years ago.

COMMUNIST MOUTHS

O'Hannahan said he believed the workers of the land should take over "the farms, mills and mines by the ballot if possible but by force if necessary.

Lumbermen, led by Col. A. D. Greeley, secretary-manager of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association, testified that unless the government halts importation of Russian pulpwood and lumber products the lumber industry of the Pacific Northwest faces ruin. He objected to the Russian importations on the grounds that the produced by convict or unpaid labor.

Greeley admitted, however, in response to a question by Representative Eslick of Tennessee, that Russian imports were only a factor in the present depression in the lumber business.

"CASE OF BOILS"

Ralph Shaffer, Tacoma manufacturer, testified he had four or five Communists on his payroll and that he considered their political views simply a "case of boils."

"If a man has a job and a decent wage he won't be a Communist," Shaffer said.

Ewing D. Colville, King county prosecuting attorney, and Lawrence Forbes, Seattle Chief of Police, before the committee Communists held nightly meetings on the streets with six-shooters on the City Hall Plaza. Another booster for the Pacific Coast city was R. H. Hazel, a native Bostonian, who drove here in his automobile to explain that Los Angeles has no coal wagons, no rain, no cold weather, no, etc., etc. Boston will have to listen to much more similar talk as 300 more delegates from Los Angeles will arrive Sunday with their eighty-piece band.

Somerville, Mass., which has a Legionnaire Mayor, John J. Murphy, was all set to welcome 6000 Legionnaires from Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, New Jersey, Tennessee and California. Lowell will entertain the State adjutants of forty-eight States and nine foreign country delegations.

Judge Advocate Says Action Barred by Constitution

Organization to Take View Issue "Closed Book"

Los Angeles Delegates Open Colorful Campaign

BOSTON, Oct. 3. (AP)—Current reports prohibition will be an issue before the annual convention of the American Legion here next week were checked today by Scott W. Lucas, national judge advocate, who declared prohibition to be a "closed book" as far as the business of the Legion is concerned. In a prepared statement he said:

"Frequently the question is asked as to what the position of the American Legion will be upon certain partisan issues or candidates seeking political office or preferment. Of course, the answer is obvious—absolutely nothing—and the reason why the American Legion does not participate in political issues or candidates is because of the clause in the national Constitution of the American Legion, which sets forth in no uncertain terms our stand upon practical politics as it exists in America today.

TERMS OF CLAUSE

The Clause referred to by Lucas says the Legion "shall be absolutely non-political and shall not be used for the dissemination of partisan principles nor for the promotion of the candidacy of any persons seeking public office or preferment."

Lucas summarized the position of the Legion with the statement: "We encourage every eligible voter to go to the polls and vote. We try to instill in his mind to vote intelligently; to study the issues of the day and then cast a vote accordingly."

Legionnaires flocked into Boston today for the convention.

ANGELENOS' DRIVE BEGUN

Campaigns were already under way with Los Angeles starting its boom to take the 1931 convention to the West Coast. Two of that city's delegates called attention to the fact Los Angeles was in town by serenading Mayor Curley with six-shooters on the City Hall Plaza. NOTABLE WOMAN OBTAINS DIVORCE

Mrs. Grace Hall Brosseau

EX-HEAD OF D.A.R. FREED BY DIVORCE

Mrs. Brosseau, Wife of Mack Motor Truck Chief, Obtains Decree

BRIDGEPORT (Ct.) Oct. 3. (Ex clusive)—Basing her petition on a charge of intolerable cruelty, Mrs.
Grace Hall Brosseau, former na tional president of the D.A.R., to day obtained a divorce from Al fred Joseph Brosseau, president of the Mack Motor Truck Company.
The decree was issued by Judge
Baldwin after a brief hearing in Superior Court. A financial settle ment made by the couple dispensed with the necessity of an alimony order. The amount of the settle ment was not made public.
Mrs. Brosseau testified that she was married December 20, 1899, and lived happily with her husband un til two years ago, when his attitude toward her changed. All affection ceased, according to Mrs. Brosseau, and her husband made a trip abroad.
The only act of physical violence related by Mrs. Brosseau is as serted to have taken place on May 14, after her husband returned from Europe. On that date, the wife said, she was in the drawing room with a friend when Brosseau entered and demanded the keys to the wine cellar. Mrs. Brosseau refused to turn over the keys and declared her husband then swore at her and struck her in the face with his fist.
Mrs. Wilson Felder, who was Mrs.
Brosseau's guest at the time, sub stantiated the plaintiff's story. Mrs.
Mary Plunkett was another wit ness.
Brosseau did not defend the case or make a personal appearance in court.

Pastor Praises Nevada's 'Easy' Divorce Laws

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3. (AP)— Nevada's much-criticised "easy di vorce" laws are performing a so cial service for the United States, Rev. William Moll Case, pastor of the Federated Church of Reno, told delegates to the Pacific Slope con gress of Congregational ministers here today.
The laws often are abused, he said, but nevertheless eventually they will point the way to a uni form divorce code throughout the States.
"As it is," Mr. Case said, "per sons seeking a divorce at least do not need to commit perjury in order to obtain a legal separation.
After studying the Nevada divorce law and its effects for more than five years I am convinced it is based on a social theory that should not be condemned without full in vestigation."

INDIANS TO HONOR SAINT

Thousands Gather in Mexican Town for Colorful Tribute to St. Francis Xavier

MAGDALENA (Son., Mex.) Oct. 3. (AP)—This small typical Mexican town of a normal population of 3000 tonight is jammed with approximately 15,000 visitors, here to pay tribute to St. Francis Xavier, patron saint of the Yaqui and Papago Indians and the Mexican peons. From all parts of Mexico and Southern Arizona they have come, some from as far south as Yucatan and Chiapas, most of them Yaqui Indians who have been exiled by the Mexican government from their homes in the mountains of Sonora for taking part in uprisings. Other thousands are expected tomorrow, the big feast day, the day when tribute and obeisance is paid to the patron saint.

Tomorrow a stream of gold, silver and jewels will be poured at the feet of the reclining wooden image dressed in ragged and worn priestly robes. As a safeguard, however, a large safe with a slot in its top will receive the valuables, the entire savings of many who will seek the favor of the saint to whom Father Kino in 1691 dedicated in the Mission San Francisco at Magdalena.

For nearly 200 years the Indians and peons have gathered annually at the mission in Magdalena to pay homage to this priest, who is said to have died in 1552 and was buried on the Island of San Cias off the coast of China, after many years of work among the orientals. October 4, set aside as the day of tribute to him, is also the feast day of St. Francis of Assesi, who is worshiped on the same day in Europe by thousands.

shaw's death due to a heart at tack induced by acute indigestion.
He left his office unaccompanied a few minutes before his body was found.
Bagshaw was appointed supervisor of transportation March 24 of this year. It was his first venture in State politics and his appointment by Baker came as a complete sur prise. His appointment followed stormy encounters with the athletic powers at the university, whose at tempts to replace him at the helm of the university's football depart ment were eventually successful. He resigned at the close of the 1929 season, three years before his con tract was to expire.

BORN IN WALES

Bagshaw was 46 years of age. He was born in Flint, Wales, but came to Washington with his parents in 1892. He was educated in the pub lic schools and was graduated from the University of Washington and the school of mines in 1908. While at the university as a student he was a star quarterback of the pow erful football teams of Gilmour Dobie.
During the World War Bagshaw was a first lieutenant, Four Hun dred and Third United States En gineers. He held the rank of ma jor in the One Hundred and Six ty-first Infantry, Washington Na

DEVELOPED CHAMPIONS

Although Bagshaw had resided in Olympia since his appointment to a supervisorship in the Department of Public Works, he maintained his family home in Seattle. He is sur vived by his widow, Mrs. Elizabeth
E. Bagshaw and three children,
Frances E., a student at Whitman College; Margaret L. and Robert.
Bagshaw earned a name for him self when he piloted the Huskies, after years of effort, to their first Pacific Coast football championship in 1925.
Before going to Washington Bag shaw was head coach of Everett High School, where his football teams gained nation-wide reputa tion.

BOARD BOOSTS RAISIN LOANS

Federal Advance Increased on Plea of Koster

Purchase of 320,000 Tons on Vines Also Approved

Grapes Bought to Be Kept Out of 1930 Market

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (Exclu sive)—The Federal Farm Board to day agreed to increase its loan on raisins 1-4 cent per pound on sub standard and ½ cent a pound on extra standard and standard grades over the present rate of 2 cents per pound.
In making public the board's ac tion, C. C. Teague, California mem ber, said that the control board also will buy 320,000 tons of raisin grapes on the vine, equivalent to 85,360 tons of raisins, and withdraw them from competition with the 1930 crop. This move and a short age of raisins on the drying trays estimated to be between 15 and 25 per cent, warranted the increase in the advance, Mr. Teague explained.
The California member paid trib ute to the work of Frederick Koster, who presented the raisin case to the board, in a telegram to the California raisin pool at Fresno, in which he made public the details of the board's action.
The full text of the Teague tele gram follows:
"Purchase by the control board of 320,000 tons of raisin grapes on vines, which is equivalent to 85,360 tons of raisins, and the removal from competition with 1930 crop, and a shortage of 15 to 25 per cent which has since developed in the esti mated tonnage of raisins now on trays now makes strong statistical position for raisins which should make a strong market condition.
Farm board, therefore, under con ditions which prevail in grape in dustry, has decided it is war ranted in increasing advance 1-4 cent per pound on substandard and ½ cent per pound on extra standard and standard raisins in addition to the former commit ments, and you are therefore ad vised that this will be done. Mr.
Fred Koster's trip to Washington has veen very helpful in bringing these later developments to board's attention and we are appreciative of fine spirit of public service that is prompting him to devote his time to interest of grape industry."

INCREASED PAYMENTS WILL START IMMEDIATELY

FRESNO, Oct. 3. (AP)—Wylie M.
Giffen, president of the California

SEA POWER GENERATED BY CLAUDE

French Professor Gets Unexpected Results in Gulf Stream Tube Test

MATANZAS (Cuba) Oct. 3. (AP)— Prof. Georges Claude tonight in formed the Associated Press he has succeeded in producing twenty kilo watts of power in his experiments to produce cheap industrial power from the waters of the Gulf Stream.
He said he expects to hold a semi-public test of his apparatus next Monday afternoon.
The French scientist, who has been working for nearly a year at his laboratory on Matanzas Bay, produced double the amount of power generated by his big turbines when he first set them in motion yesterday. This surprised and pleased him. Chilly weather re cently, he explained, has reduced the ratio between water temperature at sea level and at the 2000-foot depth from which his mile-long tube is drawing up water.

CITRUS GOLD MINT HEAVIEST

Return of $131,000,000 May Be Expected in State

J. A. Steward, Executive of Large House, Predicts

Receipts of $4,000,000 in Excess of '27-'28 Seen

REDLANDS, Oct. 3. (AP)—The citrus year closing November 1 will be a record one, bringing to California growers $131,000,000, it was estimated here today by J. A. Steward, general sales manager of Mutual Orange Distributors.

"This figure," Steward said, "is based on returns to M.O.D. associations to date. Added to these direct receipts for the State will be the freight charges which will accrue to California railroads.

"Indicated receipts this year are 89,000 carloads of citrus fruits, of which 46,000 are oranges and grapefruit, and 13,000 are lemons. Shipments this season compare closely with the 1927-28 period, when 80,300 carloads were moved. But the increase to growers for the 1929-30 season will be $4,000,000 greater than that of the 1927-28 year."

Reports indicate a large navel crop, Steward added. The navel oranges will be started into the packing-houses in Tulare county in November and from Southern California in December, but the steady movement will not be under way there until January, as in previous seasons.

Girl's Obdurate Mother Foils Wedding Plans

ONTARIO, Oct. 3.—Not to be denied in their wishes, Jose Sanchez, 21 years of age, and Felipa Banuelos, student at Chaffey Union High School, defied the wrath of the girl's mother, and filed intention to wed at Santa Ana.

Now the youth is out on his own recognizance due to face Judge George R. Holbrook Tuesday morning on a charge filed by Mrs. Banuelos, and the girl is staying at the County Detention Home at San Bernardino, preferring that place to her own home while the problem of romance is solved.

About a month ago the youth and his father asked Chief of Police Arthur Axley to go with them to the home of Felipa, where Jose asked permission to marry the daughter.

The girl and her father were willing, but the mother said "no!"

She requested three weeks in which to consider the situation. When she arrived at no conclusion at the end of that time, the young couple journeyed to Santa Ana and filed notice of intention to wed. When they returned at the end of the three days of court grace for the license, Constable W. O. Hardy of Ontario, was waiting there also for them, and returned the pair to Ontario upon complaint of the girl's mother.

Felipa said she would rather stay at the detention home than return to her own home, and her wishes were honored by officials.

WOMEN'S SKILL ON DISPLAY

Fair Sex in Notable Array of Their Handiwork at Orange County Fair, in Artistic Display

BY LANNIE HAYNES MARTIN

SANTA ANA, Oct. 3.—The women of Orange county decided this year that a high degree of quality instead of quantity should determine the entries made, with the result that the sightseer at the fair is not confused by a great number of duplicates of any one article, but is shown the result of what was submitted to the committee.

While a fewer number of articles is filled with a heterogeneous collection of everything from old shoes, antique teapots, rusty rifles and early American money, to old wills and age-yellowed manuscripts.

The Junior Fair, in charge of Miss Hazel Nell Bemus, has by far the most artistic objects in the entire showing. A case of batiked handkerchiefs and pillows done in colored wool yarn by the Orange Union High School students could well pass for the work of adult professionals. Marked ability in drawing and coloring is shown in the work of the graded schools and kindergartens, and an unusual degree of creative imagination in the original designs made by the students.

A huge case filled with home-made bread, of every conceivable sort of meal and flour, rather astonished the onlookers who did not believe that bread is still a home product. A mammoth whole-wheat loaf took first prize.

Cooking, weaving, canning, architectural drawings, metal work, wood work and mounted flower specimens, all done by small girls, made a varied and striking exhibit.

A flower booth with blossoms made entirely of paper, is one of the most surprising exhibits, for until one touches the petals of the zinnias, roses, gladioli and asters, it is impossible to detect that they are not nature's handiwork.

A number of the agricultural booths and water gardens have been designed and created this year by women and there is an unusually beautiful display of cut flowers, including dahlias and asters of mammoth size.

Today, the arrangement of exhibits is much more effective and artistic, and the beauty of each piece is more readily perceived.

Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, superintendent of the women's department, declares that there has never been such a creditable display of quilts at the fair before. One silk quilt, made by Miss Emma Anderson of Moneta, has 11,444 pieces of material in it, and each piece is of such uniform size that they do not vary a hair's breadth in width or length.

The stitchery on a number of the quilts is so fine that a magnifying glass is required to see it. There is a hand-woven coverlid 150 years old, done in orange, which looks as modern as anything made today.

Probably the most artistic department in the entire exhibit is the china and pottery. Vases and lamp bases showing a Persian influence both in design and coloring; an excellent imitation of Czecho-Slovakian ware; gold etching; Egyptian effects and Wedgewood coloring, all show the versatility of the women painters. Mrs. Adrian K. King is in charge of the department, and has a greater number of awards fell to Mrs. Evelyn G. Purdy of Fullerton, who has her own kiln and is potter as well as designer.

Mrs. J. Edmund Snow is superintendent of the historical and antique department, which has a great variety of interesting objects on display. Three generations of baby clothes, from 1830 to 1930, show a marked trend toward simplicity and comfort for the infant. One case

MAN-MADE LUNGS GIVEN

Mrs. Keith Spaulding Promises Drinker Respirator to Pasadena Hospital; Order Sent to Boston

PASADENA, Oct. 3.—Through the generosity of Mrs. Keith Spaulding of this city, the Pasadena Hospital will become the first institution in this vicinity to possess a "Drinker respirator," a device which has attracted widespread interest because of its success in saving the lives of persons whose breathing had stopped.

The "mechanical lungs," of the same type as the respirator reported to have prolonged the life of a Chicago girl paralysis victim, and to have saved the lives of San Francisco patients, has been ordered from Boston and will arrive within a few weeks.

According to Miss Alice G. Henninger, Pasadena Hospital superintendent, the new respirator will be used locally to revive gas-poison victims, and in other cases where the heart's action can be continued after respiration has ceased. The cost of the Drinker respirator is about $3000.

A few months ago Mrs. Spaulding financed the installation of sound-deadening material which hospital officials assert has added materially to the comfort of patients.

When they are not voyaging on their yacht, Goodwill, Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding reside in the home they have erected in the gardens of the Hotel Maryland.

YOUTH RUNS RIGHT INTO JAIL CELL

Allen Williams Admits Robbing Restaurant After Colliding With Officer

POMONA, Oct. 3. — Allen Williams, 17 years of age, recently of Spokane, Wash., is in the City Jail today pondering over two mistakes he made early this morning, the first when he held up O. N. Thomas, restaurant proprietor of 401 East Second street, at 1 a.m., and the second when he decided to run from the scene of the crime.

Shoving an automatic in Thomas's face when he answered a knock at the back door of the restaurant, Williams forced him to hand over a money bag which had been folded up his pocket, then turned and ran toward the main business section into the arms of a patrolman, who was curious to know why the youth was running so early in the morning.

The officer arrived at the police station about the same time Thomas was reporting the robbery. A search of the boy revealed the money bag and the joke was on Williams. It was empty. However, he freely signed a confession of the felony and will be turned over to juvenile officials for prosecution.

Metropolitan Water Group in Ontario Session

ONTARIO, Oct. 3.—"Babylon, the greatest city of all times, rose from a diminutive village to its place of prominence because plenty of water was acquired for its needs. When its canal system was permitted to disintegrate, the city with the highest civilization in the world crumbled into the dust. Southern California depends upon a new system of water supply, or it will suffer the fate of Babylon," Paul Schwab, Mayor of Beverly Hills, declared in an address before 200 men representing twenty-five Southern California cities, attending a meeting of the Metropolitan Water District Advancement Association at Hotel Ontario last night.

Schwab pointed out graphically the need for additional water supply in Southern California in outlining the purposes of the Metropolitan Water District Advancement Association. He said water planes in the Chino basin have dropped six to eight feet in a year for the last ten years, and that the water planes in the Los Angeles region have been overdrawn 263 second feet.

REDONDO PLANS TO BRIGHTEN UP CITY

REDONDO BEACH, Oct. 3.—Cooperating with the city fire department the housing committee of the Chamber of Commerce has arranged a clean up-and paint-up campaign for National Fire Prevention Week, which begins next Monday. The campaign is a part of the work outlined by the committee in which an effort will be made to induce owners of undesirable property to improve it or clear the premises.

REDLANDS, Oct. 3. — The City Council has just presented to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence G. White, who gave to Redlands its beautiful new outdoor stage at Liberty Park, named the Prosellis, a memorial, consisting of a beautifully engraved and decorated resolution on parchment in a cover of highly embossed and padded leather.

The resolution recites that the city is more than grateful to Mr. and Mrs. White for the gift of the outdoor stage, where in the summertime the Community Music Association presents the best artists of the musical world for the people, and where all the year-round various affairs are held.

The City Council has also placed an order for a bronze plaque which will be placed on the building giving thanks to the donors for the city of Redlands.

Ontario Victims of Check Passer Hope to See Him

ONTARIO, Oct. 3.—Word received here by Chief of Police Arthur Axley gave the hope to furniture men, a real-estate brocker and a bank, that a number of checks that "bounced" back to them recently with the notation that they were worthless, may be made good, or the passer be lodged behind the bars.

Word came to Axley that a man giving the name of William L. Baker, wanted in Ontario, has been captured at Stockton on charges of two counts of forgery.

Baker is believed to be the man who recently rented a house in Ontario, paid his rent with a fictitious check, filled the house with new furniture paid for with fictitious checks, cashed a number of worthless checks on a bank and individuals and moved out under cover of night.

The automobile in which he left Ontario was obtained from a used-car dealer with a check that bounced back, marked "no good."

GRIM REAPER LOSES IN RACE WITH STORK

ONTARIO, Oct. 3.—Death ran second best to the stork during September in Ontario, according to City Clerk D. B. Wynne. There were but three deaths during the month, while the stork dropped in to eight families. The stork was running behind schedule even at that compared to the corresponding month of last year when he left thirteen babies in Ontario.

HONORS FOR CENTENARIAN

Charles E. Harwood, "Upland's Grand Old Man," Will Be Lauded on Hundredth Birthday

ONTARIO, Oct. 3.—Honoring Charles E. Harwood, "grand old man of Upland," who observes his one hundredth birthday anniversary Sunday, the 19th inst., an elaborate program reception is being arranged for that at the Congregational Church. The anniversary ceremony is being arranged by a committee numbering Benton Ballou, general chairman; Miss Gertrude Reid, Rev. Charles L. Knight and Miss Metta Pugit.

Since the founding of Bethel Congregational Church in Ontario the Harwood family has been prominent in its development. Last spring the church congregation dedicated the Harwood Memorial Organ, a $75,000 instrument, to the memory of the Harwood family.

Mr. Harwood has requested that his favorite hymns be sung by the congregation and that the choir sing several selections of his choice, and his most-favored organ pieces will also be played. The Scripture lesson will be the Ninety-first Psalm.

Benton Ballou, for years associated with Mr. Harwood as a friend and business man, will speak in honor of the latter, and Mr. Knight, minister of the church, will preach a sermon fitting the occasion.

Mr. Harwood is known as the father of the lemon industry in Upland, having been closely associated with the development of the lemon packing-house and several orange houses in the community. As a mark of appreciation for the distinguished service Mr. Harwood has rendered Pomona College, and in recognition of his one hundredth birthday anniversary, the college will confer on him the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the impressive convocation on founders' day at Pomona College, the 12th inst. Mr. Harwood has been a member of the board of trustees of the college since 1899.

FARM CENTER AT CHINO LEADS NATION IN PRIZES

CHINO, Oct. 3. — Chino's traditional claim to being the valley "where everything grows" has a side-partner now.

The members of Chino Farm Bureau Center declare their farm center holds the distinction of being the largest winner of cash prizes of any farm center in the United States.

They support their assertion with the announcement that the farm center exhibits won $770 in cash prizes at the recent Los Angeles County Fair at Pomona, and individual exhibits from Chino brought the amount past the $1400 mark.

The bureau won first in the farm center class, first on the walnut display and second on grape display. First on grapes was taken by a Chino member as an individual.

The same exhibit entered by the farm bureau at the Southern California Fair at Riverside won first place in the community class, and A. L. Michael of Chino, won first place in the farm bureau class.

Chino's exhibit showed about 150 varieties of farm products, most of which are grown commercially in Chino Valley. In designing the exhibit those in charge brought out the idea that "water is king," by placing a flowing well on a throne of gold over which was a king's crown

NEW TEMPLE DESCRIBED

Santa Paula Lodgemen Hear Details of Proposed Huge $52,000 Masonic Structure from Architect

SANTA PAULA, Oct. 3.—Members of the Santa Paula Lodge No. 291, F. and A.M., last night were given the first detailed description of what their new $52,000 temple will be like when it is completed. R. S. Raymond, architect, told the members at the stated meeting that the edifice will be of Florentine type architecture, two stories in height, and will be fifty-two feet wide by ninety-one feet long, not allowing for the 21x20-foot kitchen extension.

There will be a dining-room, reception room and ladies' lounge room, on the first floor and the lodge-rooms and committee rooms will be on the second floor. The exterior of the building will be of Roman brick and cast stone. The structure will be built solidly but not displeasing to the eye, Raymond said. It is expected that actual construction will be started soon and the edifice completed within six months.

Landscaping of the grounds at Seventh and Main streets, the site of the temple, will follow the completion of the building. R. E. Fleisher is chairman of the building committee, which includes Donald S. Teague, A. Blumenthal, E. D. Stuart and C. E. Kelsey. William Hudson is the contractor.

JAPANESE TO ATTEND FAIR TODAY

Orange County Will Be Host to Leaders of Race; Program to Follow Rodeo

ORANGE, Oct. 3.—Constantly increasing crowds at Orange County Fair evidence the fact to its directors that their assertion of a "best-yet" fair in the history of the Orange county institution is not without justification, in that each day, since the opening Tuesday, has seen a marked increase in attendance.

Today was Santa Monica Day with afternoon and evening concerts by the Santa Monica Municipal Band. A further attraction this afternoon was the first of a three-day rodeo program with two performances daily until the close on Sunday night.

Night races, although restricted this year to running races, have proven decidedly popular. The entire arena is as bright as day and a number of thoroughbred racers, some of them well known to the Tia Juana track fans, are among the entries.

Saturday will be "Japanese Day." Leading Japanese of Los Angeles together with the Japanese papers and associations have lent themselves earnestly toward securing the attendance of many thousands of their countrymen. The Japanese are arranging a program to follow immediately the afternoon rodeo performance. This program will consist of an exhibition of jiu jitsu under the direction of Mr. Yamada, instructor of jiu-jitsu in Orange county. There will also be fencing, sword dancing, dancing girls, etc.

The Japanese program will open with a daylight fireworks display followed by a five-minute address from the Japanese Consul at Los Angeles. Evening fireworks will conclude the program, which will end about 6 p.m.

Those desiring to attend the afternoon rodeo may hold their seats during both entertainments without extra charge. The night rodeo and running races will take place at the usual time.

Daniel McKeever Dies in London

ALHAMBRA, Oct. 3. — Daniel McKeever, prominent Alhambra real estate broker, died in a London hospital this afternoon. Word of his death was received in a cablegram from Mrs. McKeever. Mr. and Mrs. McKeever and their son Daniel, Jr., had been on a European tour and had planned to sail home from England on September 10. Two days prior to the sailing date Mr. McKeever was stricken with a heart attack and was forced to enter a hospital in London.

He came to Alhambra from Kansas City about ten years ago and entered the real estate business. During the past few years he had been one of the most active real estate men in the Western San Gabriel Valley. His home was here until two years ago when he moved to 1380 New York avenue, Altadena.

Vendors Near Schools May Be Kept Away

PASADENA, Oct. 3.—Vendors who seek the pennies which parents give school children for their lunches will be banned from the vicinity of local schoolgrounds, according to an emergency ordinance which the school trustees will request the Board of City Directors to enact, it was learned today.

"This is an old problem which has never been solved," asserted Charles H. Peterson, director of child welfare in the local schools.

"It has been difficult to keep children from spending their money for edibles of questionable quality because the vendors park their vehicles and move a few feet every ten minutes to evade the law. Something must be done to prevent outsiders from snatching the money which children would otherwise spend for nourishing food in the school cafeterias."

He declared that he was informed last year that three men who had served jail sentences were selling to children about the schoolgrounds.

In one instance, he said, a mother who drove her children to school attempted to park her automobile in a vacant space at the curb, but was told by a vendor who arrived at the same time that the spot was reserved for him. When she refused to park elsewhere, the vendor parked his own truck so close that she was unable to leave until police arrived.

Parents were advised by the school trustees that food of high quality is provided by the school cafeterias at low prices and that all the cafeteria employees are subjected to frequent medical examinations.

Sunday School Council Meets in Pasadena

PASADENA, Oct. 3.—More than 500 delegates attended the forty-first annual convention of the Southern California Sunday School Council of Religious Education in the First Baptist Church today.

One of the reasons for attending church and Sunday-school is to find congenial fellowship, according to Dr. W. C. Pearce, general secretary of the organization, in addressing the gathering.

"We love the church," he asserted, "because it is the place where we meet our fellow men, the place where we observe communion, and the place where there is the highest consciousness of true comradeship."

Bank Control in New Hands

LYNWOOD, Oct. 3.—Ralph L. Stephens, for one and one-half years president of the Lynwood National Bank, has sold the controlling interest in the bank to W. R. White of Los Angeles, president of the White Commercial Industrial Securities Company of that city, White being elected to the presidency of the bank.

Stephens will remain as a member of the board of directors of the bank, but will devote his time to the Conservative Mortgage and Finance Company of Seville street, Walnut Park, as president of that organization.

For a year or more, Stephens was president of the City National Bank of Huntington Park, until he became connected with the bank in this city. White is a banker, having been engaged in this business for several years before locating in Los Angeles.

LEGION COMMANDER OUTLINES PROGRAM

Maj. Ernest L. Danielson

REDLANDS, Oct. 3. — Maj. Ernest L. Danielson, newly elected Commander of the Redlands American Legion, outlined his program for the year at the first meeting at which he had charge last night.

The gathering was featured by a report from Frank Gedshall, retiring Commander, of the activities of the Legion for the past year. The Legion Drum Corps, with the backing of the entire post, won the championship at Sacramento. The Legion here has about perfected plans for a Legion cottage at the beach to be used by its members who could not afford to go to the beach otherwise, and the post has taken an active part in the county and State programs.

Maj. Danielson promised the support of his administration to the county and State program and especially in the effort to do real civic work in Redlands, and in boys' work.

A report was made showing that the local post has completed its rest cottage at the Victorville Hospital, one of the first to be completed. All of the posts in the county are to build cottages there for the use of the men who need to spend some time at the rest camp.

NEW CITRUS HOUSE FOR REDLANDS

Packing-Plant Costing $100,000 Being Built for Western Fruit Growers

REDLANDS, Oct. 3. — A citrus packing-house which will cost $100,000 with the building and equipment, is being erected on Sixth street at the Santa Fe tracks just north of the present small house which has been used by the Western Fruit Growers.

The present house will be used for storage and for emergency packing, but it is expected that practically all of the fruit packing will be done in the new house. T. H. Peppers, president of the company, was here today and let the contract for the building to C. C. Reasoner.

The increased capacity is necessary for two reasons, Peppers said, increased business, and because it is the plan of the company, which buys for cash, to pack all its high-quality fruit from Redlands, Highland, and even as far as Riverside, in this house.

Plans are to pack 600 cars of fruit the coming season and half of it will be from orange groves owned by the company.

The personnel of the Redlands branch of the company will not be changed. J. G. Chapman will be the district manager, with Howard Andrews as house superintendent, and W. F. Bieser as packing superintendent. V. C. Hulbert and M. F. Pierce will be in charge of the field work.

The packing-house will be of brick and cement with a steel roof.

It supports this institution by the sale of Wheatridge Christmas seals every year during November and December, which amounts to approximately $70,000 a year.

Trojan ATHLE

TROY DUE FOR TOUGH CONTEST

Schissler's Team Strongest in Many Years

Little and Rust Rated Fine Ball Carriers

Mallory or Kirkwood Slated to Replace Apsit

BY PAUL LOWRY

The Pacific Coast Conference football season gets into full stride today with the playing of two important games—Southern California vs. Oregon State here and Washington State vs. California at Berkeley.

The Trojans of Southern California are peculiarly interested in both struggles. They crave the annual pleasure of the Oregon State carcass and they wouldn't mind a little softening of Washington State sides by the Bears this afternoon. A week hence the Trojans meet Washington State at Pullman, Wash. Although Paul Schissler has, so far this year heralded as the best in seven seasons, there is some confidence in Trojan circles that the result will be the same as it always has been since Howard Jones came to coach the S.C. eleven.

THE RECORD

Jones arrived in 1925, and the Trojan records over Oregon State have been as follows: 1925, 28 to 0; 1926, 17 to 7; 1927, 17 to 13; 1928, 19 to 0; 1929, 21 to 7.

Only one game—the 1927 struggle—was unsettled until the last few minutes of play. That was the battle in which the Trojans, after losing two games the previous season by missed goals after touchdowns, finally saw the wrong turn. Howdy Elliott kicked the goal that means the difference between a tie game and victory for the Trojans. However, if a gent named Montgomery had not developed a brainstorm and tried to run the ball from his own goal line after the Trojans had been held for downs on the 3-yard line, the Staters undoubtedly would have won.

But Mr. Montgomery had his brain storm, fumbled the ball, Elliott fell on it, and a few seconds later the Trojans pushed over the touchdown, which meant the ball game.

Last year the Trojans piled up all their twenty-one points in the second period, and coasted from there in, permitting Nosler to return a punt 70 yards for O.S.C.'s lone score.

In the preceding year—1926—Don Williams was unstoppable. In 1927 it was Elliot, and in the two preceding years it was Mort Kaer who ran wild over the Staters, once at Corvallis in the mud and in the 28 game here.

FULL OF CONFIDENCE

But Schissler and his gang, who arrived here yesterday, disembarking at Glendale and going to the Hotel Huntington, are confident today's game will tell another story. This is their year, they assert.

Mr. Art Tsafe, the demon Oregon State publicity purveyor, has been here several days spreading the gospel, and from all he says about the O. S. C. sophomore backs and the wealth of reserves, the Trojans are in for a decidedly rough afternoon.

Little and Rust are two backs as good as any on the Coast, according to Tsafe, and the line is as tough and strong as the Trojans, which means 190 pounds per man. Their tackles, Pete Miller and Kent, weigh 215 and 218 pounds, respectively.

LITTLE, BUT OH, MY!

Here are a couple of Oregon State College athletes who are expected to figure prominently in this afternoon's game with the Trojans in the Coliseum. Frank Little, sophomore fullback, packs 189 pounds of beef around on his manly frame, and Coach Paul Schissler considers him the equal of Wes Schulmerich, one of the best backs the Beavers ever had. Harry Kent is just a little feller of 218 pounds, but he manages to get along at one of the tackle berths without much trouble.

Moses Tallies Touchdown for Local Boys

BY BRAVEN DYER

In a well-played, bitterly contested football game, the Olympic Club of San Francisco defeated the Los Angeles Fire Department eleven, 16 to 6, before 3500 fans at the Coliseum last night.

Bill Blewett's Smoke Eaters played a great game and the contest deserved much better patronage than it received. Blewett has molded a real football team and with Blond Don Moses as their siege gun the Firemen are going to be a popular local outfit.

Moses was a riot last night and but for some poor second-story work by their quarterback, the Firemen might have been victorious. After Moses had marched virtually the length of the field immediately following the kick-off, Quarterback Grimes decided to pull something fancy and forgot all about Blond Don when a touchdown seemed about to be produced from the 2-yard line. When it was too late Grimes called on Moses again but the damage had been done. Had

Seattle Club Receivership is Dissolved

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 3. (AP)—Two of three suits against the Seattle baseball club of the Pacific Coast League asking for the appointment of a receiver were withdrawn, in Superior Court today.

Superior Judge C. G. Jeffers continued the trial of the remaining suit until the 20th inst., indicating he would hear it "on its merits" simply as a suit for the collection of money owed and not as an action for receivership.

Dr. Earl V. Morrow, a large stockholder, requested his complaint be dismissed with prejudice against him, retracted all his allegations of insolvency as particularly those that charged mismanagement by William Klepper, manager of the club.

A second action brought by the Plymouth Collateral Company was dropped.

George C. Newell, a minority stockholder, is the sole litigant.

AZTECS UPSET SAGEHENS, 6-0

Elwood Dilley Lone Scorer in Hard-Fought Battle

CLAREMONT, Oct. 3.—San Diego opened the Southern Conference season with an astounding upset here tonight, conquering the Pomona Sagehens, 6 to 0, in a bitterly contested battle. Pomona lost three chances to score, two of them going glimmering on fumbles by Bob Baynham.

Elwood Dilley scored the only touchdown of the game in the first quarter, when he plunged over after the Aztecs had marched 50 yards down the field.

Pomona started out fast, making 20 yards in three plays with Baynham carrying the ball, but he finally fumbled and the Aztecs recovered, staving off a scoring threat. After a punting duel, Walter Herreid's eleven got possession of the ball about in midfield and marched down the field with reverses and off-tackle slants, Dilley plunging over from the 3-yard line for the score. He missed goal.

The play was mostly in Po-

Second Varsity Looks Good in Final Practice

Veteran Washington State Team Faces California

BERKELEY, Oct. 3. (Exclusive)—The University of California football varsity which has apparently "arrived" for Coach Clarence (Nibs) Price after many years of weary waiting is ready for tomorrow's second test of the season against Washington State College, following a light workout tonight in which second varsity men were predominant.

Among the second-string men who held the stage tonight was Ed Kirwan, the versatile quarterback from Los Angeles, who will relieve Ed Griffiths. Kirwan is chiefly remembered for his smartly executed 30-yard return of a punt against Santa Clara. The heavier Griffiths would get the call as game starter, but he still is favoring a bad ankle.

Ray East, the ten-second sprinter from whom the critics are expecting great things this season, will no doubt see lots of action tomorrow in company with Bill McCutcheon, likewise a speed back, and a husky one, too. Ralph Seely, a 180-pounder who is not yet completely football ripe, is bidding industriously for a chance on the first varsity.

GARRITY CONSISTENT

Perhaps the most consistent worker among the "second-stringers" is Clarence (Moose) Garrity. This tall, strong fullback, who kicks, passes and plunges, has one dickens of a job on his hands trying to oust Rusty Gill from his job. But "Moose" is trying valiantly. He rips the "Goofs" to shreds, and is showing a much-improved punting foot.

Punting is a department where Price's Californians will shine this season. The lanky George Watkins is leading the parade with punts that travel as much as 70 yards on some occasions and hit an easy average of more than 55 yards from scrimmage line. It is such punting as has not been seen since the days of Andy Smith and his widely talked-of kicker, Archie Nesbit. Aside from Watkins and Garrity, Price has very acceptable punters in the newly discovered star, Hank

Kitzmiller Stars as Western Warriors Defeat Rivals in Chicago by 14-to-7 Score

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (AP)—A tow-headed Pennsylvania Dutchman, Capt. Johnny Kitzmiller, tonight ran, passed and kicked the golden-jersied University of Oregon warriors to a 14-to-7 last-half victory over Drake University under the floodlights of Soldier Field.

Kitzmiller, who hails from Harrisburg, Pa., had trouble in getting Dr. Clarence W. Spears's tricky line shift and intricate backfield passes in working order, but when he did, the Webfeet shoved the stubborn Bulldogs all over Soldier Field. It was Kitzmiller, who started the drive that wound up with Watts going over for the first Oregon touchdown in the third period, and it was Kitzmiller who place-kicked the extra point to tie the score.

He started tossing passes and late in the final session shot a thirty-four-yard heave to Jack Rushlow, a substitute end, to put the ball on Drake's 16-yard line. Donohue got two yards in

MACKS MARCH INTO CAMP OF ST. LOUIS BALL CLUB

Veteran Manager and His Players Confident They Will End Series With Two Tilts on Cards' Field

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3. (AP)—The rampant herd of white elephants, under the command of Connie Mack, rumbled truculently into the enemy's stronghold late today, confident they will continue their wild charge toward another baseball championship in the third game of the world's series tomorrow.

The Pensylvania special bearing the Athletics arrived here after a twenty-one-hour trip from Philadelphia but the world's champions, who have struck terror into the camp of the Cardinals, succeeded in arousing curiosity among the citizens, instead of running to the cyclone cellars, hundreds of the populace stood by and cheered such stars as Lefty Grove, Al Simmons, Mickey Cochrane and George Earnshaw.

With two straight victories packed away, half the number needed to clinch the winner's money for the second successive year, the Athletics feel certain they will end the battle in St. Louis, despite the efforts of their veteran leader to discourage any spirit of overconfidence.

The A's would like to make it four straight to celebrate the third clean sweep of National League forces in a four-year span and set the same time square accounts over the trouncing the old white elephants absorbed at the hands of the Boston Braves in 1914.

Mack has decided not to attempt to win the series by relying solely on the two pitching aces who have beaten the Cardinals—Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw.

There was much speculation on the train today as to Mack coming back with Grove for the third game and Earnshaw in the fourth, but those closest in the veteran's counsel understood he had decided not to run the risk of sending Grove back to the mound after only two days of rest.

As a result the A's will gamble on taking their third straight game tomorrow behind one of the lesser lights of their twir-

CUBS TAKE TILT FROM WHITE SOX

Bud Teachout Hurls 12-1 Victory for Bruins in Chicago Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (AP)—Bud Teachout, a kid left-hander, started a baseball game against Red Faber, 43 years of age, and veteran of seventeen seasons with the White Sox, and when it was finished Teachout was still there, Faber had been succeeded by two other hurlers, and the Cubs had a 12-to-1 victory in the Chicago city championship series.

Teachout allowed four singles, and only in the eighth, when three of them were bunched for a run, did he have trouble. Carl Reynolds, one of the ranking American League batsmen, drilled the southpaw for a single in the first and from there on until the seventh not a hit was collected off his stuff.

The kid southpaw's task was made easier by the hitting of Rogers Hornsby's Cubs, who slammed Faber, Jim Moore and Young Ed Walsh for eighteen hits. Hack Wilson had a double, two singles, and a pair of walks, Gabby Hartnett got a triple and two singles, and Lester Bell got three singles.

Faber kept away from the Cubs in good shape outside of Charlie Grimm's homer, for the first three innings. In the fourth, however, he

OLYMPIC CLUB BEATS FIREMEN

Blewett's team secured that tally in the first five minutes of play it is my guess that they would have gone on to victory.

FREDERICKS STAR

Fredericks, a fast-traveling halfback, was the star ground gainer for the visitors. He scored the first touchdown from the 17-yard line early in the second quarter. After lining up for a place kick, Fredericks pulled a well-executed fake and skirted his own right end unmolested. Davis kicked goal.

Fred Schlicting, former California halfback, entered the game midway in the second period and had a lot to do with the second tally. He covered half the length of the field in a series of wild dashes and finally Davis went over from the 1-yard line and added the extra point.

Soon after the second half dawned, Nolan of the Firemen tried to punt from behind his own goal. Getting a bad pass from center mullified his attempt, however, and before he could swing his leg into action he was downed for a safety.

Just prior to the safety, Center Casey of the Firemen got all wound up and was benched from the game for asserted slugging. Sort of a repetition of Casey striking out, as it were. His act cost the Firemen 25 yards, which on top of a penalty of 15 yards for "assuring the referee" put Nolan in the aforementioned hole.

As a result of the penalties Referee Gillette was as popular with Firemen rooters as a false alarm at 3 a.m.

MOSES SCORES

Moses broke out all over the field in the third quarter. Carrying the ball on virtually every play, the former Trojan player made a march of seventy yards, ending up in a smash into two yards over the goal line. Wilson blocked the attempted conversion by Nolan.

Clang Artman, Hasenauer, Strof, R. Wheeler and a little squirt named Sarver played great ball for the Firemen. In addition to Fredericks, who displayed brilliant ball-carrying ability in the first half, Davis, Ford, Greger and Pomeroy were outstanding for the visitors.

When the Firemen play again go out and look them over. They know what it's all about and aside from one weakness, tackling, they'll make it tough for any of the ball clubs around here.

Panthers Drop 7-0 Battle to Santa Barbara

Marching thirty-five yards in the last quarter to a touchdown, the Santa Barbara State Roadrunners scored a 7-0 victory over the hard-fighting Cal-Christian Panthers last night at Santa Barbara. Walter Barnett tallied for the Roadrunners. After the touchdown the Panthers let loose a passing attack which came close to giving them a score only the end of the game keeping them from the Santa Barbara goal line.

TOILER TEAM TRIUMPHS

Long Beach Jackrabbits Tamed by Manual Arts Football Eleven in 19-7 Score

BY IRVING ECKHOFF

Despite the flashy galloping of three Long Beach backs, Red Franklin, Cecil Storey and Capt. Russ Sweet, Coach Jim Blewett's power-plus Manual Arts Toilers swept to an impressive 19-7 victory over the Jackrabbits yesterday afternoon on the Toiler field.

Manual's great line gave the Toilers the victory, the speedy forwards throwing the Jackrabbit ball packers for numerous loses. However, when the visiting team did get away the yardage sure piled up.

If matters had been reversed and the Long Beach backs had had the Toiler line in front of them, the score would have been in the fourties.

Manual got off to a bad start, a severe case of fumbleitis robbing them of the ball on two occasions in the first quarter. Finally the boys got the bobbles out their system and taking the ball on their own 20-yard line, in the second period, they marched 80 yards for the first touchdown of the game. Bill Howard carried it over from the 4-yard line, and followed it up by place kicking for the extra point.

Using a variety of reverses, laterals and fake reverses the Toilers tallied in the third period after a drive down the field from the 40-yard line. Louis Lasarovitz starred in the march, tearing off a good-sized gallop of 16 yards. A pass, McNeely to Dick Hamon, scored the touchdown. Faegan's kick was good, but the Toilers were off-side so the point didn't count.

In the last quarter McNeely and Lasarovitz packed the ball from the 49-yard line into scoring distance with McNeely going over for the score. The conversion kick was wide.

On the kick-off Faegan ran from his own 30-yard line to the Jackrabbit 19-yard line for a gain of 41 yards. It looked as if the Toilers were due for another score, but McNeely's pass to Hamon over the goal line just slipped out of the lank Toiler's fingers and the invaders took the ball on the 20-yard line.

Digging deep into ancient football history, Capt. Russ Sweet hid out after the Poly boys had placed the ball on their 40-yard line. Johnny Morrow, demon punter, tossed a long heave to Sweet, who side-stepped his way to a touchdown. Barton Smith's kick was good for the extra point.

The play caught the Toilers flat-footed and gave the old-timers a thrill. Yesterday was home-coming day at Manual Arts, and plenty of old-time stars were in the crowd of 8000 fans.

CALPREP ELEVEN IN 7-6 WIN OVER CUMNOCK

The California Preparatory School defeated the Cumnock School, boys' division, of Los Angeles, yesterday afternoon by the score of 7 to 6, in a game played at Covina. Cal-Prep scored on a pass from Davis, quarterback, to Logel in the last quarter. Davis converting on a line buck from the 2-yard line.

GARFIELD NOSES OUT WASHINGTON ELEVEN

A vastly improved Garfield eleven eked out a 2-to-0 victory over the Washington High grid squad yesterday on the Bulldogs' own field. A blocked punt which resulted in a Washington ball carrier being tackled behind his own goal line for a safety was the deciding factor of an otherwise tight game. Both teams held for downs several times within the shadow of their own goal posts. While there was no outstanding man for either team, Norberg of Garfield carried the brunt of his team's offense. Pilipoff also showed up well.

POET GRIDDERS FACE ARIZONA

State Teachers' College Team Plays Whittier Tonight

Coach Wallace Newman sent his Poet gridsters through a final workout yesterday in preparation for tonight's game with Arizona State Teachers' College on the Whittier turf.

The Quakers are on edge for the tussle and practically all the injured warriors have recovered sufficiently to be of aid and comfort to Newman.

Whittier has ball carriers galore, enough, in fact, to make up two fast, shifty offensive machines. In each Edwards will probably call the plays, but in combination No. 1 Krueger and Sistra will be halves, and Martin, fullback, while in combination No. 2 Mashburn and Ograin will hold down the halfback berths and Mifflin will see duty at full.

Krueger, a new man in uniform this fall, has shown plenty of promise in scrimmage. He is speedy and big enough to be effective. Martin is an elusive back and is dangerous wherever he has half a chance to get away. Mashburn is another dependable ground gainer. Ograin is an excellent punter. Newman has capable backfield reserves in Dell and Hill.

In spite of all this power the Whittier team will have rough going to match the invading Arizonans on the scoreboard. Captain of the Flagstaff eleven is Frank Armstrong, a halfback who is booked with a 9.8s. record in the 100-yard dash. This speed merchant is ably assisted by Mose Cooper, twice all-Southwest quarter; George Pear, a veteran halfback, and Cecil Mullenaus, a smashing 200-pound fullback.

STARS IN RALLY TO WIN

Hollywood Uncorks Seven-Run Spurt in Eighth to Make It Four Straight Over Oaks

BY BOB RAY

Staging a seven-run rally in the eighth inning to wipe out the Oaks' four-run margin, Oscar Vitt's rampant Hollywood Stars made it four straight over Oakland by winning last night's Wrigley Field struggle, 10 to 7.

The Acorns had gotten off in front, scoring seven runs off Jim Turner, Hollywood's sensational young right-hander, and apparently had the struggle sewed up, when the Stars came up in the eighth. Craghead had held the Sheiks to four hits in the first seven rounds, but he completely lost control in the eighth. Lee, Brannan, Jones and Carlyle all worked the husky Acorn right-hander for walks, to force in a run, and put the tying tallies on the paths.

Bob Hurst then replaced Craghead, and all he got for his efforts was being charged with the defeat. After disposing of Heath on a foul to Read, Hurst grooved one for Bassler, and Johnny drove it to center field for two bases, three runs scoring, and tying up the contest.

After Governor went out, George Hollerson, who had replaced Turner in the seventh, smashed a single to center, that scored Bassler, and put the Sheiks in front. Gasella singled to left, sending Hollerson to third, and took second on the throw-in. Jim Edwards, a southpaw, then arrived on the mound, and Lee greeted him with a one-base smash to right field that tallied Hollerson and Gazella. Arlett loafed on Lee's grounder, fumbling it, and then making a weak throw to the infield. Dudley took advantage of the situation, and rambled to third. Arlett drew two errors on the play, and Manager Zamloch promptly jerked him from the contest, sending Ray Brubaker out to finish the inning in right field. Brubaker got under Brannan's fly for the third out.

Hollerson, who blanked the Oaks in the eighth and ninth, and stopped their rally in the seventh, poked out hits in both of his trips to the plate, and received credit for the victory.

A fumble by Brannan on Arlett's grounder gave the Oaks a start in the second inning, and two runs scored when Schino walked, Dean singled infield to fill the bases, and Olsen singled to center.

The Stars tied it up in their half of the second, when Carlyle walked, was forced by Heath, and Governor and Turner followed with doubles.

The Acorns took the lead in the fifth when they converted a walk to Craghead, Uhalt's double, Verges's infield hit, and Arlett's sacrifice fly into a brace of tallies.

Mike Gazella got back one of those runs for Hollywood in the last of the fifth when he pounded one of Craghead's fast ones over the right-field screen.

The Oaks chased Turner to the showers in the seventh, adding three more runs to their total. Uhalt led off with an infield hit, and stole second. Verges sacrificed, and Arlett then stretched a hit to right into a double, Uhalt scoring. Schino's single scored Arlett, and Schino went to third when the ball went through Jones. When Dean hit safely to score Schino, Hollerson replaced Turner and retired the side.

PRACTICE GAMES FOR EAST'S BEST

BY W. W. (BILL) ROPER
Princeton Football Coach
(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

PRINCETON (N. J.) Oct. 3.—In the East, Princeton in its opening game against Amherst this Saturday will run up against the stiffest opposition. Amherst has a very strong team as its score last Saturday demonstrated. Princeton has a green team composed of a lot of sophomores.

Practice games against Rider College and Villanova have given the Princeton players some outside experience, however. The game should be close. Last year's score was certainly close enough, the Tigers winning, 7-0. I will be satisfied with a single touchdown again.

Yale meets Maryland, reputed to have another strong team. Yale should win but will get a good try-out. Army should have little difficulty with Furman. Brown will do better than against Rhode Island.

Bucknell and Georgia Tech should have little difficulty with Albright and Thiel. Bethany should not give Colgate much of a try-out. In view of the team's excellent showing against Middlebury, I look to see Columbia run up a substantial score on Union.

Cornell has a powerful eleven, the strongest for several years. Dobe has some fine backs, Niagara shouldn't offer much opposition. Dartmouth will probably run up a big score against Bates. Harvard will find little difficulty with Vermont. The Franklin-Marshall and Catholic University game should be a close one. I favor F. and M. by a small score.

BEARS TAKE ON COUGARS TODAY

Schaldach, and Joe Hickinbotham, who is looking great.

New material was being poured into the second-string line today in the persons of Marcus Swinney and Sam Gill. The latter is another of the Gill family, now weighing 180 pounds. He played end for the freshmen last year, and is being tried as a guard on the varsity. Swinney is an all-around athlete, best remembered for the performances in his freshman year, wherein he competed for interclass championships in both light-heavyweight wrestling and boxing. Swinney, Gill and Bob Pasco, also a first-string freshman last season, will have to take up the burden in case of many more first-string injuries. Price is still without the services of three tackles, Delph Timmerman, Malcolm Coombs and Seldon Del Georgio, all valuable men.

BEARS FAVORED

As for the line which will probably start tomorrow against Coach Babe Hollingbery's Cougars, it will no doubt consist of the following well-known veterans: Russ Avery and Togo Thornton, ends; Albert Cahn and Nick Bican, tackles; Capt. Carl Handy and Ted Beckett, guards; Herman Eickmeyer, center.

Price is prepared for a full afternoon of defense against the smashing drives of Elmer Schwarz, fullback, and the fleet feet of Porter Lainhart. "Brick" Mitchell, who scouted the Staters in their game against Idaho College last Saturday, looks for a hot time. The Bears, however, will go on the field favorites to win by one or two touchdowns.

REDS BATTLE BLUES IN UPLIFTER CLASH

Line-ups for the polo game at the Uplifters' Field tomorrow afternoon have been changed due to Will Rogers's absence from the city and, instead of the scheduled Cowboys vs. Uplifters game, the Reds will battle it out with the Blues.

The SPORT LIGHT by Grantland Rice

Cardinals desperate hope luck will turn.

Hallahan-Haines yet to be heard from—

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Oct. 3.—The faint, lingering hope of the Cardinals as they start their home stand of three games is the belief that the terrific ride beating against the National League since 1926 can't last forever. Here is a rival major league with about the same talent and it has won exactly one ball game in the last fifteen starts through 1927, 1928, 1929 and 1930.

Cardinal supporters figure that a hostile surf of this destructive force is sure to rebound and start moving in the other direction with the same heavy sweep. The law of averages is due to swing about, but there are occasions when the law of averages takes its cock-eyed time before permitting the underdog to get back on his feet.

NOT HOPELESS

The Cardinals returned home in a despondent, but not hopeless fix. Only one team in the long history of the world series base dropped the first two games and than came back to win. That was the Giants in 1921. So Old Man Percentage is running against the Cardinals on all eight cylinders, and it will take something of a miracle to beat this Athletic team four out of five with Grove and Earnshaw ready to work as Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx linger around the home plate with their war clubs adjusted.

If St. Louis has any pitchers who are to stop this trio they must be supplied with rifles or hand grenades. No one else has stopped them for the last two years when there was anything important at stake.

Hallahan and Haines may make a better job of it, as both are first-class pitchers, but it is a mean problem for any club to face, especially a club that needs four of five to win down the stretch.

Mack is now in position to give Grove and Earnshaw, his two aces, a four-day rest and that is all they need to be fresh and ready for work. Grove will show more stuff his next time out, but Earnshaw will have a hard time duplicating it on Thursday's game, where he was at his best. The three cannoneers of the Athletics, the delegation bunched to drive in the runs, has outhit the same trio of the Cardinals by four to one. Athletic pitchers have spiked most of the Cardinal artillery, while Gabby Street has been able to pick no pitchers good enough to check Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx. It remains to be seen how much the Cardinals will improve on their home field. They looked to be a good ball club on Wednesday in the first game, and a poor club on Thursday in the second.

They can play better ball than they have shown so far in almost every department. They should get better pitching from Hallahan and Haines, and they are about due to pick up a few more runs with Jim Bottomley lifted from his slump. Bottomley's failure to hit has been a depressing factor, but they can't keep the big first baseman muzzled forever. He is too good a ball player to be tied up all through a series.

HALLAHAN GOOD

All that one can do now is to dig up the remains of the Cardinal hopes, which were almost buried in Philadelphia. They have a better chance to get started in the third game than they had in the first two contests. Hallahan is a hard man to hit when his control is working and he is also a first-class man in a crucial spot, something he has shown more than once. Hornsby says he has fully as much speed as Grove and he will have more speed than the Grove of Wednesday. A high-class left-hander has a better chance of stopping the Athletic attack than anyone else. Certainly the right-handers have had a tough time of it so far, with the boundbarment working overtime in the way of extra bases. When the Athletics don't get something as good as a triple they throw it back.

The Cardinals are in sad need of a psychological change. They looked depressed and futile Thursday when Cochrane, Simmons and Foxx began taking aim for the second time at the right-field wall.

They looked as if they were up against some fate beyond their control. A victory on Saturday, if they can pull one out, might get them started again as they started last August from a long way behind to hustle along to the top. There is something at least in the fact that they have proved their ability to come from behind before.

ATHLETICS SEEK CARDS' SCALP

ling staff, probably Will Shores, a strong young right-hander; possibly George (Swede) Walberg, a fast left-hander. Eddie Rommel, Lefty Roy Mahaffey and even Old Jack Quinn are possibilities, if Mack starts casting about on the day of battle for a surprise choice, but the odds are strongly in favor of Shores or Walberg.

Under this plan of strategy, Mack will start Grove again Sunday and nominate Earnshaw for Monday's game, if the series is still on.

The A's expect to face Wild Bill Hallahan in the third game. Hallahan has been Manager Gabby Street's selection right along and it is altogether possible the speedball left-hander may be the man to turn the tide of Cardinal fortunes, at low ebb as they went away from Philadelphia last night. He has a world of fast stuff.

The world's champions have combed the offerings of two seasoned right-handers, Burleigh Grimes and Flint Rhem, with a long-range barrage that has been extremely effective. The A's made only twelve hits off these two flingers but they made them count for eleven runs.

The A's have no fear of Hallahan, least of all their truculent backstop, Cochrane, who has been a special target of Cardinal "jockeying" and so far has been "dusted off" at the plate by both Grimes and Rhem.

"Let 'em keep trying that 'snozzle ball' on me," remarked Cochrane. "And I'll belt a few more out of the park." Mickey has hit a homer in each game.

This is the first world's series appearance of the A's in St. Louis but they will be on familiar ground at Sportsman's Park, where they play their regular season games. The field has been a happy hunting ground for American Leaguers in previous world's series battles. The Yankees, in their two visits won two out of three here in 1926 and two straight in 1928.

The Cardinals made a great recovery to win the last National League victory in 1926 and they hope to stage another comeback, even though the odds are all against them. They must take four out of five games to capture the series. In twenty-eight years, only two other teams have done so, the Boston Red Sox of 1903 and the New York Giants of 1921, both doing so, however, in an eight-game series.

MAY WILL BE BACK IN SPECIAL AGAIN

Walt May, local auto racing pilot who was injured when his Padre Special lost a wheel, hit the upper guard rail on the south turn and overturned during the course of the forty-lap sweepstakes at the Legion Ascot Speedway Wednesday night, will be back behind the wheel within two weeks, it was stated by his friends yesterday. Physicians said that May was badly stunned and scratched in the smash-up, but otherwise was not seriously hurt. It was feared that he had sustained a fractured shoulder. With another big program of races on schedule for this coming Wednesday, two new stars, "Swede" Smith of Portland and Sam Hoffman of Sioux City, are expected to play an important part in the annexing of prize money. Both of the drivers leaped into prominence on the racing card Wednesday night.

Today's victory put the Cubs out in front two games to one in the series.

Bud Taylor to Box Soon at Olympic

Bud Taylor will box at the Olympic early in November. The Terre Haute featherweight was signed yesterday. He is already en route to Seattle, where he will box before coming to Los Angeles.

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams hopes to line-up Fidel La Barbara or Earl Mastro for Taylor. La Barba is heading east in quest of Kid Chocolate but would return for a top match.

The club has double wind-ups slated for the next two weeks and expects to develop new cards. Al Fay, heavyweight prospect of Jack Kearns, breaks in against Les Kennedy and Paulie Walker, Bill Duffy's fighter, starts against Sammy Aguirre.

Fay was turned loose yesterday at the Main-street gymnasium for the first time. He gave a great exhibition of punching against Dynamite Jackson and Neal Clisby, two very good negro heavyweights. Jackson holds a decision over Kennedy.

Walker figures to best Aguirre in the other ten. The Trenton Italian whipped such men as Joe Dundee, Sammy Baker and Myer Grace not long ago. Aguirre is a Mexican puncher, claiming forty kayoes in sixty fights. His last win was over Bobby La Salle.

The supporting card is: Henry Rollins vs. Tommy Huffman, six rounds; Chalky Wright vs. Sergio Radam, six rounds; Johnny Previs vs. Frankie Boldt.

TIGERS SCRIMMAGE FOR POET CONTEST

Coach Eddie Kienholz's Occidental varsity held scrimmage last night in preparation for its opening southern conference game with Whittier next Friday night in the Rose Bowl. One more such session is slated for next week, the balance of the practice periods being dedicated to drill in fundamentals of play. The Tiger mentors are faced with the problem of drawing reserves from a squad made up chiefly of green material. For this reason the usual heavier practice diet will be avoided.

FRISCH FIGURES CARDS FOR WIN

St. Louis Boasts Ability to Come From Behind

BY FRANKIE FRISCH
Second Baseman of the Cardinals
(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3.—One of the Cardinals' strong points during the regular season was their ability to come from behind. In fact, during the late drive to the pennant, the team played better baseball when it had to overtake the other fellow than when it held a lead. Now, a similar condition prevails and I believe we will make an uphill fight to the world's championship.

FRANKIE FRISCH

It is true that few teams have won the championship after losing the first two games of the series, but we were compelled to overcome greater odds to win the National League pennant. They had us counted out of the league running when we were twelve games from first place on August 9—but we came through.

We're simply a little bit slow getting started. However, we'll get going. I'm sure of that, as soon as we resume the struggle against the Athletics in our own ball park Saturday. Naturally, we feel hurt over our failure to win at least one of the two games in Philadelphia, but we're not down. We're rarin' now for revenge.

There are two principal factors in a ball game, pitching and hitting, and usually, in a series of this caliber, a team must get good pitching and hitting simultaneously to win. So far, the Athletics have combined these two essentials in each game, although they required the breaks to help them through the opener.

Manager Street tells me he's going to pitch Bill Hallahan in the third game of the series in St. Louis. Hallahan, you remember, was the pitcher who started us off on the right foot in that Brooklyn series several weeks ago. He pitched remarkable baseball that day against a team of sluggers and I look for him to pitch sensationally tomorrow.

I don't know which of the Philadelphia pitchers Connie Mack intends sending against us. He may come back with Grove and attempt to beat us in the series, using only his two aces, Grove and Earnshaw, but I am confident that, regardless of the pitching Mack sends against us, we'll find the range and start hitting in our natural stride to turn this series in our favor.

San Francisco Double Winner

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 3. (AP)—The San Francisco Seals, beaten in three preceding games by the Seattle Indians, snapped out of their slump today to win twice in a double-header here, 4 to 2, and 9 to 4. Douglas, Seal pitcher, helped win his own game in the opener with a home run in the seventh-inning two-run rally that broke a 2-2 tie and sent Ena Kuns, Seattle pitcher, to the showers. Hanson finished the game for the Indians. Seattle had nullified the Seals' two runs in the first inning by scoring twice in the third off two hits.

Zinn was given strong support by the Seal batters in the second game when they pounded out twelve hits for nine runs in seven innings off Pitchers Lamanski and House. The game ended then by agreement. The Seals made three runs in the seventh after they already had a 6-to-4 lead.

Two home runs by Oana and two triples by Hunt helped the Seals win the second game. Scores:

MAPLE LEAFS TO BATTLE MONARCHS

A newly organized ice hockey sextet, the Maple Leafs, will make its appearance at the Palais De Glace Monday night in a contest with Buster Smith's Hollywood Monarchs. With several stars of last year's senior league forming the nucleus of the team, the Maple Leafs are expected to prove one of the strongest outfits in the local circuit this season.

LOYOLA MEETS PACIFIC

Tom Lieb's Lion Outfit Makes Debut at Wrigley Field Against Swede Righter's Team

Just what Loyola University's new football coach, Tom Lieb, will be able to do with the pigskin situation at the Del Rey institution will be found out this afternoon when the Lion mentor sends his eleven against the charges of the College of Pacific team at Wrigley Field. The game, which is scheduled to start at 2:45, will mark the debut of Tom Lieb in Southern California.

During the past four years Loyola has had four coaches in their desperate effort to win recognition in the athletic circles. Lieb was obtained from Notre Dame last spring, showing a splendid record, and the officials at the Lion institution are strong in their belief that he will put the Lions on the map within a few years.

The new Loyola coach starts his career with one of the lightest elevens the school has ever had. He has had one worry after another in developing the Del Rey eleven and just what it will be able to do under fire remains a mystery. He has no reserve material at all and a few of his "first-stringers" will be playing their first varsity game today.

On the other hand Coach "Swede" Righter of Pacific brings a veteran squad to Los Angeles. Only three men are missing from last year's team which trounced the Lions by a 16-to-7 score at Stockton.

Last Saturday Pacific opened its season against Modesto Junior College and won by a 25-to-0 score. In this game they uncovered a new star in Bill Hamilton, who romped all over the opposition to score three of the five touchdowns.

The line-up is as follows:

37 Francis	L.E.	McEachen 31
68 Stocking	L.T.	Lauerman 44

OIL UNIT PLANS TO REORGANIZE

Midway Northern Seeks to Widen Activities

New Concern Formed With $250,000 Capital

Old Stock to Be Turned in on One to 100 Basis

Initial steps in a plan to build the Midway Northern Oil Company into a major California producer, the expansion of which involves the formation of a new organization and the issuance of additional stock to provide for its development, were outlined yesterday in a letter to stockholders.

A new company has been set up under the laws of California to be known as the Midway Oil and Royalty Corporation. This unit has been formed with an initial authorized capital of $250,000 to succeed the Midway Northern, incorporated under the laws of Arizona.

Stock of the new company is of $10 par value and stockholders of the Midway Northern have been asked to deposit their shares for stock of the new unit on an exchange basis of 100 shares of Midway Northern for one Midway Oil and Royalty. The Midway Northern stock is of $1 par value and there are 940,000 shares outstanding.

Upon transfer of the stock the company plans to issue and sell the balance of the authorized issue to provide funds for the purchase of additional properties. On the basis of exchange the company will have a balance of 15,600 shares available for this purpose.

Granting of rights to stockholders in the sale of the new stock has not yet been determined, officials of the company stated. It is understood that this matter will have to be laid before the Corporation Commissioner. Officials hope, however, to proceed with the sale of the additional stock as soon as possible after the exchange for stock of the old company has been completed. The new issue has not yet been underwritten.

The word royalty has been inserted in the corporate name in the event that the company might ultimately decide to deal in this phase of the petroleum industry.

The present company ranks among the older California producers having been organized in 1910. In 1926, it sold its 160-acre Midway field lease for $1,300,000 and in 1926 sold sixty acres at Maricopa to Union Oil Company of California. Dividends of varying amounts were paid up to 1927. Operations since that time have not been expanded and the small current production of the company has been maintained only to cover all corporate and operating expenses.

Stock of the company is listed on the Los Angeles and San Francisco Curb exchanges. It is the intention of the management to eventually apply for listing on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange, the par value of the new company's stock having been placed at $10 per share with this end in view.

Implement Unit Outlook Bright

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (Exclusive)—S. H. Hale, chairman of Gleaner Combine Harvester Corporation, in a letter to stockholders with the annual report, said that the net income of $1,422,046, or $3.55 a share, for the year ended August 31, last, practically all accrued from the sale of wheat combines and was after deduction of expenses of the introductory work on the corn combines. He added that the latter machines give promise of earning greater profits for the company than the wheat combines.

"We have not raised our dividend rate, but we hope to be able to at some future date and we do not see any reasons at this time why we cannot do it and still lay aside 50 per cent of our earnings to surplus," Mr. Hale said.

Little Change in Trade Tone Noted by Dun's

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (AP)—Dun's Review tomorrow will say:

The final quarter of an unsettled year begins with widespread and vigorous commercial revival still deferred, although not without some indications of seasonal gain. There now is, as might be expected after rather a protracted period of uncertainty, much sensitiveness to the conflicting forces in operation, and the extensive scope and diversity of these factors accentuates their influence.

An equilibrium in commodity prices is yet to be reached, particularly in the great agricultural staples. Securities markets have continued to lack stability, and sentiment has remained confused. Those are among the major elements acting as barriers to business progress, but they are familiar phases in times of readjustment. The point has been frequently stressed that economic recuperation was not likely to come otherwise than slowly and unevenly, and the present absence of a broad advance is not surprising.

More than the ordinary fluctuation in the volume of trade appears in individual lines from week to week, giving the composite situation a highly irregular aspect, and there is no general upward trend in the various statistical barometers. There is, however, a naturally improved status in the retail field under the stimulus of autumn requirements.

Weekly bank clearings $11,324,475,000, a decrease of 29.0 per cent from a year ago.

RICHFIELD STATUS BETTER

Bondholders, Stockholders and Creditors Protected by Valuable Assets; Banks Give Support

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Omission of the cash dividend on Richfield Oil common was well received yesterday in financial circles as a constructive step that will materially aid in restoring the company's financial position. Conservation of about $4,000,000 annually in cash will result.

As a further move for retrenchment, it is understood the next dividend on the preferred stock will likely be passed, saving the company an additional $750,000 annually. The next dividend will come up for consideration in December and is payable to stock of record January 3 at the rate of $1.75 annually.

HURT BY MARKET

Directors voted the previous dividend on the common and the November 1 payment on the preferred in expectation of arranging for new financing through the sale of common stock. Favored with at least stable stock market prices this plan would probably have succeeded, but it was Richfield's misfortune to run into the current bear raid on stock prices.

Bankers in Los Angeles associated with the Richfield financing are confident the company will soon work out of its temporary difficulties. The bondholders, the stockholders and the creditors, according to this information, are fully protected by a comfortable margin of valuable assets and an earning power sufficient to meet current operating requirements. No trouble is anticipated in meeting interest payments on the funded debt.

Approximately $10,350,000 has been advanced by the company's Los Angeles bankers on short-time notes, and it is understood the loans will be renewed when they expire early this month. The remaining $10,000,000 of current liabilities will be met, it is expected, from profits on current operations.

No change in the Richfield management is anticipated unless the Richfield directors themselves elect to take such steps. The only suggestion made, it is understood, has related to the possibility of a new operating president. The wisdom of this step will be decided by the Richfield board.

EXPANSION ILL-TIMED

Richfield's troubles are traceable to expansion coming just before an unfortunate turn in the industry for which the company was not fully prepared. The establishment of the eastern marketing subsidiary, Richfield of New York, might have worked out successfully if the Standard Oil-Shell Union gasoline war had not broken out shortly afterward. To set up this eastern company required the allocation of a substantial sum from the California company's current assets which was invested in fixed assets for the subsidiary.

Weakening of Richfield's current position left the company vulnerable when gasoline and crude oil prices in California were forced out of line by price-cutting and overproduction. Unfavorable conditions in the financial markets also interfered with plans for financing to replenish working capital with which to meet the emergency.

Against total assets, as disclosed in the June 30 balance sheet, of approximately $142,000,000, Richfield's obligations only amount to $55,000,000. Of this amount $35,000,000 is funded debt and $20,000,000 current liabilities. Half of the current liabilities is in the form of bank loans, which, it is understood, will be renewed.

Aside from improving conditions through the recent readjustment of gasoline and crude oil prices, the Richfield company stands to benefit from its discovery the other day in its Belridge well of what may develop as the extension of the Kettleman Hills field. The successful completion of the Belridge well will prove up about 500 acres for Richfield, it is reported, and will also place its 12,000 acres of fee land in Lost Hills on the line of the Kettleman extension.

Refinancing plans are understood to involve the sale of a block of unissued common stock sufficient to provide several million dollars of working capital.

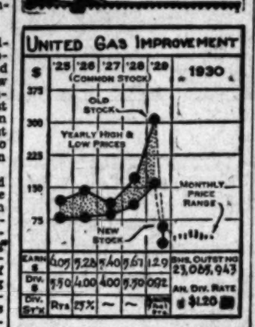
WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



UNITED GAS IMPROVEMENT

The chief operating territory of the properties controlled by United Gas Improvement is the metropolitan area surrounding and including the city of Philadelphia, but another important group of operating utilities in which the company has a majority interest are located in Connecticut. Most substantial of these investments are holdings in the Midland United Company, American Superpower, Niagara Hudson Power, and Public Service Corporation of New Jersey.

After displaying a notably steady increase in earning power over the past few years, United Gas Improvement is able to report further improvement in the first six months of 1930 with net income up about 20 per cent from the 1929 period, 83 cents per share being earned in 1930 and 76 cents in 1929.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded debt, $245,570,419; $5 cumulative preferred stock (no par), 515,216 shares; and common stock (no par), 23,005,943 shares.

EARNINGS OF PACIFIC BELL GAIN

Gross of $9,046,600 in August Reported Up 4 Per Cent Over Last Year

Total operating revenues of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company for the month of August amounted to $9,046,600, the company reported yesterday, an increase of 4 per cent over the same month of last year. Operating revenues in the previous month of July this year were $9,041,724.

Gross earnings for the first eight months of the year were also higher, the telephone company reported, indicating a slight improvement over last year in volume of business. Eight months' gross totaled $70,443,440, a gain of .5 per cent over the $66,866,489 reported in the same period of 1929.

Net income after interest for August of this year amounted to $1,625,012, a decrease of $17,314 from the same month of last year. Undivided profits for the first eight months after the deduction of interest and dividends totaled $1,048,513, a drop of $1,709,022 from the corresponding period of 1929.

Trade Activity Shows Increase for September

Despite a slackening during the last week, business activity in September was fairly good compared with the three preceding months, trades reporting that in the first fifteen days sales had exceeded the full month of August, according to the Bradstreet summary on local business issued yesterday.

Although the manufacturer, jobber and retailer are far behind last year in sales to date, September has been encouraging and if the last three months continue to hold the September gains the year will show a small profit or break even, whereas a loss was expected, the summary stated.

Motion-picture studios still remain idle and this affects a large number of employees not only in this line but in allied lines. The Chamber of Commerce with other agencies is starting an active campaign to revive building and help the employment situation.

Tin Plate Price Reduction Due to Aid Canners

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (Exclusive) Steel interests and consumers of tin plate were not surprised by the reduction of 25 cents a base box announced on tin plate as this product has held steadily throughout the current year, while other steel articles have been showing a declining tendency because of competition for business.

The reduction in price at this time is natural and has come just before negotiations are started by can makers for their 1931 tonnages of tin plate. When the can companies begin figuring their probable requirements for next year, negotiations will start with the market price at $5 a base box, whereas last year at this time the quotation was $5.25. Because of the large amounts taken, few of the larger consumers of tin plate actually pay the going market quotation.

A favorable factor for the can companies in this latest reduction in tin-plate prices is that it will give them a better basis for competition with other classes of containers for business.

CHEMICAL CONCERN TO CALL BOND ISSUE

BOSTON, Oct. 3. — Following a meeting of the directors of American Agricultural Chemical Company today, it was announced that not less than $1,000,000 of the company's first refunding mortgage 7 1-2 per cent gold bonds would be called for February 1, 1931, at 102 1-2. The amount outstanding on August 1, last, was $8,390,000, of which $223,500 was owned by the company and held in anticipation of sinking-fund requirements.

Japan likewise is showing a lively interest in Pickwick coaches, Charles F. Wren, president of Pickwick Corporation, said. A delegation of Japanese engineers and transportation experts recently inspected the company's plant.

GERMAN ILLS IN NUTSHELL

Former Reichsbank Head Says Poverty and Bad Conditions Produce Hitlers

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—"Watch our economic, not our political, situation and you will see the key to our future," said Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, 53 years of age, former head of the German Reichsbank, upon his arrival in New York for an eight weeks' visit. "It's poverty and bad conditions which make more Hitlers."

It was this German banker who took charge of German finances in 1923, when 133 government printing offices, equipped with 1783 presses, were turning out money by the bale. He changed that situation immediately, and came to be known as a "man of iron." Dr. Schacht speaks in a direct pleasant manner, without frills.

"You must not think that if you treat a people for ten years as the German people have been treated, they will continue to smile. How would you like to be kept in jail for ten years? Everyone suggests that the Germans must be reasonable. But how about the world itself? Should it not be reasonable, too?"

No one who interviews Dr. Schacht can fail to see that he believes the burdens now resting upon Germany are far too heavy for her to carry indefinitely. Her financial burden will have to be greatly lightened before Europe can put her financial house in order.

Dr. Schacht's views will be widely commented upon in the United States during the next eight weeks. They will open the eyes of many people to what the real conditions are within Germany.

France is a practical nation. Her people may be emotional, but when it comes to business in which they are vitally interested, they see facts very clearly and act upon them.

Witness the French government's energetic action yesterday in banning imports from soviet Russia to protect her home market.

France says to Russia in substance this: If you wish to sell sugar, wool, wood, gelatines, eggs, meats, wheat and rubber in France, you must buy from us an equal amount of goods to be sent to Russia to square our buying account with you. We will do business with you on no other basis.

It looks as though France has started something which will develop into a major problem of international business before 1930 is over.

New Richfield Issue Due for Trading Today

Governors of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange approved yesterday the listing of 2,791,735 shares of Richfield Oil Company of California new no-par stock to supplant the $25 par-value stock formerly outstanding. The new stock will be traded today.

An additional listing of 100,000 shares, which the Richfield board is authorized to issue and sell at not less than $17 a share net to the company within ninety days, was also approved. This is in lieu of an application made last March to list 100,000 shares of the $25 par-value stock which the company planned to sell at not less than par.

Governors also approved the listing of 3860 additional common shares of Commercial Discount Corporation. This stock is the amount distributed as a 5 per cent stock dividend September 20, last.

Profits of Sun Realty Building Units Reported

Sun office buildings, which include Consolidated Realty Building, Chester Williams Building and the Roosevelt Buildirig of Los Angeles, reported yesterday net income for 1929 of $704,783, or 2.44 times bond interest charges. Gross income totaled $1,339,863 and expenses, $635,078.

A $5,250,000 first-mortgage bond issue was offered in May, 1928, as a direct obligation of the Sun Realty Company with the three buildings pledged as security. The company retired $100,000 of the issue last May and maturities increase annually to a maximum of $255,000 in 1947, leaving a balance of $2,095,000 to be retired in 1948.

An appraisal of the three properities was made recently by a Los Angeles appraiser who estimated their current value at $11,804,944.

TRADING ON WOOL MART MODERATE

Review Reports Prices Firm With Finer Grades Leading Demand

BOSTON, Oct. 3. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say of the wool market tomorrow:

There has been only a moderate business this week with prices holding barely steady in the face of a piece goods market which is developing very slowly and which has been interrupted by the Jewish holiday season, and in consequence of the easier tone in the foreign markets for wool. Demand has favored the finer qualities again this week.

Further openings of fancy woolen and worsted goods have been made this week at prices apparently on about the same level which was noted a week ago. Buyers still are playing a waiting game.

The foreign markets are all easier this week, fine wools in London being mostly 5 per cent down from the opening.

Mohair is slow and nominal in price.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, last, to the 2nd inst., inclusive, were 104,581,500 pounds, against 135,741,000 pounds for the same period last year. SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3. (AP)—General market stability, such as professional operators have looked for to indicate the foundation of the next broad advance in stock prices, appeared on the stock exchange today. Prices pointed moderately higher, while sales quieted. Utilities and oils were strong. Sales totaled 34,973 shares at $760,600.

Short-covering remained an important influence, especially for Richfield Oil, which took the announcement of the passing of the common stock dividend without weakening, and in the afternoon put on a spurt that carried the price up 1¼ to 10½, while the preferred jumped 3½ to 13½.

Eight of the nine active oils made gains, North American gained a point.

Six utilities closed with advances against two losses, they being preferred issues reaching after recent gains. Pacific Telephone and Pacific Lighting gained a point or more.

Industrials were fractionally higher, though the group showed two issues taking 8-point losses. General Paint A was one, hitting a new low at 8, and losing more than half its quoted value. Schlesinger preferred was the other, its new low being 38. Hawaiian Pineapple dipped to a new bottom at 47½, down 1½.

Investment issues showed the effects of the recent market decline. North American preferreds lost a point each. Trans-America was up a fraction.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Oct. 3. (AP)—The appearance of several large pieces of new financing had a moderating influence upon the bond market today. While the volume of business was fairly large there was no noticeable slackening in the rate at which bonds moved forward and many issues held slightly under their best prices of the year.

The quietude was attributed to the public sale of approximately $30,000,000 worth of bonds of American corporations, the largest portion being offered by utilities. The list of bonds at new highs for the year was rather slim. It included American Telephone debenture 5s. Atchison stamped 4s, and Chicago & Northwestern general 3½s.

Good buying developed for Chile Copper 5s. Houston Oil 5½s, and North American Edison 5r A.

The industrials harbored several weak spots, liquidation continuing in some oil, sugar and rubber company issues. Cuba Cane Sugar 7½s slumped nearly 3. B. F. Goodrich 6½s slid 2 to 4, new 1936 low. U. S. Rubber 5s sold off 2 points. Shell Union 5s of 1947 reached a new year's bottom on a decline of more than a point. Richfield 6s recovered 2 points from its minimum.

Argentine 6s of June 1959 soared 3¼ points, and Bolivian 8s 2 points.

United States government issues maintained their upward trend on a reduced turnover. Liberty 4¼s, equalled their high of the year at 101 7-22nds.

If last price omitted, low and last are same. If low and last are omitted, high, low and last are same.

JUNE PARKER INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Radio Singer May Lose Hearing as Result of Shock in Collision

June Parker, radio entertainer, may lose her hearing as a result of an automobile accident, it was learned yesterday. Miss Parker, who formerly sang over KHJ, is in the Good Samaritan Hospital with serious injuries. She was hurt in North Hollywood Thursday night.

As a result of being hurled from the front seat of the car in which she was riding, Miss Parker's eardrums are believed to have been ruptured, but it will not be definitely determined for at least three days whether her hearing will be impaired. She also sustained a broken collar bone and numerous cuts and bruises. It was first thought she had a fractured skull, but X-rays disclosed no serious injuries to her head.

Miss Parker was riding in a car driven by William Bloecher, Hollywood publicity man, when it was struck by a machine driven by W. R. Price of Glendale. Bloecher, too, was thrown from the machine, which turned over. He suffered cuts on the head and body. Dr. William Branch is attending both Miss Parker and Bloecher.

SCOTT BACK FROM TOUR OF COUNTRY

Chief of Fire Department Turns Attention to Plans for Prevention Week

Fire Chief Scott returned to Los Angeles last night, terminating an extended tour of the country in the interest of fire prevention, and bringing with him the title of president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs conferred at the fifty-eighth annual convention held last month at Winnipeg, Man. He turned his attention at once to the department's plans for observance of National Fire-Prevention Week, which begins tomorrow.

"All over the country," he said, "the careless smoker causes the greatest number of fires. In Los Angeles he is far in the lead. Statistics show 80 per cent of fires are preventable—therefore caused by carelessness.

"The people are asked to give special attention next week to the elimination of recognized fire risks. This they can accomplish by properly disposing of combustible rubbish, much of which collects around the average home. If all Los Angeles citizens will do their part this city's proportion of the national fire loss will be greatly reduced."

PARKING BAN PROJECTED

The City Council yesterday instructed the City Attorney to draft amendments to the traffic ordinance prohibiting parking on the north side of Fifth street between Los Angeles street and Maple avenue and in Los Angeles street between Fifth and Winston streets.

MARRIAGE CLUB ASSESSES CUPID

State Corporation Bureau Launches Inquiry

Members Enticed by Lure of Cash Wedding Gift

Surest Thing About It Said to Be Promoters' Profit

Romance came within the purview of the State Corporation Department yesterday in connection with reports of operations of a company formed for the purpose of organizing "marriage clubs," with headquarters in Los Angeles.

"The question to be determined is whether the contracts issued by these companies are securities and are under the jurisdiction of the Division of Corporations, or some other State division, or are to be permitted to operate without any supervision," said Capt. Arthur H. Garland, State Corporation Commissioner.

Commissioner Garland explained that the plan usually followed by these companies is to organize clubs of 1000 members each. The certificate given to each member provides for an initiation fee of $15, dues of $4 a year and an assessment of $1.25 on the marriage of each member. If a member marries, the commissioner explained, the other members are assessed and the amount received by the married person depends upon the number of members in the club.

"Twenty-five cents of each assessment, according to the commissioner, is retained by the promoters. Initiation fees and dues also go to the promoters, he said.

"So far as our study of the plan has progressed," Garland commented, "it would indicate a scheme to enrich the promoters."

Persons who married within three months would receive $250; those who married after six months would get $500, and those who married after nine months would get $750. The commissioner said an analysis showed that if every member retained his or her membership, 183 out of the first 250 members would come out ahead or even, 136 out of the second 250, eighty-six out of the third 250 and twenty-five out of the fourth 250.

BITTINGER'S $5000 BAIL CANCELED

Financier Remanded to Sheriff's Custody and Trial to Resume 14th Inst.

George E. Bittinger, financier who recently shot himself while on trial charged with grand theft, yesterday was remanded to the Sheriff's custody, Superior Judge Hahn exonerating the $5000 bail on which he had been at liberty. With his head swathed in a bandage, Bittinger appeared in court when his bail was canceled. Despite his wound, the financier yesterday bore himself cheerily. His trial, interrupted by his suicide attempt, will resume the 14th inst.

Bittinger is charged with appropriating to his own use $9500 of companies' funds taken in his capacity of general manager of both the Mortgage Discount Company and Calivada Securities Company. On the second day of his trial he failed to appear in court and was found that evening in a room at the California Club. He had taken poison and then had fired a bullet behind his right ear. After being treated at a hospital, he was taken home.

Awards Given Against Officer

Damages for injures in a collision of two policemen's cars were awarded yesterday by a jury in Superior Judge Craig's court to James R. Bitney and Helen M. Neff. Judgments of $1233 for Bitney and $250 for Miss Neff were given against Frank A. Stone, a policeman.

The two plaintiffs were passengers in a car driven by Policeman Frank A. Stone. Each officer tried to show that the other was to blame for the crash which ensued when both tried to drive their private cars across the intersection of Eighth and Olive streets at the same time.

GLIDER CRASH KILLS YOUTH

Long Beach High School Boy Dies in Test Flight; Federal Inspectors See Tragedy

James Caruso, 19 years of age, yesterday sought to make a test flight in a glider before Department of Commerce inspectors, and plunged to his death from an altitude of 200 feet at Monterey Park Glider Field.

Caruso lived at 1700 Walnut avenue, Long Beach. With Lindbergh as his example of what a young man could do he applied himself vigorously to his ambition, but decided to specialize in glider flights.

He was a student at Brea High School in Long Beach, which owned the glider used in yesterday's fatal attempt. The plane had actually made 110 flights, and Caruso had piloted it seven times, but under Department of Commerce ruling it could not be licensed until after a test before inspectors.

With the written permission of three teachers of Brea school, young Caruso went to the field early yesterday afternoon. Several members of the Long Beach Glider Club, to which he belonged, were on hand to witness the test. What then happened is set forth in an official report made last night by Capt. Morgan of the Sheriff's aeronautical detail.

Catapulted from a hill on the field, after being drawn swiftly by an automobile, the plane rose easily but very soon thereafter the left aileron crumpled and the tubing of the fuselage collapsed. The glider sideslipped and went into a nose dive, crashing to the ground.

Caruso was still alive, and groaning when Harold Ellenberger and Ted Maccarati, both of Brea, reached him. They took him to Garfield Hospital, but he was dead when he arrived there. Dr. D. M. Reese found his neck had been broken, as

INSURANCE COSTS CUT BY COUNTY

Blanket Policy Taken Out on Automobile Drivers to Save $30,000 Annually

A saving of $30,000 was effected yesterday when the Board of Supervisors amended its rules ordinance so as to provide a blanket automobile insurance for employees who drive their own cars on county business.

Under the provisions of an ordinance adopted about a month ago, employees who drive their own automobiles while on county business, were required to take out liability insurance as individuals to protect the county in the event of accident. At the same time the Supervisors raised the amount paid to employees for mileage from 5½ to 6 cents a mile.

The board received complaints from employees who only occasionally drive their cars on county business that the premium for the insurance far exceeded the increase of one-half cent on mileage.

The revision not only provides for a blanket insurance policy but also sets the mileage fee back to 5½ cents.

MANUAL ARTS HOLDS FETE

High School Alumni, Faculty and Students Meet in Celebration on Twentieth Anniversary

Celebrating the twentieth anniversary of the founding of their alma mater, hundreds of Manual Arts High School alumni, students and faculty members met yesterday in an elaborate all-day program arranged by the Manual Arts Alumni Association.

Activities began at 1:30 p.m. in the auditorium when James Ayers, student-body president, introduced James Blewett, president of the alumni, and Dr. A. E. Wilson, principal. Greetings to the school were offered by Dr. E. C. Moore, director of the University of California at Los Angeles, Dr. Frank A. Bouelle, superintendent of schools; Arthur L. Gould, assistant superintendent, and Miss Katherine Carey, assistant superintendent and one of the first faculty members of Manual Arts.

SHOWS OLD SCENES

Former student body presidents spoke briefly. Slides of old scenes at Manual, presented by Goodwin Knight, graduate of '15, followed by musical numbers presented by the school orchestra, ended the afternoon meeting.

Tea for women members of the Alumni Club was served in the south gardens beginning at 3 p.m. and continuing throughout the afternoon.

Sport entertainment for the day was provided by a football game between Manual Arts and Long Beach high schools.

REUNION DINNER

Following a class reunion dinner served in the school cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. the evening program was held in the auditorium. Goodwin Knight, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced prominent alumni. Maude Howell, Bob Wagner, Earl Johnson, Judge Wilbur and Dr. Philip Reynolds gave brief addresses. Music and additional greetings from old graduates completed the auditorium program. Dancing in the boys' gymnasium for the remainder of the evening brought the day's festivities to a close.

GIRNAU PAYS $500 FINE IN FITTS CASE

Pamphleteer Denied New Trial on Charge of Libel Against District Attorney

Fred Girnau, political pamphleteer, yesterday paid a $500 fine imposed by Municipal Judge Pope following conviction by a jury on a charge of libeling Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

Judge Pope denied the motion for a new trial made by Girnau's attorney, Jacob Lieberman, and imposed the fine, with an alternative of twenty days in jail. A jury found Girnau guilty as a result of his publication of a story that Fitts was arrested while drunk in his automobile ten years ago. The article was based on information by Charles (Cholo) Johnson, former police officer, who was indicted by the grand jury for perjury as a result of his testimony at the Girnau trial.

Today's Final Chance for Registration

Beginning at 8 a.m. today only sixteen hours remain in which a person may register in order to be eligible to vote at the State general election November 4, next.

Those who have not registered since January 1, last, must register before midnight tonight to be entitled to vote. Persons who have changed their residence since registering must reregister to maintain their eligibility.

These instructions were issued yesterday by Registrar of Voters Kerr, who announced that as an accommodation his office at 230 North Broadway will be open until midnight. A deputy registrar will keep the same hours as the registrar's office at the Main-street entrance of the City Hall. In addition deputies are stationed on the streets in the downtown section of the city.

POLICE OFFICER WINS REVERSAL

Conviction of Sheffield in Bribe Case Voided

Prosecution and Judge Hit by Appellate Court

Defendant's Rights Said to Have Been Prejudiced

Stinging rebukes to both the prosecution and the trial court were administered by Division Two, District Court of Appeal, in a decision handed down yesterday reversing the conviction in Superior Court of Maceo A. Sheffield, colored, former police officer, on charges of having accepted "protection" money from underworld characters.

Sheffield was convicted on two of twenty-four counts filed against him, jointly with Roscoe E. Washington and Richmond Dunn. Washington and Dunn were acquitted. On the opening day of the trial, the prosecution moved to dismiss twelve counts involving extortion and all but six counts charging bribery.

JUDGE CRITICISED

In deciding for Sheffield, the Appellate Court declared:

"The attitude of the trial judge, Judge Emmet Wilson, so far as can be determined from the cold record, was one of seeming prejudice against the police department as a whole—against Chief Davis, called as a witness in behalf of the appellant and against appellant, a colored police officer. The record in this case shows a seeming desire on the part of the Deputy District Attorney and the trial court to convict the appellant at any cost, even to the violation of his constitutional rights to a fair and impartial trial.

"It is the duty of the District Attorney," the opinion continues, "not to obtain convictions, but to fully and fairly present to the court the evidence material to the charge upon which the defendant stands on trial and it is the solemn duty of the trial judge to see that the facts material to the charge are fairly presented and the constitutional guarantees of a defendant neither violated nor infringed. There is nothing that arouses the conscience of the American public so much as interference with or deprivation of constitutional guarantees."

ERRORS CHARGED

At another point, the opinion says:

"From an examination of the lengthy transcript of the prosecution in the lower court we are unable to determine whether appellant would or would not have been convicted but for the errors of the court and the misconduct set forth. Had the jury acquitted the appellant, the verdict would have found abundant support in the evidence. We are of the opinion that the errors complained of have resulted in a miscarriage of justice. It is quite likely that the conviction of the appellant was because of the errors and misconduct as shown by the record."

Sheffield's appeal set up that the trial court erred in its rulings during the progress of the trial and in giving and refusing to give certain instructions. The Appellate Court found that certain instructions should not have been given because no conspiracy was charged and the case was not tried on the theory that a conspiracy existed between the defendants. The instructions misled the jury, the Appellate Court holds.

It also was set forth on behalf of Sheffield, and the Appellate Court agreed, that the trial court should have instructed the jury that if the talesmen had reasonable doubts they should resolve the doubt in the favor of the defendant and presume the witness in question to be an accomplice.

DECISION QUOTED

In an examination of the cross-examination of character witnesses during the trial, the court observed that the trial court should never inject his personal views into a trial either directly or in the manner in which he asks questions.

At still another point in its decision, the upper tribunal, quoting an earlier decision, says that where the misconduct "is so pronounced and pernicious that it is not in human nature to forget or disregard its prejudicial effect, then manifestly a mere admonition or any number of admonitions will not suffice to right the wrong done and the only remedy remaining is to be found in a reversal of the judgment."

The decision was written by Justice Schmidt, pro tem, and concurred in by Presiding Justice Works and Justice Thompson.

The State was represented in the case by Deputy District Attorneys McKay and Dennison. The latter died several months ago.

THE movie king is on the throne again.

David Wark Griffith, after a period of the deepest humiliation and virtual failure in Hollywood, when it seemed that his banner was being dragged into the dust, has knocked both Chicago and New York kicking with a talkie version of "Abraham Lincoln." Critics pronounce it to be one of the finest things ever seen either on stage or screen.

I think that Griffith made a mistake—perhaps it would be better to say that he yielded to a vogue—in making several silly, meaningless pictures about little girl flappers and little boy flappers. This is not his stuff. At heart Griffith is somewhere midway between a great artist and an evangelist. He is at his highest when he is telling stories based on a fundamental idea of morals in which the good battles with the bad.

THE END OF NORTHCOTT

It did not surprise me that, in the end, the gay indifference of Northcott ended in tears, in screams for mercy and in collapse. It is usually the case with boys like Northcott and Hickman. They are gay because they are so frightened that they do not dare to admit to themselves how scared they are.

Between the two, Northcott was much worse than Hickman. I have talked with criminologists, psychologists, handwriting experts, even palmists and astrologers who studied the Hickman case. They all agree that Hickman was not what is called a natural criminal. He could have been a good boy—only he got sidetracked in the wrong direction—and had to keep on going.

Both boys were alike in this, that they had a grand time up to the moment when they had to be hanged.

HERE'S A BUGGY RIDE!

Here is a tip for a good buggy ride for today or tomorrow: The Indians at Pala are giving a big fiesta in celebration of one of their saints' days. There will be a rodeo, all kinds of Indian games and dances. On Sunday there will be a mass conducted in part out of doors, with a processional with the Indians carrying sacred banners, etc.

Everything centers around the little old mission, which is one of the most interesting and picturesque in California. It is just as it was in the days of the padres—a little church with log rafters, tile floors and quaint figures of saints made by the hands of the faithful neophytes.

To get to Pala you go from Los Angeles through Fullerton to Lake Elsinore to Temecula, turn off to the left and drive eleven miles into the lovely little valley of Pala.

GLORY BE!

Having read all the profound remarks made by great experts upon the financial situation I am left with the supreme conviction that no one knows what makes good or bad times. They just come. Wherefore let us rejoice dumbly and blindly in the fact that, somehow or other, things are getting a whole lot better in Los Angeles.

A FORGOTTEN MOUNTAIN

In drilling the oil wells at Venice they have strong indications that they have discovered a mountain dating back millions of years before time was. Its peak is buried under thousands of feet of earth. Many geologists believe that this old lost mountain was once an island that poked up from the waters of a forgotten sea.

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY

Not for years have retail prices of every-day commodities been as low as today. An average of the reduction in prices of food, clothing, household furnishings, building materials and the like shows that today's dollar is the equivalent in buying power of $1.25 a year ago, the effect of which is as though wages had actually been increased 25 per cent. Now is the time to stock up on needed nonperishables of every description. This is the sixth of a series of daily articles to appear in The Times on this subject.

GARDENING MATERIALS

Garden costs have a merited place in the Los Angeles household budget because the value of gardens as adornment and as an economic factor is well recognized here. A home surrounded with a garden is a more pleasant place in which to live and has a larger monetary value. Many dwellings find readier sale or rental because of the trees, flowers and grass surrounding them. Year-around gardening in Los Angeles is practically and highly satisfactory.

The cost of plants, shrubs, trees and vines here has been reduced more than 25 per cent from last year's prices. This means that 75 cents and even less will go as far toward puting in or restocking a garden here now as did $1 a year ago; that is, the Los Angeles dollar has a present purchasing power of $1.33, based on last year's prices of garden materials.

There also has been a marked decrease in the cost of landscaping and other garden construction work. Frequent sales of various garden implements, including hose, also afford the thrifty a 10 to 25 per cent price reduction for such equipment. There has been a 5 per cent reduction in the price of galvanized iron pipe such as is used in garden sprinkler systems and for other household use.

A reduction of 25 per cent in the cost of poultry feed is to the advantage of the many householders who raise poultry.

The reduced cost of general garden cultivation, replacement and feed this year correspondingly benefits the budgets of many residents living on small acreages in the metropolitan area and who obtain additional income from their garden and poultry products.

The foregoing figures are from California Association of Nurserymen, leading Los Angeles nurserymen and other business establishments, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

BARNES CITY CASE SETTLED

Supreme Court Ruling Fixes Community's Status as Part of Los Angeles

When the Supreme Court notified County Counsel Mattoon yesterday that Barnes City is a part of the city of Los Angeles, following the denial of a writ of mandate brought by residents of the community against County Auditor Payne, a controversy over the status of the asserted municipality of four years' standing gave signs of being settled for all time to come.

The community of Barnes City was incorporated as a city on February 13, 1926. Shortly after the incorporation residents who opposed the idea of the community becoming a city in its own right started quo warranto proceedings against the incorporation, asserting numerous technical defects in the proceedings.

While the case was pending in the courts, Barnes City and the city of Los Angeles started consolidation proceedings, with the result that the smaller city was declared consolidated with the larger one on April 11, 1927. After this the Su-

MYSTERY DEATH CAUSES INQUIRY

Man Hunted in Traffic Case Dies in Hospital

Notes Worth $3700 Missing; Coroner Begins Quiz

At the request of Chief Deputy Coroner Macdonald, the Sheriff's office last night launched an investigation of the death in mysterious circumstances early yesterday morning of Paul J. Guards, 35 years of age, for whom officers had been searching without success on a bench warrant issued by Superior Judge Wood.

Guards died in General Hospital, presumably of a fractured skull, but the absence of notes known to have been in his possession when he left home coupled with circumstances immediately preceding his death prompted the inquiry. It is believed possible he may have met with foul play.

MOVEMENTS TRACED

When Guards neglected to appear in Department Twenty-seven Thursday to enter his plea to a charge of failing to stop and render aid after an accident, Judge Wood issued a bench warrant for his arrest. Deputy Sheriff Kelley sought him all day in vain.

Continued search for Guards yesterday revealed that early Tuesday he had left the home of his father-in-law, J. F. Olmstead, at 1418 North New Hampshire street, where he had been living, and had taken with him several notes aggregating $3700, and a fountain pen belonging to his wife. From Olmstead's home he went to Glendale, where he recently sold out his interest in a business, and visited W. J. Leach and P. J. Rickenberg at the North Brand Garage, operated by them at 527 North Brand Boulevard. He remained there a short time, then left, leaving no clew to his destination.

About 5:30 p.m. Tuesday he reappeared at the garage. He was dirty and dishevled, and reeling like a drunken man, Leach told Deputy Sheriff Kelley. He appeared to have been in either a fight or an automobile accident.

FALLS ON FLOOR

After swaying a moment in the entrance Guards took a step toward his friends, they reported, but stumbled over a jack and fell face down on the cement floor, striking his forehead and being rendered unconscious. Leach removed him to his home at 329 East Glen Oaks Boulevard, Glendale, and summoned Dr. R. B. Hulse of Eagle Rock. The latter prescribed some medicine and Leach remained up all night ministering to the stricken man.

Thursday morning, the report states, Dr. Hulse returned and ordered Guards taken to the General Hospital, where he died at 2:45 a.m. yesterday. Hospital authorities say he had neither notes nor fountain pen in his possession when admitted.

Not satisfied with the report Guards died of a fractured skull, Chief Deputy Coroner Macdonald ordered Assistant Autopsy Surgeon Schaefer to perform a post-mortem and at the same time asked Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's homicide detail to start an investigation.

Within a year the school outgrew its space and in 1911 the present buildings on South Vermont avenue were provided. Now there are 3115 students registered and approximately 10,000 alumni, among whom are Lawrence Tibbett, grand opera baritone; Dist.-Atty. Fitts, Maude Howell, manager for George Arliss; Judge McComb of the Superior Court, Marquis Busby, writer; Betty Baskerville, artist; Helen Marlowe, tennis player.

Medical Man Taken by Death

Dr. Joseph B. Neuburger, 63 years of age, of 1234 West Fifty-sixth street, died at 2 p.m. yesterday in St. Erne Sanatorium of hardening of the arteries. He had been a practicing physician in Los Angeles since coming to this city from Brooklyn twelve years ago.

He leaves his widow, Carrie, a daughter, Dorothy, and a son, Herbert.

Funeral services will be conducted at 3 p.m. tomorrow in Glasband & Groman's chapel, 901 West Washington street.

FLYERS TO "TRY, TRY AGAIN"

Pride of Hollywood Makes Forced Landing in Truck Garden but Will Go Up Anew Today

The air-endurance plane Pride of Hollywood will take off again this morning from Grand Central Air Terminal on its fourth attempt to set a new world's record for sustained flight following a forced landing yesterday morning after it had been in the air sixty-six hours.

Loren Mendell, Pete Reinhart and Al, Dahlstrum came down in the ship in the center of a truck garden near Van Nuys, shortly after 11:30 a.m. yesterday when the motor stopped.

A canvas covering over the oil-cooling system on the nose of the craft worked loose and the propeller blast blew it over the air intake on the carburetor, cutting off the air supply to the engine.

Mendell was up forward at the controls at the time. The engine stopped at 1000 feet and he was successful in preventing a crash, but the plane ground looped as it rolled across the garden and a tire on a landing wheel was torn off.

Instead of sending for help, however, Mendell and his partners pulled the canvas off the intake, started the engine again and the pilot flew the Pride of Hollywood back to Grand Central. He made a safe landing at the port on the one good wheel. The trio wanted to take off again last night, but delayed their fourth attempt so a thorough check could be made of the plane and engine by mechanics. The Wright Whirlwind motor was found to be in perfect condition.

The plane ran out of gas on its first attempt to set a record of 1000 hours after nine hours in the air. The second time it was up twenty-seven hours before a tear in its wing fabric brought it down for repairs.

SEWAGE EXPERTS TO MEET

More Than 300 Sanitation Engineers Expected to Be at Long Beach Session

A large number of experts on sewage disposal will meet at Long Beach Wednesday for the third annual meeting of the California Sewage Works Association of which F. A. Batty of Los Angeles is president. The meeting will last two days and will be attended by more than 300 sanitation engineers from adjoining States. The sessions will be held at the Hotel Breakers.

One of the papers dealing with sludge and screenings will be read by A. P. Banta of the Los Angeles Sanitation District. While here the visitors will be taken on a visit to the Pasadena activated sludge plant and to other sewage plants.

The health officers' section of the League of California Municipalities, which open its annual conference Monday will attend meetings of the Sewage Works Association.

Bribery Charge Against Screen Writer Dropped

Bribery charges against Courtney Terrett, film writer, were dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Stafford on motion of Leonard Wilson, defense attorney, asserting insufficient evidence.

Police Officers Barner and Hammer testified they stopped Terrett's automobile at Western avenue and Wilshire Boulevard, after he failed to make a boulevard stop. He handed them $10 each, saying: "This ought to be enough to take care of it," they said.

Wilson argued that Terrett, who had been here only a short time before his arrest, was unfamiliar with traffic regulations and believed the officers could accept bail money for traffic offenses.

It is charged that an overstatement of deductions was made in the tax return, amounting to more than $15,000.

New Charges to Be Faced by Police Officer

Robbery charges against Guy O. Woolfe, police officer attached to the West Los Angeles division, who is accused of hijacking, were dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Russill at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing. Judge Russill ordered a special commitment prepared charging Woolfe with extortion and ordered him held for Superior Court trial for that offense.

Robbery charges against George Stanley and William Clark, jointly accused with Woolfe, also were ordered dismissed by Judge Russill at the request of S. S. Hahn, defense attorney. The trio, according to Darrell Moore, 239 North Ridgeway Drive, obtained $400 from him by posing as Federal officers. The court denied Hahn's request for a reduction in the $5000 bail set after Detective Lieutenant P. L. James testified that Woolfe, when arrested, asked for a chance to "bump himself off."

Restoration of Missions Given Hotel Men's Aid

The California Restoration Society, through C. James Lansing, secretary, yesterday announced cooperation in its drives for funds has been pledged by the State Hotel Men's Association. A special committee for this purpose has been appointed, comprising Charles B. Hamilton, Alexandria, chairman; Ben Frank, Ambassador, Los Angeles; Baron Long, U. S. Grant Hotel, San Diego; George D. Smith, Mark Hopkins Hotel, and Leon W. Huckins, Sir Francis Drake Hotel, San Francisco; Frank J. McCoy, Santa Maria Inn, Santa Maria, and William P. Jeffery, Hotel Jeffery, Salinas. The society's activities are dedicated to the restoration of California's missions.

A delegation representing the society left last night for Mission San Miguel, nine miles from Paso Robles, where its patron saint's feast day is to be observed tomorrow with a solemn high mass followed by a barbecue.

Hardy Leaves $240,000 to Kin

The will of Charles William Hardy, disposing of property worth $240,000, executed thirty years ago, was on file yesterday in probate court. The will was short, specifying only that the property be divided into equal parts, among the widow and four children.

These are Mrs. Minnie S. Hardy, and Pearlie M. Hardy of Los Angeles; Roy A. Hardy of Reno, Frank R. Hardy of Long Beach, and Charles M. Hardy, Jr., of Woodland.

BLOCKADE TRIPS SUSPECTED TRIO

Negroes Abandon Truck When They See Officers

Trail Leads to Bound and Gagged Watchman

Trap Then Nets Group After Firing of Shots

Capture of bandit suspects through operation of Chief Steckel's psychological blockade system was reported yesterday morning for the first time since the system was inaugurated two months ago to combat what the Chief termed an "emergency crime situation."

Three Negro youths were jailed on charges of robbery, burglary, assault with a deadly weapon and grand theft of an automobile as the climax to an investigation following their asserted effort to avoid driving through a blockade at Seventh street and Boyle avenue shortly after midnight.

TRAIL FOLLOWED

Police Sergeant Oefinger reported he saw the trio abandon an automobile truck and run between houses when they apparently became aware of the blockade just ahead. At this time all three escaped. Oefinger at once traced the license number of the truck and found the machine belonged to the Western Warehouse Transportation Company at 304 South Anderson street.

Leaving Officers Dean and Woods in hiding near the machine to await the possible return of the suspects when the blockade ended, Oefinger and another officer went to the office of the transportation company and there found the night watchman, W. Greer, bound and gagged.

Greer, according to Oefinger, told of being held up by three Negro bandits who, after leaving him tied helplessly, drove off with a truck.

At about the same time Greer was relating his experience the trio of suspects had returned to the abandoned truck in another car. Dean and Woods immediately stepped out of their hiding place with drawn guns and demanded the surrender of the three men.

TIRES SHOT OUT

The latter yelled profane defiance at the officers, they said, and started to drive away. Two bullets from Woods's revolver, puncturing two tires on the suspects' car, quickly halted the attempted escape and the trio gave up without resistance. They were taken to the Hollenbeck Heights Jail, where they gave the following names: Lucius Waters, 20 years of age, of 1020 South Alvarado street; Major Broyles, 20, of 1431 East Twenty-seventh street, and Wade Hampton, 21, of 1242½ East Adams street.

The truck abandoned by the suspects contained $7000 worth of cigarettes taken from the warehouse, Sergt. Oefinger reported.

"Hansel and Gretel" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" Scheduled for Tonight

The first week of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association's season in the Shrine Auditorium comes to a close tonight with the presentation of a double bill of "Hansel and Gretel" and "Cavalleria Rusticana." Humperdinck's popular "Fairy Opera" will be given first, for the benefit of children, and will start at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Karl Riedel of the Metropolitan, and Pietro Cimini, formerly of the Chicago Civic Opera, are to conduct the first and second operas, respectively.

Hope Hampton, former motion-picture star, makes her Los Angeles debut in "Manon" Monday night. The former screen favorite made her debut in Philadelphia in December, 1928, and has become internationally famous since that time. She will sing with Beniamino Gigli, Metropolitan tenor.

JAMESON GIVEN JUSTICE JOB

Supervisors Name Him For Bixby Township Post Trio Did Not Want

F. B. Jameson, 4166 Business street, Long Beach, was appointed justice of the peace of Bixby township yesterday by the Board of Supervisors, on motion of Supervisor Beaty.

Jameson, who says he is the first settler in the township, asked for the office when Gordon E. Parker refused to qualify after his name had been written in on the ballot at the primary election. Parker was one of three whose names were inserted on the ballot. Each received three votes. X. P. Brunell and E. L. Johns were the other two. Later it was discovered that Brunell's name had been written F. X. Brunell, which eliminated him. Johns, it was learned, lived just over the line in Orange county, so he was counted out. None of the men wanted the job.

SENTENCED TO JAIL ON TRAFFIC CHARGE

SEVENTEEN OFFENSES CONFESSED

"Count" de Fusse, Hunted for Months, Given Jail Term by Traffic Court

Arrested after being sought for several months on twenty-two traffic warrants, "Count" C. J. de Fusse of 3967 Menlo avenue, also known, according to Police Warrant Officer Delmar, as J. R. King of 941 Georgia street, was sent to jail yesterday by Municipal Judge Valentine when he pleaded guilty to seventeen minor offenses charged against him in traffic court. Judge Valentine imposed a sentence of two days in jail on each complaint, giving de Fusse thirty-four days to serve.

He pleaded not guilty to five complaints which Delmar says he signed as J. R. King, and trial on these was set by Judge Valentine for the 16th inst. before Judge Thompson.

Delmar reported that he saw de Fusse's automobile pass him at the intersection of Ninth street and Grand avenue and pursued it to Fifteenth and Hill streets before being able to overtake and arrest him. De Fusse gave his occupation as that of investigator for the Police Department. Police believe he is an investigator for a private detective agency.

DECISION GIVEN ON BARNES CITY

bound by the original judgment of the Superior Court.

This decision left County Auditor Payne in a quandary when he came to make up his tax books. Should he treat Barnes City as a city in its own name or as an unincorporated part of Los Angeles county, or as a part of the city of Los Angeles?

On seeking the advice of the County Counsel's office, the auditor was advised by County Counsel Mattoon and Deputy Counsel McFadden that since the consolidation proceedings with the city of Los Angeles had never been attacked, he should treat the territory as a part of the larger city.

Headed by George A. Bray, a number of residents opposed the ruling of the County Counsel, contending that the territory was still unincorporated and free of any allegiance with the city of Los Angeles.

However, the Supreme Court has upheld the contention of the County Counsel's office, making Barnes City definitely and for all time to come a part of the city of Los Angeles.

Bandit's Hauls and Words Tally in Two Hold-ups

"Give me the dough and give it to me quick" was a phrase which identified the bandit who held up J. R. Taylor in his cafe at 6517 Hollywood Boulevard late Thursday night as the same man who held up and robbed William J. Burns in the office of the California Fireproof Storage Company offices at 2808 West Pico street earlier in the day. His description also tallied, according to police reports.

In each robbery the bandit obtained $200 in cash.

Regardless of Chief Steckel's blockade system, purse snatchers continued to roam about the city grabbing purses from women in front of their homes. Late Thursday night Mrs. Bertha Seawright of 1215 West Thirty-ninth Place reported two youths took her purse, containing $1. At 10 a.m. yesterday Mrs. Sarah Miraky of 2524 Folsom street reported another pair leaped from an automobile and snatched her purse, containing $10.

REPUBLICAN CLUB BACKS JUDGE HANBY

Walter Hanby, was indorsed. In accordance with the policy of the club John V. Morris, secretary, was instructed to forward to Judge Hanby an official notification of the action taken.

Shoe Question Factor in Suit for Damages

What style of shoe would an ordinarily careful person wear? This question was raised in the answer to Mrs. Susie Bredberg's $10,120 suit against the Yellow Cab Company, which went to trial yesterday before a jury in Superior Judge Keetch's court. The plaintiff set up that her right foot was crushed and she received other injuries while standing in a safety zone on February 27, 1929.

The defendant contended that Mrs. Bredberg was guilty of contributory negligence, that she was not in the safety zone, and that "she did not wear the kind of shoes that an ordinarily careful individual would."

G. Roland Bredberg, husband of the plaintiff, also asks $5215 damages for loss of his wife's companionship and assistance.

SMALLEST CLAIM ORDERED PAID

City Demands 61 Cents From County for Delinquent Taxes Due

One of the smallest claims on record against the county, amounting to 61 cents, demanded by the city of Los Angeles for delinquent taxes due, was ordered paid yesterday by the Board of Supervisors.

The sum covers a delinquent street - improvement assessment against property on Avenue 57 turned over to the county by a person receiving charity aid.

The costs accruing to the city for the collection of the claim and to the county in paying it—five clerks worked on it in the county offices—will far exceed the amount of the claim itself.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE AIDE KILLS SELF

Poor Health and Loss of $100,000 Fortune Blamed for Richardson's Suicide

Ill-health and the loss of a $100,000 fortune yesterday was ascribed as the reason why James H. Richardson, assistant contact officer for the Sheriff's office, took his own life by firing a bullet through his head in his home at 234 West Greystone street, Monrovia.

Richardson shot himself early yesterday morning while in a bedroom after leaving a note to his wife in which he attributed his act to poor health, according to a sheriff's office report. He was discovered by his wife, who summoned aid. Taken to the Monrovia hospital, he died last night.

Fifteen years ago, according to Coroner Nance, a close friend of the family, who was called to the home by Mrs. Richardson, Richardson inherited approximately $100,000 from the estate of his father, who founded the Richardson chain of drug stores in St. Louis. Unfortunate investments within the last few years have resulted in almost complete loss of the money, it was stated.

Richardson had lived in Monrovia for the last twelve years and had served as contact officer since June, 1927. He leaves a son, James, Jr., a student in Cornell University.

Man Denouncing Temple 'Beams' Ruled Insane

"Radio beams" caused interference with Herman Louis Wilbur's study for the ministry at Angelus Temple, a jury in Superior Judge Hahn's court yesterday finding him insane. Wilbur was remanded to the custody of the psychopathic officers. Angelus Temple attaches testified concerning eccentric remarks by Wilbur, who asserted in court that he had had trouble with Mrs. Minnie Kennedy.

Wilbur believed that spotlights high above the choir loft concentrated radio beams on his head, cramping his efforts as a student and choir singer.

Wilbur is 52 years of age, and a stationery salesman.

A few minutes after the bandits' departure, Baker succeeded in loosening his bonds and released the others, according to McCaleb. Report of the crime then was telephoned to University Police Station.

In the robbery of the Washington-Crenshaw Boulevard Bank employees also were bound with heavy twine. Police stated that they have been unable to unearth a single clew as to the identity of the gang other than obtain information from underworld sources that a bank "heist-ing" gang has arrived here from the Middle West.

Out-of-town veterans will congregate at the Hayward which has been selected as the official hotel during the reunion, although all activities will center around Patriotic Hall starting at 2 p.m. today. William H. Menn is general chairman of the reunion committee.

LOUIS F. RUFF

Louis F. Ruff, chairman of the banquet committee, probably has a war record equal to any cook who served in the A.E.F. As mess sergeant of Company F, Three Hundred and Sixty-fourth Infantry during the thick of the fighting in Belgium Ruff prepared and served his men with their regular meals. For his tact and bravery the Belgian government awarded him with the Belgian Croix de Guerre. He was also cited by Gen. Pershing.

The Three Hundred and Sixty-fourth Infantry, made up mostly of Southern California men, will send the largest delegation to today's gathering, followed closely by many from the Three Hundred and Sixty-third Infantry from around the San Francisco Bay District. The Three Hundred and Sixty-first and Three Hundred and Sixty-second infantries from Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming and Utah will be well represented as will the various field artillery, machine gun batallions, signal corps and medical units.

As the veterans arrive at Patriotic Hall they will register in the library, main floor, after which they report to the general headquarters in the rotunda where Frank Adler, George Dykes, W. L. Wyman and a corps of assistants will supply the necessary franks, reunion badges and transact all official business.

During the afternoon informal unit reunions have been planned, the chief one being that of the Signal Corps at 4:30 p.m. At 6:30 p.m. the divisional bugler will blow chow call and Louie Ruff's assistants will supply the meal. More than 1000 reservations have been made for the banquet.

The show is next in order, supervised by Guernsey Frazer whose committee has transformed the gymnasium of Patriotic Hall into a stage where many acts will be produced.

FINE PAID WITH GOLD BY SHULER

Broadcasting Minister Parts With $100 in Full Settlement of Contempt

With five $20 gold pieces, Rev. R. P. Shuler appeared at the County Jail booking office last night and paid his fine of $100 for contempt of court, conviction of which was affirmed by the State Supreme Court at San Francisco late Wednesday.

Earlier in the day Shuler went to the jail to hand over his gold for a receipt, but Jailer Peoples declined to accept the sum until properly notified from San Francisco of the high court's decision.

Between the visits of the minister, however, a telegram was received by Peoples from B. Grant Taylor, clerk of the Supreme Court, advising the jailer that Shuler owed the county fines of $50 each on two counts of contempt.

The court's decision upheld the conviction of the broadcasting pastor on five counts, reversing one of the six in the original conviction, and relieving him of the necessity of returning to jail to complete a twenty-day sentence, of which he had served fifteen days.

SENTENCE DELAYED IN POOR-BOX THEFT

Found guilty of stealing $3.67 from the poor box of the Holy Spirit Church, Pico Boulevard and Dunsmuir avenue, sentence of Andrew R. Fatjor, Jr., the "world's meanest thief," was delayed yesterday by Municipal Judge Northrup until Monday, when Defense Attorneys will argue a motion for a new trial.

Miss Alice Davis, a parishioner, said she saw Fatjor taking money from the box, and with the aid of other members of the church held him until police arrived.

OF THE COMMUNITY CHEST

J. J. HAGGARTY SAYS:

"The Community Chest is accomplishing the stupendous task of financing the charitable projects of this great city, not only with equity and justice, but with businesslike efficiency, thus insuring that every dollar contributed in the name of charity will be used in the future as it has been in the past, to the best possible advantage in helping those who merit our sympathy and assistance.

"As a business man, I cannot but express my approval of this method of eliminating the unavoidable waste of time and money involved in separate solicitations for each individual society. By concentrating every effort on one united campaign, it is possible to provide the necessary funds for each to continue their praiseworthy activities."

Jess Willard's Store to Open

Jess Willard, former world's heavyweight champion, will "meet all comers" today—not, this time, as a gladiator of the prize ring, but as a business man. He will preside as host at the formal opening of Jess Willard's Food Department Store, Vine street and Afton Place, Hollywood, a market embracing seventeen concessions.

In conjunction with the opening a Spanish fiesta will continue throughout the day, with two orchestras and vaudeville acts to entertain the guests. Aglow with lights, the market this evening will be the setting for an inaugural dance. Norman Manning is to be master of ceremonies.

The new establishment will be operated under the general management of H. A. Weisman, former executive of eastern chain and department stores.

RANCK SUIT FOR DIVORCE CONSIDERED

Court Takes Decision on Decree and Realty Pleas Under Submission

Decisions permitting Mrs. Marjorie Eudora Ranck to retain $50,000 cash and $15,000 worth of furniture her husband gave her were announced yesterday by Superior Judge Yankwich when he took under submission Howard A. Ranck's suits for divorce and for recovery of real property valued at approximately $100,000. The husband had instituted four suits against his wife, one for recovery of cash, a second for recovery of furniture, a third for divorce, and a fourth for recovery of realty.

Ranck estimated that he had given his wife sums totaling $50,000 since their marriage in 1927. The plaintiff owns ranches at Artesia, a bakery at Downey, a brickyard and other property. In finding for the plaintiff in the suits involving gifts of cash and household furniture Judge Yankwich ruled that where a husband gives his wife money, unless specifically given for investment, she may retain it. Attorney S. S. Hahn represents Mrs. Ranck.

In his divorce action, Ranck, who is 53 years of age, complained that his wife was too friendly with Henry Ingram, a youth who drove her car on a Coast motor trip. Attorney William P. Redmond appeared for the husband.

SON FILES ACTION TO BREAK WILL

Plaintiff Says His Father Had Been Led to Believe That He Was Dead

Henry P. Diamond of Seattle, son of the late James Cameron Diamond, filed a contest of his father's will yesterday in which he said the elder Diamond was deceived into believing that his son was dead, and so did not mention him in the testament, which bequeathed property appraised at $7010.

In addition to this estate, Diamond gave other property, said to be worth approximately $80,000, to Elizabeth J. Gibson of Graham, principal beneficiary in the will.

Mrs. Gibson, 45 years of age, is said to have told her neighbors that Diamond, 83, had promised to marry her.

Besides Mrs. Gibson, heirs named by Diamond and the amounts they inherit are: Robert Labbe, executor of the will, $1000; Mrs. Robert Labbe, $1000; Beatrice Labbe, $500; Robert Labbe, Jr., $500; and Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Max Grund and Mrs. B. T. Smith $1000 each. Besides this money Mrs. Gibson was willed furniture and personal effects.

Body of Local Business Man, Shot on Ferryboat, Will Be Cremated

Masonic funeral services will be conducted today at 3 p.m. at the Joseph Hagan & Son chapel in San Francisco for Harry L. Clark, local business man, who died Thursday after he had been shot by accident on a San Francisco Bay ferryboat. After the services his remains will be cremated.

His widow, Mrs. Anita Clark, and one of his two sons, George S. Clark, left last night for San Francisco to be present at the funeral. They were accompanied by George D. Clark, a brother. In the northern city they will be joined by Jack M. Clark, the second son, a student at St. Mary's College, and by two sisters, Mrs. W. Solenberg of Alameda and Mrs. Evelyn Sutherland of Reno.

H. T. SWAYNE CLEARED IN DOG INQUIRY

Prosecution Discovers It Has No Evidence Against Him in Poisoning Case

Hugh T. Swayne, 70 years of age, of 8645 Lookout Mountain Road, was acquitted of dog poisoning by Municipal Judge Eagan yesterday when Deputy City Prosecutor Ida V. Wells discovered that the State had no evidence against him.

Swayne was arrested last May as the Hollywood "dog poisoner" responsible for the deaths of scores of valuable dogs. His attorney, Henry Huntington, pointed out in moving for a verdict of acquittal that Swayne, a retired Chicago police officer, is a dog lover and has three of his own. He has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the poisoner, Huntington told the court.

"Y" Workers of China Here to Raise Funds

The general secretary, Wong Ying Wah, of the Young Men's Christian Association of Toy Shan city, Canton, China, and its director, together with Tsok-San Liu, former superintendent of the Chinese Christian Union Academy in San Francisco, have arrived in Los Angeles to raise more funds for the mass education which the Y.M.C.A. has been carrying on in China.

The party was introduced by Wong Dean, a Chinese headman here, to You Chung Hong, local Chinese attorney. The latter has donated $1000 Hongkong currency to the Y.M.C.A.

HELP PROMISED IN LEGION DRIVE

One of Founders Favors 1931 Convention Here

Palmen Will Fly to Boston for Part in Sessions

Others Actively Working for Next Conclave

Assistance in the campaign to gain the 1931 convention of the National American Legion for Los Angeles was pledged yesterday to officials of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce by Carl Palmen, one of the founders of the veterans' organization who will leave this city by plane tomorrow, flying to Boston to take part in the sessions of this year's conclave opening next week.

Palmen, president and general manager of a manufacturing concern with interests here and in Ohio, told Secretary-Manager Arnoll of the chamber that he will take the floor at the convention to introduce a new plan for increasing the membership that will also provide funds for child welfare work by the national organization. His appearance before the convention in this connection as well as his identity with the founding of the Legion it is believed will give him much prestige for the appeal which he will make later for the 1931 conclave in Los Angeles.

Representing Coalinga, Cal., Post No. 2, Palmen was the first Vice-Commander of the California Legion organization and prior to that he attended, as an official delegate, the first caucus at which the American Legion was founded, held at St. Louis in May, 1919. Palmen will actively assist Harry Main, convention manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce now actively campaigning for next year's convention in Boston, with other prominent Legionnaires from this section who are working to bring the conclave here.

DEATH ENDS WIFE'S PLEA FOR DIVORCE

Mrs. Howard Asks Suit Be Dropped as Husband Loses Life in Auto Crash

Death ended a divorce action in Superior Judge Sproul's court yesterday, when Attorney Samuel J. Crawford, for Mrs. Clydabel Howard, asked that his client's case against Roscoe K. Howard be dismissed, because Howard had died as the result of an automobile accident.

Howard was fatally injured Thursday night at La Cienega Boulevard and Third street, when the car in which he was riding was struck by a larger automobile and demolished. Howard died yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Howard, who lives at 823 Crestmore avenue, Venice, had sued her husband asserting he treated her cruelly and falsely accused her of associating with other men. Howard's answer, filed by Attorney S. S. Hahn, denied these charges and blamed his mother-in-law for the couple's marital troubles. His contentions were upheld by Miss Mary Maxwell, investigator for the court, and a few days ago the couple's 2-year-old son was given to Howard, who maintained him in a neutral home.

After Howard's death, Attorney Hahn agreed that the mother should resume custody of the son.

MARRIAGE TO PRECEDE PRISON TRIP

Forger to Rewed Wife for Protection of Her Insurance Rights

Just before leaving for San Quentin, where he is to serve one to fourteen years, Frank D. Fernekes, 32-year-old forger, next Tuesday will be remarried to his wife, Ella B. Fernekes, in the office of Jailer Clem Peoples at the County Jail. The ceremony is to be performed, he announced yesterday, as a measure of protection to the wife's rights in insurance policies, the couple being unable to obtain a record of their marriage last January by a magistrate at Elizabeth, N. J.

Mrs. Fernekes, also convicted of forgery, is serving three months in the County Jail. Her sentence will expire next month, whereupon she will enter upon a period of five years' probation.

After fleeing California several months ago, Fernekes and his wife were apprehended at El Paso, En route to Los Angeles Fernekes eluded the officers and leaped from a speeding train near Phoenix. He was caught a month later at New Orleans.

Junior Flyer Has Chance to Break Record

With a good chance of lowering the junior transcontinental air record, Robert Buck, 16-year-old New Jersey flyer, planned to take off from Kingman, Ariz., this morning for Western Air Express port, Alhambra, on the last leg of his coast-to-coast flight.

Buck stated last night he expects to land at the local field about 11 a.m. today—in less total flying time from New Jersey than it took Eddie Schneider to cross the country.

The latter's mark for the east-to-west crossing is twenty-nine hours and forty-one minutes. Buck's time to Kingman was approximately twenty-five hours.

Buck plans to make an attempt on Schneider's west-to-east record of twenty-seven hours and nineteen minutes.

Allow twenty inches from plate to plate when seating guests. Set food before those at the table from the right. Pass all food from which each is to take a portion to the left. Remove finished dishes from the right.

Instead of greasing the pancake griddle rub it when it is hot with a cut raw potato and there will be no sticking or unpleasant odor.

Try and send your down coverlet to be renovated and recovered this coming week to the Western Feather and Down Works of 1205 W. Washington st. (WEstmore 9654,) who are thoroughly reliable and do beautiful work at very modest prices.

If oven gets too hot while baking set a pan of cold water on lowest shelf.

Use buttermilk in place of cream of tartar for mixing cake where called for; if the buttermilk is not sour enough add a little vinegar.

Maybe you think the way you have been cooking Roast Pork is good, but until you taste it served with Guasti Burgundy Wine Jelly, "you ain't tasted nothin'." Now in order to prepare Roast Pork the new way, I am giving you today a recipe which will show you how it should be prepared:

ROAST PORK

Rub a 2½ pound shoulder cut of pork with salt, pepper and garlic; sprinkle it with flour and brown surface in frying pan. Put in roaster, stick cloves in meat, cover and roast 1 1-4 hours at 350 degrees. Serve with Guasti Burgundy Wine Jelly.

And now for that Thanksgiving dinner! To make your table attractive the cutlery should be up to the minute, so just stop in at Stein's Cutlery Shop and see the new things along that line. One thing is certain—you will find the prices are remarkably low.

Delicious substitute for whipped cream. Add a sliced banana to the white of one egg and beat it until it is stiff; the banana will entirely dissolve, resulting in a delicious substitute for whipped cream.

When making baking powder biscuits add a teaspoonful of sugar and the baking powder will not taste. Buttermilk is always a successful substitute for fresh milk when making biscuits.

At this time of the year when you are sorting over your last year's clothing and discarding so many garments, why not send those you do not want to the Children's Hospital Salvage Department? They use everything you no longer have any use for and would appreciate a bundle at all times! 712 Maple ave., is the address; TUcker 1203 the phone number.

Two-minute salad. Dice one and one-half cupfuls of pickled beets and one and one-half cupfuls of cucumbers; chop finely one tablespoonful of parsley and one small onion. Thin some Thousand Island dressing with vinegar to taste and pour it over the vegetables after lightly mixing them together; add salt and pepper to taste and serve on lettuce leaves.

The best way to bring back mayonnaise that has separated is to add a teaspoonful of unbeaten white of egg and beat vigorously; when smooth continue adding oil as before.

Of course, the interest of my readers in Mandalay Coco-Hon-ee, (made in old Manila, from the fresh milk of the cocoanut) is at top pitch, so you all will be interested in knowing that beginning Monday and continuing all week this same "Coco-Hon-ee" will be demonstrated at Youngs Market Co. at 7th and Union. So go in and taste it first then buy it in jars for home use and in the bamboo containers for gifts to friends.

They are a joy to behold! Meaning the washing you sent to the Crown Laundry and Cleaning Company, and the dry cleaning, too—wasn't it lovely? Lumps of flour in mixing batter can be avoided by putting the salt in the flour before wetting it. By pouring flour in the liquid instead of the liquid in the flour, and beating it with a fork, lumps will not form.

To warm over and freshen muffins, biscuits and rolls sprinkle them lightly with water and place the pan in which they are in another pan containing water; heat in the oven for a few minutes and they will be as fresh as when first baked.

Up at the Peerless Platers of 239½ S. Spring st., you may have your knives, forks, and tablespoons replated for $3.50 a dozen, teaspoons being done for $2.50 the same number. This concern do all kinds of repairing and replating of gold, silver, and brass at an unusually small cost.

Board to Ask Change in 'U' Line Service

Informed by the Exposition and Western Avenue Improvement Association that at a meeting its members voted for restoration of the through service by Los Angeles Railway Company "U" cars on Thirty-ninth street from Vermont to Western avenues, the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation yesterday signified that it will request the railway to remove the shuttle service established several months ago from 9:35 p.m. to 12:35 a.m. because of lack of patronage.

The railway's regular service on Thirty-ninth street was at twenty-minute intervals until July 9, when it was changed to a twenty-four-minute service. When the shuttle service was provided the time was reduced to twelve minutes. The association members, however, expressed preference for the slower service because of the asserted inconvenience of transferring at Vermont avenue and Thirty-ninth street.

Feast Planned for Newsboys

Funds for the dinner will be raised by a boxing show and vaudeville entertainment at the Main-street club the night of November 24.

The annual dinner was inaugurated nine years ago under the direction of Curtis, who at that time was a Los Angeles newsboy. More than 2000 dinners were served last year and the number will likely be increased to 2500 next Thanksgiving.

The annual affair is sponsored by a large number of local sportsmen.

METROPOLITAN DISTRICT FILES PARKER DAM PLEA

For the purpose of establishing a prior right to the location in question, the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California yesterday filed with the State Division of Water Resources an application for permission to construct a diversion dam on the Colorado River near Parker, news dispatches from Sacramento stated.

W. P. Whitsett, chairman of the board of directors of the district, said that the filing is merely a protection move which the district can take advantage of it if the engineers finally decide to locate the diversion works there to bring water to Southern California.

The filing indicated plans to store 717000 acre feet of water behind a dam 270 feet high and 800 feet long, with a power plant with a capacity of 168,000 horsepower. This would be additional power to the Boulder Dam power. The project would cost about $30,000,000, which is part of the cost of the Colorado River Aqueduct project.

It is understood that this filing is a substitute for one made by the Los Angeles Department of Water and Power several years ago. As yet no specific plans have been drawn, Whitsett said, nor has it been decided that the diversion will be made at the Parker location. The district engineers are expected to make their decision soon, which will be turned over to the board of consulting engineers for their inspection and recommendation.

PLANS FOR BOND DRIVE DISCUSSED

Citizens' Committee Has Meeting to Map Campaign for Power Issue

Plans for putting over the $13,300,000 power bonds to be voted on at the November election were discussed at a meeting of the Citizens' Water and Power Committee held at the office of Mayor Porter yesterday.

The campaign organization work will be carried on in a way similar to that in behalf of the water bonds voted last May. In an opening statement Mayor Porter stressed the necessity of passing the power bonds. He presented Joseph Scott, chairman of the committee, who conducted the meeting. A number of men and women representing various organizations spoke, all indorsing the bonds and pledging cooperation in the work.

Representatives of the Power Bureau, including Chief Engineer Scattergood, told of the work being done by the employees of the Department of Water and Power, who have set up a campaign organization of their own and from whom money is being collected to carry on the work.

Those who attended the meeting were given literature to aid them in behalf of the bonds. Other meetings are to be held in the future.

Injunctions in Strike Denied

While cautioning that strikers must not do violence against their employers' business, Superior Judge Gould late yesterday denied three injunctions sought by clothing manufacturers against the local of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union. The judge held that there had not been a sufficient showing of evidence to justify granting injunctions, which he denied without prejudice.

The plaintiffs in the three suits were Phil Grossman, B. Wenesky and B. Lesser, and Paul Isaacson and M. Hirshfield. Attorney George Appell cited authorities to show that peaceful picketing is unlawful in California. Attorney Harry Sherr for the union offered affidavits denying threats of violence. He asserted that there has been no picketing other than union members urging other workers to stick to the union.

EIGHTY-MILES-PER-HOUR CRASH RULED "RECKLESS"

Speeding eighty miles an hour, jumping the curb, and knocking down three posts is reckless driving, the Appellate Department of the Superior Court ruled yesterday in affirming the conviction and sentence of Theodore H. Shirley. Presiding Judge McLucas and Judges Shaw and Bishop rendered the decision, affirming Municipal Judge Austin's sentence on Shirley of ninety days in jail, sixty of which were suspended by the trial judge.

Shirley, a wholesale oil and gas dealer of Alhambra, breezed along Sixth street in a new car at dawn August 6, last, pursued by a police car. Sergt. Wingard wished to investigate the new car, which bore neither license plates nor sticker. Marian Catlett, who rode with Shirley, said that the Alhambran remarked he would "go so fast that the officers will stand still." She said the speedometer registered eighty miles an hour. The police said they did 73 miles with their car, and were left behind.

Reaching Hoover street, the new car bounded across the curb, bounced off one telephone pole, and sheared down two others, a tree and a lampost. The record of the trial shows that these facts were admitted. Attorney E. M. Swartz in his appeal papers set up that Shirley was unfamiliar with the mechanism of the new car, that traffic was light on Sixth street at dawn, that Miss Catlett invited herself for the ride, and that there was no evidence of wrongdoing "except excessive speeding," and that this was a first offense of a business man.

Today's Bible Text

And they shall not teach every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord: for all shall know me, from the least to the greatest.—Heb. viii:11.

CANNED SOUP

The inventor of condensed canned soups is dead. There is another soul who started America on an apartment-house career.

FROM OVERSEAS

In New Jersey a Presbyterian church had 420 candidates for its vacant pastorate and finally took on an eloquent visitor from Belfast, Ireland, who was not even an applicant for the place.

SWEET BUSINESS

At the beginning of the decade just passed Uncle Sam was extracting $9,314,000 worth of sugar from corn. Today he is doing a $30,217,000 business at it. Not so long ago we got nothing but hogs and old soaks out of corn.

NO SUNDAY SHOW

Gov. Moody threatened to call out the National Guard to suppress a circus that was announcing a Sunday performance. It seems that these Sunday shows are not tolerated in the Lone Star State and there will be no infractions of the law if all the armies are necessary to keep the peace.

THE REASON WHY

Of course they are blaming it on the stock market. In the first half of this year there were 3000 more people taken into the psychopathic wards for examination in New York City than during the same period in 1928—before the splash in Wall street. Lots of spectators who lost their dough are thought to have gone nutty. Some were certainly nutty before they lost it.

DOUBLE DECKERS

Double decks have now been extended from sandwiches to elevators in the new sixty-five-story Doherty Building in New York. They will take on and discharge passengers on two floors simultaneously. Nothing seems to be in the way of stretching elevators into trains with cars one above the other for several floors. About all these Gotham elevators lack now is sleeping cars. But observation cars will still be indigenous to the West.

PEOPLE

England is thought to have about reached the saturation point; or at least will soon be stabilized at 42,000,000. Birth rates and death rates almost equal each other today. The population of the United States will hardly reach the stationary position with 200,000,000 until 2000 A.D. The entire population of the globe is placed at 1,900,000,000; or just about 100,000,000 short of 2,000,000,000. At the present rate of increase the world will double its present population in 110 years and have approximately 4,000,000,000.

CANADIAN RADIUM

It is to be hoped that the report from Toronto of the discovery of radium deposits that will yield enough of the highly valuable mineral to supply the entire British Empire will not prove illusive. The find, which is the result of three or four years' investigation, was made near Wilberforce, Ont., and the deposit is said to average 186 milligrams of radium to the ton of ore.

Radium generally is found in uranium, many tons of which are required to produce as much as one ounce of the scintillant mineral, the chief use of which is in the treatment of human maladies. Its wonderful radioactive properties are said to be a specific for cancer in its incipiency. As the Canadian government is spending $500,000 for radium with which to fight cancer, the new find may prove of great value to the nation. About the only other places where radium has been discovered are Colorado, Utah, the Belgian Congo, Australia and Czecho-Slovakia.

As showing what it costs in human effort to obtain an appreciable quantity of radium, it may be stated that 300 workmen in a Czecho-Slovakia chemical plant, after eight years' steady toil, have produced one ounce of it, valued at $2,500,000. It is to be hoped that the Canadian ore may prove richer and more easily worked than that of the little Carpathian state.

A JUSTIFIED OPTIMISM

That the United States is so largely self-contained that it need not wait upon economic recovery in the rest of the world, but can take the initiative, is the text which President Hoover took for his address to the American Bankers' Association at Cleveland. He did not attempt to minimize the depression which the country is undergoing, but he did not view the situation with pessimism. Such an address will help to clear away many of the psychologic factors which have retarded recovery and speed up the revival which is now beginning all over the country.

In this revival, as the President pointed out, the bankers have an opportunity to take a large share. He indicated that some legislative changes may be found desirable, mentioning the capital profits tax and the Transportation Act of 1920 as being possibly defective, and it is a fair inference that he probably will recommend some changes when Congress meets in December. The nature of the changes he has in mind was not described.

The need of better machinery for controlling crises and insuring stability was brought out plainly and the President expressed belief that such machinery may be set up through co-operation, in some quasi-public agency similar in its organization to the Federal Reserve System.

In the fact that the incomes of a large proportion of the people have not been reduced by the industrial depression the President found a hopeful factor. His appeal was to these to resume their normal rate of buying goods. The factor which most justifies optimism, he said, is that overstocking of goods, such as was found at the end of the war boom, does not exist today except in one or two lines. The contrary, as the President pointed out, was the case in the 1922 depression, from which the country made a swift comeback.

"Our difficulties at that time were far more severe than at present," he said. "But we led the world in recovery. It was our independent recuperation from that depression, and the economic strength which we so liberally and so largely furnished to other countries, that was the very basis for reconstruction of a war-demoralized world."

Applause greeted the President's declaration that the nation need not accept a lower standard of living. The constantly widening diffusion of the results of invention and discovery, he declared, is the very basis of the unique civilization set up in this country and he sees no reason to believe that there need be any recession. Instead, he said, plans should be laid to go on to new heights. In the same breath he scored those of his political opponents who insist upon resenting the notion that things will get better and "who wish to enjoy our temporary misery."

"To recount to these persons the progress of co-operation between the people and the government in amelioration of the situation, or to mention that we are suffering less than other countries, or that savings are piling up in the banks, or that our people are paying off installment purchases, that abundant capital is now pressing for new ventures and employment, only inspires the unkind retort that we should fix our gaze upon the unhappy features of the decline."

The President's reference to the capital profits tax recalls criticism of this levy which was made a year ago by prominent bankers. This tax is now 12½ per cent on increases in capital resulting from sales of property held two years and more. Gains from other sales are taxable as income. Only when taxable income rises above about $30,000 is it advantageous for the taxpayer to take advantage of this provision.

It was the contention of critics that this tax levy produces an artificial shortage by making property holders reluctant to sell. This bad effect, it was declared, is particularly noticeable in the stock market, where prices rose unjustifiably high for many securities. A considerable part of the price inflation which, in its collapse, dragged the market to low levels and produced the present psychological depression, has been attributed to the capital gains levy. It has been held on the other hand that to exempt capital gains from taxation would unduly encourage speculation. Possibly a lower rate and elimination of the time feature would obviate the difficulty.

Concerning the Transportation Act the President said that certain provisions had hampered the efforts of railroads in construction work and prevented their making their full coptribution to the relief of unemployment.

The address as a whole comprised an able and candid analysis of the situation, in a tone of justified optimism, which should itself be of great aid in stimulating the return of prosperity.

BLEACHERITIS

Bleacheritis breaks out in a peculiarly virulent and stubborn form every autumn. The football seems to breed it. It attacks youngsters and oldsters alike. And thus far no serum has been found to curb its ravages. Its unfailing symptom is sitting on a high bench in the sun yelling at a herd of heroes landing on their ears.

Its peculiar psychology is to "Let George do it!"

It takes its daily dozen by proxy. It could not carry the ball forward a yard on a bet; yet presumes to instruct the umpire. It shivers in its seat in the wind and roars at the team for taking a few seconds out to cool off. It wants constant action for its stub. It often has anemia or indigestion from lack of activity; but it does not hesitate to work off its bile through its tongue. It is rabid at the loss of a game and howls for a change of coaches. Its chief forms of athletic exercise are a few uprisings and downsittings at crucial stages of the game. It often massages the ribs of the victim in the next seat. It never imperils itself by plunging the line; but has plenty to say to the fellow who hesitates. It would rattle around in football togs itself, but it sets up and knocks down idols in a day.

It is difficult to prescribe for it; because few are willing to share their skin and yield their blood and bones for the good of old alma mater. If some genius could invent a system that would take in all the student body, the alumni and fans and employ their noses for fall plowing in the football field, he would immortalize himself.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Many people still hold the opinion that rising prices in speculative securities will presage the end of any existing depression in business. This is possible but not at all certain. The head of the New York Stock Exchange himself declares that before security prices rise there must be confidence that business has turned the corner. The present slump could easily be cured by courage and activity on the part of the people.

Our national resources are as great today as they were last year. Our great business organizations are in strong financial condition and our industrial plants are at the highest state of efficient development. Credit is abundant. With the exception of the difficulties that have arisen as a result of the drastic deflation of commodity prices, the business horizon is reasonably clear.

All that is lacking is courageous and intelligent effort and confidence in the future of the country. We all know that the present period cannot long endure, yet many good citizens are hesitant and wait for others to show their courage and initiative. If everybody would get into the swim they would all realise how fine it is.

LINES TO A SOUTHBOUND ROBIN
By James J. Montague

You need not study road maps,
You know them all by heart,
Nor wrack your brains to find when trains
Are scheduled to depart;
There are no reservations
For you to fret about.
You merely say, "I'm on my way"
And thereupon set out.
And in a fleeting week or so You'll be where you have planned to go.

No detour signs will cause you
To start with vague alarm,
You'll merely sail along the gale
Past wood and lake and farm.
And if you thirst or hunger
You'll know by day or night,
Abundant food for you is strewed
Along your southern flight.
And when the coming dusk you see
Your roadhouse is the nearest tree.

No road-hogs block the highway
And will not let you pass,
You never fear in your career
That you'll run out of gas.
When you have made your mind up
To flee the cold and snow,
You merely rise, survey the skies,
Spread out your wings and go.
And never do you carp and cavil
At the annoyances of travel.

The LEE SIDE O' LA
By Lee Shippey

SHE received us, when we arrived for the interview, charmingly attired in pajamas.

A year ago it would have given us quite a thr—er—shock. But nowadays we think nothing of it, for this is getting to be a pajamas town.

The other evening, we are told, several guests arrived at a party in Beverly Hills dressed in pajamas. A Hollywood friend tells us that every morning he sees half a dozen men and women in his neighborhood go out for the morning newspaper in pajamas and they have become the favorite "house dress" of thousands.

Beauties of the Sunrise

We suppose sleeping porches have done a great deal to familiarize us Southlanders with pajamas. Here there is at least one sleeping porch in nearly every recently built home. At first, people who slept out on porches got up and scurried into the house when dawn awakened them. But soon the desire to sleep a little longer overcame that prudishness. Soon bolder spirits began taking their morning breathing and gymnastic exercises on their sleeping porches, while still pajamaed, as unabashed as squirrels at a summer resort. Next the daring began darting out for milk bottles and the morning paper. Next neighbors in pajamas took to stopping and conversing over the hedge. Now pajamas are no more exciting in Hollywood than they are in the Orient.

So even old-fashioned we were not at all surprised when, in answer to our knock at the street door of the home of a famous actress, a lovely lady in pajamas opened the door and invited us to come right in.

Dressier Than Full Dress

She escorted us to a chair as soft as the head of a gold brick buyer, while she sat on her feet in one of those new-style, underslung, low-seated chairs just opposite. The other day we wrote about the difficulty long-legged people have in sitting gracefully on such low-seat furniture, but she showed us. By sitting with your feet curled up on the chair seat, instead of on the floor, you can look quite comfortable. And maybe that's another reason for pajamas. They certainly adjust themselves better when one sits on one's feet.

"Oh, yes," she said. "I wear pajamas habitually about the house. Most of the girls in our crowd do. They're so comfortable and convenient. There's only one bad feature about them. They cover one so completely that after wearing them all day one feels awfully immodest in a dinner gown."

The Return of Archery

We do not know if Victor McLaglen could bend the bow of Ulysses, but Vic is fond of going to a place on Beverly Boulevard, near Fairfax, where archery is offered as a public sport, just as miniature golf is, and bending a ninety-pound bow which is one of the numerous bows there. And McLaglen is only one. We were out there at 11:30 p.m. and quite a line of cars was parked near the "shooting gallery," while those who had driven there in them were engaged in testing their skill. The manager of the place is like the man who guesses your weight at the beach, and gives you a free weigh if he misses it more than a few pounds. He can look at you and tell what sort of bow you need. He has light bows for women and some it takes a strong man to bend. And it is interesting to see how strong some of the little women of screenland are. They keep themselves so fit that many a one who looks like a clinging vine on the screen can bend a bow the average man finds a little too rigid. While we were watching, a big but soft man discarded a heavy bow for a lighter one and a girl who couldn't have weighed more than 115 pounds picked it up and hit three targets in a row.

Joshua Little Says

It wasn't so advertised, but the marriage in an airplane at Riverside the other day marked the beginning of another endurance flight.

I'll say this for marriage, though. When it's really a fifty-fifty arrangement it's likely to be a fifty-year arrangement.

I'm heartily in favor of the efforts of the Society for the Suppression of Useless Noises. They should speed up the average luncheon club program fully 50 per cent.

Many a man who is daring enough to burn his bridges behind him in the business world is scared to go home and even criticise his wife's bridge.

Hoover asks that we make homes as easy to buy as automobiles. But not as hard to pay for, we hope.

GOOD OLD DAYS, HUH!

George Washington used 2000 candles to light the hall in which he gave a party. It set him back about $10 an hour. The same amount of electric light today would cost about 20 cents.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

HER OWN PROBLEM
[San Francisco Chronicle]

An interesting suggestion is made by a woman lecturer in no less a center of learning than Cambridge, Eng. She thinks that the time men spend shaving is an example of inefficiency. Not that she would have male beauty go back to the standard of the Chaldeans, who wore curled whiskers.

Nor yet would the Cambridge lady have men adopt the style of the House of David, which has made bewhiskered baseball famous. No; she thinks that with proper attention to the forces of evolution man can develop cheeks and chin as free as a woman's from hirsute adornment.

Well, without inquiring too deeply into the proposed process we should say the lady has an idea. But we wonder why she is worrying about the man's problem. Why doesn't she turn her scientific mind to the development of permanently powdered noses for the women?

The man's job of shaving has at least one advantage. Once done it is done for the day. It doesn't have to be repeated every thirteen minutes.

[New York Times.]

It is announced that a nineteen-story apartment house is to be erected on the site of an old Greenwich Village theater soon to be torn down. The "old theater" was built about ten years ago. The other day there was chronicled the approaching demolition of one of the few surviving fine old mansions on Fifth Avenue, and of the famous Blackwall Tavern on the lower reaches of the Thames facing London's West India Docks. The fine old mansion on Fifth Avenue was built in 1907. The Blackwell Tavern was a favorite resort of London picnickers about the time of the Napoleonic wars, but has been unoccupied and in decay since the time of our own Civil War. The contrast between New York and London is the familiar one. We tear down ancient buildings reaching back into the dim past of Theodore Roosevelt's administration. London takes seventy-five years for making up its mind to tear down an abandoned riverside inn.

ABATING CITY NOISES
[Chicago Daily News]

There is far too much noise in a modern city. The quaint idea that a great abundance of assorted clamor, mechanical and other, affords gratifying proof of prosperity and high-pressure business activity in a community still has its adherents. This is unfortunate, since it stands in the way of progress and benefits nobody but the nerve specialists and the undertakers.

Railroad locomotives, river boats, street cars and elevated trains, automobile horns and many other contrivances of man commonly are used too noisily. Flat car wheels, careless carting of loose iron, mechanical loud speakers and all the rest severally contribute to the din fallaciously accepted as a necessary concomitant of modern civilization.

The way to reduce noise is to apply to the problem the practical suggestions of experts. Health Commissioner Kegel's conference on noise abatement should lead to the development of a comprehensive and feasible program, with definite tasks to be performed by the various industries which mainly are responsible, collectively and severally, for a growing menace.

ROOM FOR BILL HEARST!

BY EUGENE BROWN

Dear Bill: You surely have the right system. You win the pea-green sweater without a kick. This business of pulling off a personal celebration in every town you have a paper is a stunt worth its weight in wild cats. Not every man who has been chased out of a foreign country as an undesirable would have thought it up. He wouldn't have had the nerve. But you can get away with it like little Rollo with the plum tart.

But it seems funny to me that the French folks should cook up a peeve against you. As near as I can make out all you ever did was to swipe a treaty that the government didn't want you to have. Of course in time of war it is customary to shoot people for this, but now the war is over and the French people owe us money. Why should they be fussy over a little thing like that? A mere bagatelle, says I. Paris is full of sleek diplomats who can make new treaties as fast as you can print them. There are plenty more where this one came from.

Gee! but those Frenchmen are snooty. Imagine an American banker getting sore if you pilfered a million dollars from his hoard! He would think no more of it than I would at losing both eyes in a gasoline explosion. He would snicker and assert that there was plenty more money in the country and all he would have to do would be to go out and take some more of it.

All you have to do is to keep a stiff upper lip and show folks what you are made of. If some of them say it is mud just give them the laugh. I remember back in the old town there was a nosey guy who got quite a reputation as Jack the Peeper. He would prowl around nights peering into windows until finally some of the citizens got sore about it. They trailed him one night and caught him doing his specialty and at once escorted him to a lumber yard. There a committee picked out a nice, slivery four by four and mounted their capture on the same. Then taking the burden on their shoulders they escorted the peeper some miles beyond the limits of the town and dumped him in a pond. There they left him. The citizens heard no more of him for a while, but finally one of them located him in the near-by town of Hastings where he was reported to be doing fairly well. He had told the people that he had come to our town with practically nothing and had left it at the head of a large lumber company.

So you see that they can get away with it. As a sort of a national Bill the Peeper you have a sort of territory or occupation cut out for you. The average person may not either understand or condone, but there it is—like the jackal at the lions' picnic. Somebody must spy at diplomatic windows and purchase fake public documents. If it weren't for you who on earth could it be? Were it not for you we would never have had the story about the Mexican government paying Senator Borah $500,000 for his influence. Of course there was nothing to it. It was an opium dream of the wildest type, but supposing there had been something to it? Wouldn't Bill Hearst be today wearing the shoes of Abraham Lincoln as the savior of his country?

But what I started out to say was this: While you are staging your public appearances as the champion of liberty why can't you drop in on our little town of Eagledale? It is true that you have no paper there and that, in fact, nobody is willing to subscribe for one. But we could give you a warm reception just the same. They all tell me that. I have a dear friend who is a sort of a retired burglar who would be glad to work out the details for you. I am sure that he could enlist the activities of the Burglars' Union and they would be glad to head the parade. This in itself would be a great card. I get it from my friend that the members are great admirers of yourself and your methods. They realize that burglary is an art and a science—as well as one of the most ancient of human professions. They also understand that it must sometimes be practiced for the public good. You will know what I mean.

I think that for about $15,000 we could arrange a spontaneous tribute that would warm you up clear to the hind legs.

I have a suggestion to make: You ought to carry a bass drum wherever you go. You might have the parchment lettered: "Bill Hearst's One-Man Band," and it would serve as your trade mark. But get the drum, anyhow. Whenever you struck a strange town a few vigorous pelts on its head would inform the populace that you had arrived in person and were prepared to explain to the citizens why you had boycotted France. Of course some folks will find it hard to understand. They know the French people are mighty easy to get along with and have a special welcome for American visitors. They are hard to offend. They will wonder how a race whose beaks are trained on cambembert can possibly find anything too smelly in the personality of an American visitor. Perhaps they have been conferring too much notoriety on the stranger. Everybody will concede the right of a government to oust undesirables. If you had been a bum prize fighter or a cheap racing tout you might have been excluded and no questions asked, but when it came to burglarizing the nation's archives they thought they ought to stress the fact.

And they did.

And so did you.

You have had as much advertising out of it as if you had just come from Burma with a pink elephant and a harem. That's why I say: Keep it up. Get all there is in it and have your boys stage a blowout at every place you have a printing plant.

That's the system.

You can't lose.

It isn't too late for America to declare war on France for its overt act in firing you out, and you should insist upon it. By going around the country speechifying and by printing big-type editorials you might work up quite a war. Why don't you go to it while the time is ripe? Don't let the thing get cold, get out your flags and drums, call out the Army and Navy and give those gibbering Gauls Hail Columbia!

Your idea of jumping on the administration because it has failed to back you up is fine for broadcasting purposes. This roasting the administration is a regular thing with the Democrats and folks are getting so they expect it. Keep it up. It sounds familiar and proper to hear you join in the chorus. Your suggestion as to what Roosevelt and Cleveland would do under the same circumstances is also good hokum. Both the gentlemen named are too dead to make denial. Why not make it unanimous? Why not ring in George Washington and Andrew Jackson? Under like circumstances they would have had an army in Paris before sunset. Maybe. Would an American citizen be expelled from France without protest? Not if he had stolen all the masterpieces in the Louvre.

Keep on telling the world that if Congress doesn't do something to avenge American honor as represented by yourself you will organize a fight against every blooming nominee. Take the good old standard that an American passport is the backbone of the Constitution and must be maintained as inviolate as Caesar's wife. Wrap the American flag around your chest and boldly proclaim that the rights and liberties of an American citizen must be respected and preserved in all the countries of the earth—especially France.

If the crowd begins to ask troublesome questions pound like the devil on your bass drum. That will create what the writers call a diversion.

If you come our way don't forget about the drum.

The minute I hear that I will know that you are in town.

And say, about these red-hot tributes to yourself printed by your New York papers and echoed by the whole string of Hearstling sheets—keep it up. If you run short of tributes wire to me and I'll send you a whole bunch of 'em.

You know me.

So no more at present.

THE "PRIZE" PEST!

The "pest" who throws banana peels
Upon the public pave
And sends folks flat upon their keels—
He makes us rage and rave!
And she who flips her wad of wax
Upon the thoroughfare,
Where flitting folks are making tracks—
She puts gray in our hair!
And there's the "pest" who spots a seat
Upon a crowded car,
And treads upon his fellows' feet,
Where corns and bunions are!
He enters with a headlong rush,
And with a skip and hop,
He wins his goal, without a blush
And grunts—and takes a flop!
And there's the "pest" who "rocks the boat,"
Where racing rivers flow,
And he who gets his neighbors' "goat"
At ev'ry talkie show;
He tells what's "coming" in advance,
To save our ears and eyes;
But, friends, of all the "pests" in pants—
The road-hog cops the prize!

MOVING FAST

"Libraries," writes R. L. Duffus in "Books: Their Place in a Democracy," "have it within their power to do much toward literalizing and humanizing the thinking of the American people. But the libraries must move fast. Press, radio, motion picture, all are moving fast in twentieth-century America."

The Los Angeles Public Library is trying to keep up the pace, according to figures from the recent annual report. Nine books per minute are charged out to readers at the Central Library alone during a thirteen-hour day. It is estimated that from 15,000 to 20,000 people daily enter the Central Library and many of these use reference books which must be procured by library attendants. On a record day, 10,000 books were returned and 10,000 books were borrowed. Fiction books average a circulation of sixteen times a year. The number of questions about books answered at every reading room is necessarily unestimated.

Investigation into the recent popularity of the doll factory in the prison at Budapest, Hungary, revealed that prisoners had found it a good place to keep their fingers nimble for their "regular profession."

Night was invented as a boon for every labor-worn loon, soon, it is the remedy for woes, it is a balm that beats drugs that ever were put up in jugs. When night arrives the wise men say, "How good it is to hit the hay, and there forget while our cares, the grafting wiles, the tempter's snares. They go to roost and in the dawn they leave the cots where stored, their pep renewed, and do not mope or wail or bawl but face the labors of the day like three-year-olds, all full and gay. But there are people not so wise, and when the light of sunshine dies, they are resolved to turn the night into a stretch of false delight. They laugh at the old-fashioned way of ancient and ancestral day; the night is full of noise and glare, with gaudy doings everywhere; it is a time for borrowed goods in strange and distant neighborhoods, and all the brittle brands of fun until the rise of the sun. And who can tell how tough they feel, as from the jazzy haunts they reel, to go to bed when they should rise, with throbbing heads and bloodshot eyes? He is indeed a foolish wight who desecrates the holy night, who does his lurid revels keep, when he should be curled up asleep. He is unfitted for his work, diseases in his system lurk, he dies nine years before his time, his thoughts run to those nights of crime. The night's a blessing, rich and rare, so let us to our beds repair and dream long dreams of dear joys we knew when we were girls and boys.

WALKUP SPYING CHARGES MADE

Public Officials Declared to Have Used Taxi Drivers

Burglary Also Asserted to Have Been Committed

Search Being Kept Up for Witnesses in Affair

Astonishing charges which include spying for public officials by taxicab drivers and the theft of records and documents for delivery to a City Hall official entered yesterday into the already muddled investigation of the asserted attempt to "frame" Police Commissioner Walkup.

A system of private reports by taxicab drivers delivered to an official in the City Hall every time persons of prominence were driven about the city in certain cabs was disclosed, according to police, by one of the witnesses interviewed in connection with the Walkup case.

The burglary of a private residence by one of the persons already being sought by the police for his connection with the asserted effort to frame Walkup, and the theft of documents and papers later delivered to the City Hall official also was disclosed, according to the investigating officers.

SEARCH MADE

No details of the burglary were made public except the fact that some of the persons known to have been implicated in the effort to frame Walkup took part in the burglary and were directing the spying of the taxicab drivers. The name of the man who took part in the burglary is known to police and a search is being made for him.

In the meantime Police Detectives James, McMullin and Nolan late yesterday afternoon announced that Edward S. Ward, former private detective, and identified by Miss Lee as one of the men who took part in the Walkup affair, has fled from the city.

Connor M. Shawn, the taxicab starter and checker who was named by Miss Lee as one of the directors of the effort to frame Walkup, is still being sought. According to police he left the city after the newspapers printed the first account of the plot that failed.

FITTS STUDIES CASE

Yesterday Dist.-Atty. Fitts, who has been given all of the police reports on the investigation, said that he has not completed his study of the case, but intimated the entire matter probably will be placed before the grand jury early next week, and indictments asked.

During the investigation admissions made by persons connected with the affair disclosed the fact that Ward is a close personal friend of W. J. Mosher, investigating secretary for Mayor Porter and police records disclosed that Mosher obtained a police badge for Ward on August 8. It was early in August that the Walkup case started.

While others questioned by the police have talked freely, Ward refused to comment on his part in the affair before he fled from the city and Mosher denied any connection with the case. He did say, however, that he is a friend of Ward and that he requested Chief of Police Steckel to issue the man a police badge. Chief Steckel stated that Mosher told him at that time Ward was working out of his office.

MEMORY OF MRS. GIBSON HONORED

Library Board Passes Resolution of Tribute and Condolence

The Board of Library Commissioners yesterday adopted the following resolution in memory of the late Mrs. Frank Gibson, mother of Hugh Gibson, Ambassador to Belgium:

Whereas, in the death of Mrs. Frank Gibson this community has lost one of its citizens who since 1878 had been prominently identified with its educational progress and more recently with the special movement to promote the education of adults; and,

Whereas, Mrs. Gibson was personally active in stimulating interest for recognition of the Public Library as a tax-supported department of the city, and had been consistently interested in the progress and development of the institution,

Be it resolved, that the Board of Library Commissioners record in its minutes its appreciation of the loss suffered by this community through Mrs. Gibson's death, and hereby extends its sympathy to the members of the bereaved family.

Last Services Conducted for Col. Palmer

Last tribute was paid yesterday to Col. Guy G. Palmer, United States Army, retired, who died Wednesday at his home, 527 North Las Palmas avenue. Funeral services were conducted at the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, with Rev. Ray O. Miller, rector of St. James Episcopal Church, officiating.

R.O.T.C. student officers from the University of California at Los Angeles were pallbearers. Twenty-two prominent army officers and civilians served as honorary pallbearers. As the casket was lowered in the grave a bugler sounded taps and a salute was fired.

Col. Palmer had a long and notable career in the Army. From 1919 to 1928 he was professor of military science and tactics at U.C.L.A.

WESTERN TARIFF AID ASKED

Chamber Wants Hoover to Name Member of Board from Southern California

Calling attention to the intricate tariff problems of the Pacific Coast, which, it is asserted, can best be understood by an individual familiar with other western and coastal conditions, the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce yesterday set under way a move to urge President Hoover to appoint one member of the Federal Tariff Commission from Southern California.

Acting for the organization's board of directors, Secretary-Manager Arnoll addressed letters to California Representatives and Senators urging that they use whatever influence possible to urge that at least one and possibly both of the two members of the commission yet to be selected, should be picked from the Pacific Coast, one of them preferably from this end of the State.

Arnoll's letter pointed out that heretofore no member of the Tariff Commission has been picked from any section west of Utah.

"Our tariff problems are of tremendous import to our economic progress," Arnoll said. President Hoover has already selected five members of the commission.

DAILY MENUS

Menus suggested for the following Sunday:

SUNDAY

Breakfast—Grapefruit upon arising. Cereal, eggs, Melba toast. Lunch—Fresh fruit, salad of one kind. Dinner—Cold meat, baked stuffed tomatoes, hot cooked asparagus on toast. Apple sauce.

MONDAY

Breakfast—Cottage cheese. Sliced fresh or canned fruit. Cereal, cooked greens. Salad of raw cabbage and cress. Lunch—Tomato soup. Salisbury steak. Baked ground carrots and onions. Stuffed celery. Ice cream (two portions).

TUESDAY

Breakfast—Glass of orange juice upon arising. Stewed apricots. Well-browned waffle, crisp bacon. Lunch—Large glass of tomato juice. Dinner—Roast mutton, spinach, squash. Salad of head lettuce. Jello or Jell-well.

WEDNESDAY

Breakfast—Melon. Eggs poached in milk. Toasted Shredded Wheat Biscuit. Lunch—Corn. String beans. Raw celery. Dinner—Cream of tomato soup. Broiled chicken, eggplant, buttered beets. Salad of shredded spinach leaves. Apricot whip.

THURSDAY

Breakfast — Wholewheat mush with cream. Stewed prunes. Lunch—Melon a la mode. Dinner—Roast beef, okra, small green peas. Salad of sliced cucumbers. Pear sauce.

FRIDAY

Breakfast—French omelet. Melba toast. Stewed figs. Lunch—Fresh fruit (one kind,) such as grapes, apples or peaches. Dinner—Celery soup. Baked white fish, spinach, buttered turnips. Salad of sliced tomatoes. No dessert.

SATURDAY

Breakfast—Baked stuffed apple with cream. Lunch—Cornmeal muffins, squash. Avocado salad. Dinner—Vegetable soup. Sliced yellow cheese (one-fourth-pound portions.) Steamed carrots, escalloped celery. McCoy salad (lettuce, tomatoes and cucumbers.) Melon.

"Apple sauce should be prepared without the addition of sugar. It is quite sweet if cooked without water in a thick aluminum pan. The apples should be thinly sliced, and the pan should have a close-fitting lid and be placed over a slow fire. This makes an excellent dessert to be used either with a protein meal or with breakfast. Baked apples should be likewise cooked in an aluminum pan and no sugar or water added.

A SPORT ROOM

Bridge players have rebelled at upsetting their living-rooms to make ready for the evening's game. The ideal arrangement is a room dedicated to sport. It can be such a jolly, informal sort of room—done in a striking color scheme, planned to give an atmosphere of gayety and amusement. Such a room, because it is essentially modern in its idea, could well be carried out in the contemporary manner. Modern materials, fabricoid, washable wallpaper, etc., should be used. Aside from the card table permanently in place with its four chairs ready to use, there might well be a radio, comfortable lounging chairs, a sofa, a coffee table, plenty of small tables for books, magazines, cigarettes or beverages.

Practical Pointers

When traveling, a tube of shaving cream makes a convenient and sanitary toilet soap.

Soak the ink-stained garment in sour milk before trying to remove the marks with an acid.

A handy bed lamp for the guest room will be appreciated by the restless house guest.

Oil stains will come out of wash materials if rubbed with lard and allowed to stand over night. Then wash in cold water and soap. Dry in the sun.

YOU NEED ONLY WATER

LIVER LOAF

Remove the skin from one-half a pound of beef liver, cut in slices and cook in boiling water for five minutes, drain, then chop it fine, or grind it through a meat grinder, add to it one-half cupful of bread crumbs, two tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup, one-third cupful of raw pork, chopped fine, one tablespoonful of finely chopped onion, two well-beaten eggs, three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Line a baking dish with slices of bacon, press the mixture down firmly into the baking pan, and cover it with slices of bacon on the top. Bake in a moderate oven for one hour.

VIRGINIA SPOON CORN BREAD

Three cupfuls of boiling water, one teaspoonful of salt, one-third cupful of fine hominy, three tablespoonfuls of shortening, three-fourths cupful of milk, three well-beaten eggs, one and one-half cupfuls of corn meal, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, add the salt to the water, place over a hot fire, and gradually stir in the hominy, let cook three or four minutes, while stirring, then cook in a double-boiler, over boiling water, for thirty minutes, add the shortening, milk and corn meal, that has been sifted with the baking powder, remove from the fire, and add the well-beaten eggs, place in a well-oiled baking dish, place in the oven, and allow to bake for forty-five minutes. Place the dish on the table and serve with a spoon.

FRENCH FRIED CAKES

Beat one egg, and gradually beat into it two tablespoonfuls of sugar, and beat to a cream, then add three tablespoonfuls of milk, one tablespoonful of melted butter, and one cupful of flour, which has been sifted with two level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, add one teaspoonful of orange extract, and roll out in a long light roll with the hands, cut it into small slices, then lightly roll into tiny marbles, and fry in deep, hot shortening, until a light golden yellow.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

IMPY SPILLS A LOAD OF NUTS

Danger lurks where least suspected,
And oft appears when least expected.

Old Mother Nature.

It never does to be so intent on one thing that everything else is forgotten. It is dangerous. It has cost the lives of many of the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. It caused Impy, the black Chipmunk, to lose two pockets full of sweet little beechnuts. He was lucky, very lucky, that he did not lose his life as well. He might have. Yes, indeed, he might have.

You see, this was Impy's first harvest. He was working very hard indeed to fill the storerooms in his snug home. There were many other nut harvesters and so Impy worked fast, wholly intent on getting his share. As a matter of fact, he had his share and more, too.

Now, there were other people interested in that harvest—people who themselves did not eat beechnuts. They were not interested in the beechnuts, but they were interested in some of the little people who were gathering the beechnuts. One of these was Sharpshin, the Hawk. He was especially interested in Striped Chipmunk and Impy and little Mrs. Impy. Unseen by them, he watched until he knew just which way they went and how they went, as they hurried to and fro, now with their pockets filled and again with their pockets empty. Then he bided his time. It came soon. Impy, with both cheeks stuffed with beechnuts until he couldn't get another one in, started for home. He was so intent on getting there that he didn't even look around for possible danger. He forgot that there was such a thing as danger.

Impy didn't stop to look. He simply dodged behind a tree and he was none too soon. There was the sharp whistle of wings as Sharpshin swooped and barely missed him. Sharpshin turned quickly and came swooping back. Striped Chipmunk dodged around to the other side of the tree. Once again he was barely in time. Then Impy did a wise thing. He emptied both pockets of the nuts they contained. He realized that he couldn't dodge with his cheeks swelled out as they were with those pockets full. Neither could he run as he might have to run. He did it none too soon, for Sharpshin was joined by Mrs. Sharpshin and Impy needed every bit of his speed and dodging ability.

Striped Chipmunk dodged around to the other side of the tree

For a few minutes it was breathless work. Sharpshin would swoop and Impy would dodge around the tree, only to be swooped at by Mrs. Sharpshin. It began to look bad for Impy.

It was just about this time that Buster Bear came along. He came shuffling along lazily, for he is given to being lazy. He was feeling extremely good natured. He had had his fill of sweet beechnuts. There was nothing more he wanted. He stopped close by the tree, around which Impy was dodging. Impy saw his chance. He darted out right under Buster Bear. Buster was back to him at the time and didn't see him. Sharpshin and Mrs. Sharpshin screamed their rage and disappointment. They didn't dare swoop at Impy there. Buster Bear thought they were shrieking at him, so he growled at them. As for Impy, he watched his chance and presently got safely away. As soon as he dared, he went back to those nuts. They were not there. You see, Chatterer, the Red Squirrel, had watched the whole performance and he had taken those nuts at the very first opportunity.

OFFICERS TRAIL BUNKO SUSPECT

Search on for Victimizer of Women Seeking Work

Complainants Tell of Losses in Reports to Police

Suspect Uses Advertising to Aid Operations

Wanted for victimising women in search of employment, a man posing as Royal R. Brown, novelist and short-story writer, was being sought by police yesterday. Several women suffering losses totaling more than $3000 are reported to have made complaints to Detective Captain Hawtrey of the police bunko squad.

The man is said to advertise for a housekeeper or secretary. Receiving an answer he calls on his intended victim and offers to take her baggage to the railroad station, where he will meet her to take the train for his home. In some instances he tells the prospective employee that he has lost or forgotten his purse and requests a loan for a short time.

Recent victims of the asserted swindler's operations include Marie Nelson, Doris Rooney, Beverly Vaughn and Maurine Simpson, according to Capt. Hawtrey.

Besides using the name of Brown, the man calls himself Dr. Shepard, Mr. Darrel, E. L. Hearn, Dan Hearn and Mr. Deane. He is described as being 35 to 40 years of age, 5 feet 8 inches in height, weighing 175 pounds, with blue eyes and brown hair.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED

Assessments were confirmed yesterday by the City Council for the opening and widening of La Brea avenue between Washington Boulevard and Mansfield avenue and for the sewering of Vermont avenue between One Hundred Sixty-first and One Hundred Sixty-fourth streets. The La Brea extension is the last link between Hollywood and Inglewood.

HUNGER AND DESIRE FOR DOLL UNDO GIRL

Jewell Hatcher

Hunger and her desire for a French novelty doll with long, gangling legs and arms yesterday was ascribed by Jewell Hatcher, 22 years of age, as the primary reason why she was in the County Jail.

The young woman was booked on an accusation of suspicion of forgery.

In expressing her willingness to make restitution she said she had been without funds for two days and seeing the doll in a store window purchased it with a forged check for $7, receiving some cash.

Your Baby and Mine

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

IS YOUR CHILD RELUCTANT ABOUT HELPING?

A familiar complaint of mothers is that their growing children refused to help with tasks about the house. They grumble when sent to the grocery; they have a thousand excuses to prevent helping with the dishes or the dusting, and they leave their clothes, their books, their playthings strung about the house for some adult to pick up for them.

The mother cannot but feel and act aggrieved when her children not only make work for her, but cannot be induced to bear some of her burdens. She is sure that they will be selfish, irresponsible adults, unable to take care of themselves.

From the child's standpoint these are very natural actions. All his life he has taken his parents' work for granted. While it was the family's home, their things, he was just part of the whole, having nothing personal to do with it. Naturally children are going to expect their parents to feed them and keep their homes clean; they do not think about thanking their parents daily, or relieving their burdens. There is little personal satisfaction in helping someone else finish his work.

DESIGNATE RESPONSIBILITIES

Children are self-centered and need motives of self-satisfaction to make them work. Suppose we try to offer them this powerful, incentive. Then we accomplish without friction exactly what we want.

Assign the child independent tasks and make him responsible for them. Let the girl choose the menu for dinner; then any part of it which she desires to make will be worked over, watched, and set forth on the table with all the vim and vigor and joy with her own mother feels when she has made a particularly delectable tidbit.

Children too young to cook can be allowed to beat salad dressing, set the table, get down the cans of vegetables. Some small part of each meal should be their responsibility. If the child adores opening the ice box, give him this job at dinner time to get it out of his system while being helpful at the same time.

LIST TASKS

Then work is fun. Meanwhile the child is reaping a full satisfaction from a task completed successfully. His own work isn't lost, as it is when only part of the whole.

List the child's tasks. It may be more pleasant for Sally to do all the kitchen work on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, than to help mother every day. It may be more interesting and, therefore, more satisfying, for son to assume all the responsibility of keeping the furnace-room clean, or the ashes carried out, or any of the manlike tasks which usually fall to the boy of any household. Children hate being slaves at the beck and call of temperamental adults. They do not resent doing their share of the work, providing it is always their work and they alone get both the praise or blame for its performance.

R.-K.-O. TO FILM MILTON STORY

Foreign Actors at M.-G.-M. Prepare for English Roles; Ernest Schoedsack Brings Picture from Sumatra; Bushman, Jr., Signs for Tour

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

While original stories written directly for the talking screen have not been much in evidence lately, producers seeming to prefer tried successes of the stage, still there is gradually creeping into the business the feeling that stage plays are too greatly circumscribed by the limitations of the stage, and that the talking screen is a medium of a new order.

WILLIAM LE BARON

So men like William LeBaron of R.-K.-O. are gradually beginning to look about them for original material, which leads up to the fact that R.-K.-O. has just purchased an original story by Robert Milton, called "Children of the Street," said to possess great dramatic merit and to be ideally fitted to the talkers.

So far no director or cast has been selected, but it is known that Bertram Milhauser will supervise the production.

M.-G.-M. TO PROMOTE FOREIGN PLAYERS

There are several foreign players at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios who are being encouraged to perfect their English in order that they may play not only in foreign, but also in English versions of pictures.

JOSE CRESPO

Those players, of course, are those of special talents and attainments, and who show promise to being able to perfect their English.

Conchita Monenegro, the Spanish dancer, imported to appear in Spanish versions of pictures starring Ramon Novarro and Buster Keaton, is working hard on her English and progressing rapidly to a point where she will be able to play English-speaking parts. She is beautiful and talented.

Jose Crespo, Spanish actor, formerly with Benevente in Madrid, is another for whom great things are hoped.

Others are Theodore Shall, German actor, who is said to have learned to speak fair English in one month; Andre Luget, noted French actor, who already speaks excellent English; Nora Gregor, German actress, who has returned to Germany, but who will return here next spring, and Paul Morgan, German player.

The advantage these foreigners have over American actors is that, besides speaking English and their own native tongues, they usually speak other foreign languages as well, since a knowledge of tongues is commonly required of Italian, Spanish, French, German and Russian pupils in their native schools.

Schoedsack Has Thriller

That gallivanting producer of films in far lands, Ernest B. Schoedsack, who, with Merian C. Cooper, made "Chang," "Grass," and "The Four Feathers," arrived in Hollywood yesterday with his newest production, a motion picture photographed for Paramount in the wilds of Sumatra. He is here to confer with B. P. Schulberg on the editing of his film.

Schoedsack arrived in New York a few weeks ago from Achin, the wildest district in the Dutch East Indies, which has been subdued only in the last ten years. When he set out on his expedition a little more than a year ago, the Dutch colonial authorities freely granted him permission to go into the northwestern section of Sumatra, but he was told that he went on his own responsibility.

Camp was set up in the wilderness about 300 miles from the port of entry.

Ynez Seabury Chosen

It was quite a foregone conclusion, as anyone will agree who has seen her on the stage, that that clever ingenue, Ynez Seabury, would find a further field for her talents in the talkers.

And this is what has happened. Miss Seabury has been signed by Universal to play the lead in the next "Leather Pushers" episode, in which she will play opposite King Richmond, the star.

Bushman, Jr., Wins Role

Francis X. Bushman, Jr., is going to be very busy for many weeks to come, appearing on the stage.

FRANCIS X BUSHMAN JR.

Bushman has just been signed by R.-K.-O. to play the lead in a playlet to be shown throughout the circuit of the R.-K.-O. theaters. "Boso" is the name of the sketch, and Renee Dantl and William Langlen will support Bushman in it. Paul Gerard Smith wrote the piece. It is to be shown at a theater or two hereabout, after which it will be sent to Jersey City to open on the 20th inst. From thence it will travel to the R.-K.-O. theaters of larger cities in the East and Middle West.

Niles Welch In Film

That capable actor, Niles Welch, who has been absent from the screen all too long, is once more to adorn it.

Welch has just been signed by United Artists for an important role in "Reaching for the Moon," which Irving Berlin wrote for Douglas Fairbanks.

The actor formerly played leads in Paramount and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures, but deserted the screen for the stage for a long period.

"La Traviata" Bright Event of Singing

Clairbert, Gigli and Thomas All Gain Ovations

Baritone's Triumph Notable in "Di Provenza"

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Pre-eminent in lyrical attractions, Verdi's "La Traviata" provided an interesting and satisfying event of the opera last evening at Shrine Auditorium. The story of Camille, song-embellished, brought forward an excellent and evenly balanced cast, in which bright success rewarded the enterprise of each individual singer.

The new soprano, Clare Clairbert, was introduced as the special attraction of the occasion, while Beniamino Gigli renewed his dominion over the listeners, and John Charles Thomas achieved a dazzling conquest.

Long applause followed each act. The curtain calls on occasion totaling the eight or ten that are required to create the ideal warmth of feeling between artist and listener.

Had Miss Clairbert not had such keen competition, and perhaps been too much heralded, her debut here might have approached the sensational, but as it was Thomas, because of his rendition of "Di Provenza" captured major laurels in the second-act ocations, and Gigli was the most consistent victor. The final act, it must be said, went triumphantly to Miss Clairbert for the delicate art of her death scene.

Miss Clairbert is unquestionably a singer of unusual technical proficiency, and her acting is characterized by distinct refinement. She adds to this a most pleasing presence, and an evident sincerity and taste.

Coloraturas are inevitably under the severest challenge of any singers, though, as regards vocal quality, and it is an indisputable fact that the tones of Miss Clairbert are not always the ideal in their beauty. There is evidence of the so-called "edge" especially in the middle voice, and also at times in the entire register at times when she uses the full power of her voice.

Nothing short of exquisite, however, is her cotto voce, beautifully filling the auditorium with its warmth and precision. It was a delight to hear her sing in the finale of the third act with a singular and quiet expressiveness. The ease of her tone production in the opening scenes was also notable.

Her "Ah Fors e Lui" and "Sempre Libera" fell short of the sheer triumph that one was led to anticipate in her instance, but she received none the less a brilliant ovation, and merited it for the brilliant climax that she attained in the latter aria. She is an excellently schooled and artistic singer, even though the pure and rare gold may at times be lacking in her tones. And it will be interesting to gauge what she may do in subsequent productions.

One must pass on necessarily to the popular hit won by Thomas, which was more than well deserved for his rendition of "Di Provenza." There were cheers and bravos for this smooth-voiced singing by a baritone that has long evidenced varied capabilities. He was genuinely artistic in his presentation of the familiar air.

Gigli provided a triumph of authority and beautiful tone. He might also be credited for his personal unobtrusiveness in taking curtain calls. He never came out alone, and yet on one occasion furnished Clairbert the opportunity to take a bow individually, and did the same for Thomas. Splendid singing by a superlative singer tells the story of his work in a line.

Gaetano Merola, who directed the orchestra for the first time, was a large sharer in the evening's honors, and merited the attention for the finished and accurate reading that he gave of the score. The ensemble of the third act, with the chorus, was unusually effective. Bianca Bruni as Flora, Louis d'Angelo and various others figured very commendably in this scene. The ballet number featured Serge Oukrainsky, Edris Milar and Pola De Cardo.

The opera will continue this evening with "Haensel and Gretel" and "Cavalleria Rusticana." Jeritza will be heard in the Mascagni one-acter.

English Made Talkie Comes to Filmarte

Still in the experimental stages of sound and camera manipulation, "Blackmail" comes from an English studio, an example of Brittain's first talkies.

Intelligence without knowledge is the handicap which this picture faces; it does not rise above it. For common sense is evident in its direction, resourcefulness also and an attempt at something new—but lack of timing and dramatic pitch reduce these admirable efforts to nothing more than a rather lagging adventure.

"Blackmail" takes place in London and views of the city with plentiful interior "shots" of the British Museum and Scotland Yard revive the interest. The cast is good, though performances cannot be judged according to the accepted American code. Perhaps the reason so many moments failed to register was that Alfred Hitchcock's direction was not forceful enough.

The actor whose characterization was almost strong enough to pull things together for a while, is Donald Calthrop, who has the unpleasant role of the blackmailer.

An attractive player called Anny Ondra, appears as the girl whose actions are better than her reactions. Miss Ondra, unfortunately, is soon reduced to a state of silence and staring; but perhaps it was only suppressed emotion.

In somewhat the manner that Hollywood pictures detectives, is seen John Longden, cool, brainy and a bit swaggering. His is not much more than the part of conventional hero.

Because "Blackmail" shows what is being done in other lands and because it almost succeeds in saving its mystery solution logically until the finish, this English endeavor is to be commended.

A travelogue which caused a round of applause from the audience was an Alaskan feature, "The Break-Up."

Celebration of Prosperity Week Opens Tomorrow

More than 1500 theaters throughout the United States will celebrate Prosperity Week starting tomorrow. Prosperity week is being sponsored by the Paramount Publix corporations and has received the indorsement and co-operation of chambers of Commerce, civic clubs, boards of trade, merchant associations and business men throughout the country.

In Los Angeles the Paramount and United Artists' theaters, in conjunction with the Paramount studios, are taking active interest in promoting the idea of Prosperity Week, which will celebrate the fact that business in general has rounded the corner and is now definitely on the upgrade.

The conviction of Paramount executives that prosperity is now coming back in flood tide was in line with the recent optimistic report of Roger Babson, recognized financial authority, who recently found business in a promising condition, it is said.

"Crimson Hour" to Close Soon

In spite of the success of Pauline Frederick in "The Crimson Hour," now at the Belasco Theater, it will be necessary to terminate her engagement Saturday evening, on the 18th inst., to make way for the previously contracted Elmer Harris comedy, "Young Sinners," which is due to open two nights later.

JOLSON RIDES A WINNER

Comic Dons Blackface to Take "Big Boy" Into Warners' Hollywood; Does Not Sing "Sonny Boy"

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

"Big Boy" cantered in winner again at the Hollywood Warner Brothers Theater last evening. "Big Boy," the Al Jolson musical, which on the stage a couple or more years ago used to send theatergoers rolling in the aisles in laughter, proved its entertainment qualities in picture form.

The reason why, of course, is the presence of Mr. Jolson, one of the most colorful entertainers of today, in the kind of role which made him famous, the good old blackface.

"Big Boy" isn't any great shakes as a film. It hasn't any plot, at least very little. It follows pretty closely the rather flimsy narrative thread which served it on the stage. It has retained a good many—too many—of the old jokes. But it has Jolson doing the sort of thing he can do and do well.

If you remember the stage vehicle, you will recall that Jolson takes the role of old Gus, family retainer and jockey par excellence. He is slated to ride Big Boy, thoroughbred horse in the classic Kentucky Derby. Race-track gamblers plot to keep him from this. Jolson is discharged by the family he serves and goes to work as a waiter. In his capacity, he has a chance to perpetrate all kinds of "Jolsonisms"—especially the jokes just mentioned. There was the one about the chicken soup—"the water we boil eggs in;" the one about the lion and the lamb; the one about the joe as chauffeur, and others. Oh, yes, some were new, but one and all won hearty guffaws from the audience.

The big moment of the film came with the race when Jolson is seen urging Big Boy on to victory.

There are some excellent shots of the event taken probably on the actual derby setting, and then close-ups of Jolson bouncing up and down on the horse.

Just to prove to the folks back in the midwest that Mr. Jolson really isn't colored, the final scene shows him coming out on a stage in street costume and singing a song. He offers to do "Sonny Boy," but changes his mind.

Oh, yes, I forgot to mention, and this is quite important, Jolson sings and quite a lot. His big song is "Just a Ray of Sunshine."

CANTOR TO APPEAR AT PREMIERE

George Olsen and Ethel Shutta Also Booked for "Whoopee" Opening

Eddie Cantor in person as master of ceremonies, George Olsen and his band on the stage and Ethel Shutta, comedienne of the picture, doing a number, are several of the events scheduled for the premiere of "Whoopee."

"Whoopee," starring Eddie Cantor, will start at the United Artists Theater Wednesday night. George Olsen is preparing a special program for the event. Miss Shutta is Mrs. George Olsen in private life. Olsen's music is heard throughout the picture.

Eddie Cantor is making a special journey to the Coast only for the sole purpose of attending the premiere, it is reported. He has promised to sing several of his well-known songs.

Director Wins New Assignment

David Butler, director and former film player, has been selected to direct Will Rogers's next vehicle, "A Connecticut Yankee," as a result, it is said, of outstanding work on "Just Imagine," which has its world premiere at the Carthay Circle Theater Friday.

Butler has been the recipient of warm praise from De Sylva, Brown and Henderson, authors and producers of "Just Imagine," as well as from other officials of the Fox Corporation.

DEATH PAYS EERIE VISIT TO HUMANS

Fantasy Presented at Biltmore Affords Strange Evening

BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

It is a ghastly pun that can make a full-fledged drama. Last evening the Biltmore Theater played cagey host to a visitant from another world, his name Death, his search for the secret why men fear him. Words that strike fear from flinty interclash, and a situation that by reason of its novelty should appeal to the thinking theatergoer are the principal virtues of "Death Takes a Holiday," which Arthur Greville Collins presented in confident premiere.

Described rather abstrusely as "a fantasy of life with its troubles omitted," this three-act drama by Alberto Casella and Walter Ferris derives interest from the experiment of its theme. Alfred Neumann, Mark Twain and others have tested such veracities as they knew to be universal in similar play and story before; but their protagonist was His Satanic Majesty. Death comes to the castle of Duke Lambert not to restroy; troubled in his mind, he is at once a power and a suppliant . . . "Ah, the splendor here if I can find it!"

So he is thrown among a houseful of ordinary woes and joys; and, questing always, he asks this one and that—a fighting man, an old fellow whose joints ache, but whose memories do not, and three women—what it is that causes mortals to shrink in horror from the clarion to destroy; troubled in his mind, he

Their answers are different. The soldier has looked upon him many times, and is kindly disposed. Fighting men, he tells Death, know him as a promise of "six feet of earth, a good rest and—no more parades." The heedless oldster games with chuckling wistfulness upon the adventure of his lost youth. Two of the women, drawn to him irresistibly, recoil before the shadowy truth in his eyes. But the third knows him without fear; and Death, self-subjected for three days to human frailty, learns to his consternation that he loves her.

In the end he takes her for his bride. The trees bow before them as they go. Death has found Life; "There is a love," he tells them all, "that casts out illusion and is as strong as Death."

All told, a rather remarkable treatise. As staged at the Biltmore, the piece is moderately effective, though I imagine it reads better than it plays. In some indefinable way it conveys the impression now and again of sparseness of structure; there are gaps of waiting with only the recurrent expectation of Death and his next move to hold the line. But much of the second act, and all of the third generate suspense, especially as a showdown approaches, and the result justifies the whole.

The company whic flirts so outrageously with death is composed of performers of varying abilities. Henry Daniel assumes the habiliments of the Inevitable. One with ease and intelligence; this visitant who calls himself His Serene Highness, Prince Sirki of Vitalba Alexandri, is a pleasant fellow, if a bit strange—and so Mr. Daniel makes him. Phillip Strange succeeds admirably in conveying the trepidation of his host. Alfred Hickman, profitably characterizes the old Baron Caesarea. Betty Ross Clarke brings an uncanny complaisance to the part of the mystical Grazia, and Carmel Myers, with little to do, graces the role of Aida. Crauford Kent is applauded for his work as Maj. Whitread; and the others are Nora Gardiner, Kenneth Treseder, Harry Leland, Nan Harper, Helene Sullivan, David Loring and Brenda Forbes.

Back-stage noises echoed with unexpected eerieness last night when they were not supposed to, probably attending a first performance. The choice of music was surely a bit odd, too; one's ears even reported that this far-flung frontier had succumbed to that American effusion. "I'm Dancing With Tears in My Eyes." But these, I suppose, are minorities in a presentation of major sufficiency.
